Where Tanks Stab Across Parallel

Troops Roll Into Red Korea Along 10-Mile Area in West

Crossing Said to Be Aggressive, Light Resistance Is Met

Tokyo, April 3 (AP)—American troops rolled into Red Korea in force today along a 10-mile front in the west.

Field dispatches said the crossing was aggressive but cautious and met only light resistance at the start.

These other highlights paced Tuesday's war news:

Air—American Sabre jets shot down three Russian-type MIG-15s and damaged three others in a furious battle near the Manchurian border. Other Fifth Air Force planes pounded traffic-jammed Communist supply lines a day-long attack against the biggest Red troop buildup of the Korean war. The Allied fighters flew 700 sorties but foul weather choked them off by late afternoon.

Eastern front—General MacArthur jeeped 13 road miles inside North Korea on the east coast. He rode within 500 yards of the main Red line north of Yangyang. There he found South Korean troops digging in, confident and talking only of attack.

Ridgeline Won

Central front—American, Greek and Thai (Siamese) troops climaxed two days of heavy fighting by winning a high ridgeline north of Chunchon and one mile south of Parallel 38. From the ridge they looked into Red Korean territory where the Communists are massing hundreds of thousands of battle-ready soldiers.

Chinese and North Korean Communists screening the big Red buildup pounded the Allied soldiers with mortar and artillery fire.

On his return to Tokyo from his 15th visit to the war front, MacArthur said:

"The enemy's weakness in the air and on the sea and his lack of artillery and heavy ground weapons is being beautifully exploited by our field commander."

House Destroyed On Flatbush Road

Partial Invalid Escapes With Burned Hair; Appeal Made

Lancelot Stephenson, 47, a partial invalid, was assisted by neighbors from his home on the Flatbush road when it was destroyed by fire which broke out about 3 p. m. Monday. He suffered no apparent injury except that his hair was scorched, it was reported.

Fire Chief James Costello of East Kingston said the house, a one-story bungalow, was a total loss along with all the furnishings and clothing.

Cause of the fire has not been determined, Chief Costello said.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Robert Barnhardt, who summoned the East Kingston volunteer company at 3:05 p. m. At 3:07 p. m. Ulster Hose Company No. 5 was dispatched through mutual aid headquarters in Kingston, and 10 minutes later the Hurley Fire Company's water tank truck was summoned through mutual aid.

Had Gained Too Much

Chief Costello said the fire had gained too much headway and firemen were unable to save the building, located on the Flatbush road about a mile and a half from the East Chester street intersection.

Mr. Stephenson was asleep at the time of the fire. His wife, 44, was at work at the Berne-Ross Knitting Mills, and their two children, Andrew, 8, and Betty, 10, were at school.

The family was given temporary shelter Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brewer.

The Dorcas Welfare Society of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, of which Mrs. Stephenson is a member, named a committee to help in rehabilitating this family. Members of the committee are Mrs. C. Leroy Brower, 82 Henry street; Mrs. Pearl G. Weber, Hurley; Theodore Miller, 179 Henry street, and William Nicora, 274 Linderman avenue.

Needs Are Listed

Needs of the family are listed as furniture, clothing and money. Those having articles to donate may have them picked up by calling Mrs. Weber at 329-J2. Sizes of clothing needed are man's 9½ shoe, 34 trousers, 38 coat; lady's 8½ shoe, 38 or 40 dress; girl's 8½ shoe, 15 dress; boy's size 3 shoe, size 10 clothing.

The bungalow was owned by Charles Parker and located on the Parker farm, Chief Costello reported. The East Kingston department was called again at 6 p. m. Monday to wet down the ruins, which threatened to blaze.

An electric wire was downed during the fire and lay across the road, resulting in a call for the Central Hudson Gas and Electric repair crew.

Reward for Honest Boys

Yonkers, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Two schoolboys who found $33,841 in the attic of a dilapidated mansion here last week are each $1,000 richer today. The boys, Alfred Graves and Thomas Nowak, both 12, received the money from the Central National Bank of Yonkers, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Agnes Edgar Bigelow, owner of the house. Irving R. Church, vice president and trust officer of the bank, said the five cousins of Mrs. Bigelow, her only heirs, consented to payment of the rewards.

Vinson Pleads With House Not to Cut Long-Range UMT Clauses

Listens to 'Steel'

Strength Only Thing Soviets Respect, He Says

Washington, April 3 (AP)—The House was urged today by the chairman of its Armed Services Committee to enact a combination draft-universal military training law to give this country "the steel" he said Russia will respect.

In a speech prepared for delivery to open two weeks of debate, Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) pleaded with the House not to eliminate long-range UMT provisions from the bill to extend the draft law and lower the induction age from 19 to 18½.

To knock out UMT, Vinson declared, would be to "force on the backs of the American people the necessity for maintaining for an indefinite period a large standing force * * * which eventually jeopardize and possibly ruin the economic stability of this nation."

"The Soviet Union listens only to a nation whose voice is backed by steel," he said. "Here is the steel; here is the sinew; here is the way to avoid economic chaos; here is the answer that will meet Russia's ambitions, all wrapped up in this bill."

Makes Concern Clear

The Georgian's emphasis on the necessity for retaining the UMT provisions along with the draft made clear his concern about the fight brewing on UMT.

Vinson also said "In a short space of time Russia will have a sufficient stockpile of atomic bombs as to be capable of initiating a terrible aerial attack on our cities and homes whenever she wishes to do so."

Without trained military personnel, He said, the vast military output of the United States "will be useless."

As for putting a rigid ceiling on military strength, he said, the changing needs of the day would make such a course "shortsighted and unrealistic."

The Senate has already approved a bill which would permit drafting 18-year-olds for up to 26 months service and establish machinery for a long-range universal military training program.

Senate action came March 9; the House will begin voting next week.

On Following Issues

The big fights will be on these issues:

Whether to retain the universal military training provisions or to separate the long-range training program from draft legislation.

2. Wether to incorporate in the bill. a ban against use of United States troops as part of an Atlantic Pact army in Europe without Congressional approval. The ban was not in the Senate bill or in the House Committee bill. Republicans want it in the House bill.

3. Whether to put a ceiling on United States military strength. The Senate's bill has a 4,000,000-

U. S. Senator Receives Big Pile of Mail Relative to Situation

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Outraged citizens across the United States are pouring telegrams and letters into Washington demanding a clean-up in government.

A large number is piling up in the office of Senator William J. Fulbright. The youthful-looking Arkansas Democrat who ramrodded the sensational RFC probe is demanding a code of ethics be drawn up as a sort of slide-rule for measuring the integrity of public officials.

Fulbright told the Senate last week the RFC inquiry disclosed a moral problem in which officials abide by the letter of the law—but violate its spirit without any feeling of wrong-doing.

"The values of life which were clear to the Pilgrims," he said, "and the founding fathers have become dim and fuzzy in outline." The time has come, he says, for a new look at what is right and what is wrong.

Some of Letters

And many Americans feel the same way. Every mail brings a fresh batch of letters, cheering Fulbright for his fight for honesty in government and echoing his fear that political corruption is eating away the moral strength of the government.

They go like this:

From Weatherford, Texas—"What has happened to us, Bill? Are we as a people so hungry for money or personal power that we have forgotten every principle of decency our dads taught us? I don't believe it. Surely there are enough good men left to start a cleanup."

From New York City—"It is high time that we gave serious thought to our standards of right and decency which are far too low. Not only in politics but in every corner of American life."

From West Nyack, N. Y.—"Shrewdness and cleverness seem to have been readily accepted as an adequate and desirable substitute for the once respected virtues of intellectual and moral integrity."

Cashin Recesses Session in Tribute to Dead Attorney; Calendar Is Made Up

Thirty-nine criminal cases on the calendar for the April term of County Court were called Monday and dates set for disposition of several of the cases were arranged. Several of the cases were set down for next Monday and others for the following Monday.

Four defendants were arraigned under sealed indictments, pleas of innocent entered and the cases set down for later dates.

When Judge John M. Cashin adjourned court until Wednesday at 10 o'clock, he did so in respect to the memory of Chris J. Flanagan whose death was announced during the session of court Monday afternoon. Judge Cashin said in the death of Attorney Flanagan he had lost a good friend, and stated that Flanagan had died from a heart attack while on his way to the court to answer cases on the calendar.

City Gets Highest Rainfall in 17 Years

The total rainfall in Kingston for the three-months period from January 1 to March 31 was the highest on record since local weather records were inaugurated in March, 1934, the city engineer's office reported today.

The total precipitation for that period was 14.80 inches.

An inch of rainfall had been recorded by 10 a. m. today for the storm that started in the city about 8:30 Monday night.

Time for Flood Control (An Editorial)

Two disastrous floods within a short time in Ulster county point the need for long-range flood control work in the area.

The chief need is in the Esopus creek drainage basin from the mountain area close to the mouth of the stream. In a geographical sense the Esopus is an old stream, with meanderings and the picturesque, but dangerous, phenomenon known as on ox-bow.

The course of the creek should be straightened, deepened and widened where necessary, for unless this is done the situation will not improve, but will become more of a menace to life and property.

This is a big propostion in this area and will require careful approach and federal appropriations. And while complete studies are being made some preliminary work should be done at once on eliminating the worst bottlenecks.

Ulster county's general tax situation is not going to improve while flood dangers exist. The program as a whole will make attractive and valuable whole areas not acceptable to real estate development at present; in addition present settlements will be protected.

We don't need a third disaster to make apparent this great need.

Primary Date Is Set

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Primary election will be held Aug. 21 this year. A bill setting the date was signed yesterday by Governor Dewey. Election Day will be Nov. 6. The measure also set Sept. 4-6 as the period in which state conventions for nominating candidates must be held. The period for judicial district conventions is Sept. 4-8. Sept. 10 will be the deadline for filing certificates of party nominations and Sept. 11 will be the last date for filing certificates of acceptance or declination of party nominations.

Best Is Appointed

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Edward H. Best of Hudson is a new member of the State Tax Commission, Governor Dewey appointed the 44-year-old attorney yesterday. The recess appointment wil be sent to the state Senate next year for confirmation. The post pays $13,500 a year. Best succeeds Harry E. Clinton of Troy, whose term expired Dec. 31. The three-member tax commission has jurisdiction over the State Division of Taxation.

Governor Orders Grand Jury To Begin Saratoga Review

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey today ordered a special grand jury to convene April 30 to investigate any connections between gamblers, racketeers and public officials in Saratoga county.

The extraordinary special and trial term of State Supreme Court will be held at the Saratoga county court house in Ballston Spa.

The investigation, announced by Dewey last week, stemmed from testimony given by high state police officials to the U. S. Senate's Kefauver Crime Committee in New York city.

Police officials said they knew of illegal gambling at Saratoga Springs, historic upstate horse racing center. But, they said, it was long-standing state police policy not to move into a locality that had its own uniformed police, unless invited.

Dewey's order today also formally designated Justice Leo J. Hagerty of State Supreme Court to preside at the special court term. Hagerty, a Republican, lives in Snyder, a Buffalo suburb.

John McKim Minton, a New York city Democrat, was appointed by Dewey Sunday as a special state attorney general to conduct the probe.

The governor directed that the special court session and special grand jury "continue so long as it may be necessary, for the purpose of inquiry, prosecution, trial, and/or judgment which may be made, held, conducted or given thereat * * *."

Dewey said, "In my opinion, the

Army Says Study OK, But No Fund

Beyond Reckoning

Spillway Overflow Was 3½ Feet Saturday and Is Not Charted

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, majority leader of the state Senate, took up again today with Horace S. Evans, executive director of the State Flood Control Commission, 90 State street, Albany, the great necessity for flood control planning and work in Ulster county.

Senator Wicks' office in Albany informed The Freeman that Evans had been told today by U. S. Army engineers that a survey has been assigned to the New York district for Ulster county, but that federal funds are not available for the work. The money, army officials said, would have to come from Washington.

To Pursue Problem

The senator's office said, however, the matter would not rest there, and that efforts to get this needed project for the county would go on.

Evans, the senator's office said, was getting in touch today with the New York State Department of Public Works in Albany about the repairing of highway bridges and roads and the removal of trees and other flood debris along public thoroughfares.

Took Steps in November

Senator Wicks took steps last November to have army engineers survey the disastrous upper Esopus creek flood which swept away houses, bridges and dams in the Pine Hill area. Engineers and county officials took the trip after a preliminary meeting held in Kingston with Senator Wicks.

Meanwhile unconfirmed estimates indicate that the amount of water which rushed down the Esopus creek early Saturday morning flooding out many homes was higher than at any time since the building of the Ashokan dam and higher than many of the floods reported in years prior to construction of that dam.

'Very High Level'

Provisional figures received by the Ellenville office of the U. S. Geological Survey tend to show the Esopus at a "very high level," but exact measurements cannot be made and confirmed for another day or two. The Neversink Valley streams, however, were apparently not as high as during the November flood, unconfirmed reports indicate.

The New York Board of Water Supply, now permitted to release current data on rainfall and other pertinent information, reports a record flow of water over the Ashokan spillway early Saturday morning.

The water at one time was three and one-half feet over the spillway, which is beyond the amount which can be interpreted into a gallons-per-day figure by present charts. It is known that when there is two and one-half feet of water about the spillway, the flow is eight billion gallons per day.

Today's Rate of Flow

This morning (Tuesday) the rate of flow from the spillway had fallen to 1,400,000,000 gallons per day, still a "moderately high" amount.

Rainfall at Brown Station at the Ashokan was .74 inches in the 24-hour period ended 8 a. m. today. In a similar period which ended 8 a. m. Monday, only .03 inches fell.

The rainfall reported at the same station on Friday in 24 hours was 2.35 inches, and an additional 2.99 inches fell on Saturday.

Snowfall Reported

In the upper reaches of the watershed, snow was reported falling overnight. At Tannersville, four inches of snow was measured this morning, and at Prattsville, two inches.

Turbidity has posed an expensive problem for New York city and local water supply systems, but a survey by Dr. Robert H.

Partial Invalid Escapes With Burned Hair; Appeal Made

Lancelot Stephenson, 47, a partial invalid, was assisted by neighbors from his home on the Flatbush road when it was destroyed by fire which broke out about 3 p. m. Monday. He suffered no apparent injury except that his hair was scorched, it was reported.

Fire Chief James Costello of East Kingston said the house, a one-story bungalow, was a total loss along with all the furnishings and clothing.

Cause of the fire has not been determined, Chief Costello said.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Robert Barnhardt, who summoned the East Kingston volunteer company at 3:05 p. m. At 3:07 p. m. Ulster Hose Company No. 5 was dispatched through mutual aid headquarters in Kingston, and 10 minutes later the Hurley Fire Company's water tank truck was summoned through mutual aid.

Had Gained Too Much

Chief Costello said the fire had gained too much headway and firemen were unable to save the building, located on the Flatbush road about a mile and a half from the East Chester street intersection.

Mr. Stephenson was asleep at the time of the fire. His wife, 44, was at work at the Berne-Ross Knitting Mills, and their two children, Andrew, 8, and Betty, 10, were at school.

The family was given temporary shelter Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brewer.

The Dorcas Welfare Society of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, of which Mrs. Stephenson is a member, named a committee to help in rehabilitating this family. Members of the committee are Mrs. C. Leroy Brower, 82 Henry street; Mrs. Pearl G. Weber, Hurley; Theodore Miller, 179 Henry street, and William Nicora, 274 Linderman avenue.

Needs Are Listed

Needs of the family are listed as furniture, clothing and money. Those having articles to donate may have them picked up by calling Mrs. Weber at 329-J2. Sizes of clothing needed are man's 9½ shoe, 34 trousers, 38 coat; lady's 8½ shoe, 38 or 40 dress; girl's 8½ shoe, 15 dress; boy's size 3 shoe, size 10 clothing.

The bungalow was owned by Charles Parker and located on the Parker farm, Chief Costello reported. The East Kingston department was called again at 6 p. m. Monday to wet down the ruins, which threatened to blaze.

An electric wire was downed during the fire and lay across the road, resulting in a call for the Central Hudson Gas and Electric repair crew.

U. S. Senator Receives Big Pile of Mail Relative to Situation

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Outraged citizens across the United States are pouring telegrams and letters into Washington demanding a clean-up in government.

A large number is piling up in the office of Senator William J. Fulbright. The youthful-looking Arkansas Democrat who ramrodded the sensational RFC probe is demanding a code of ethics be drawn up as a sort of slide-rule for measuring the integrity of public officials.

Fulbright told the Senate last week the RFC inquiry disclosed a moral problem in which officials abide by the letter of the law—but violate its spirit without any feeling of wrong-doing.

"The values of life which were clear to the Pilgrims," he said, "and the founding fathers have become dim and fuzzy in outline." The time has come, he says, for a new look at what is right and what is wrong.

Some of Letters

And many Americans feel the same way. Every mail brings a fresh batch of letters, cheering Fulbright for his fight for honesty in government and echoing his fear that political corruption is eating away the moral strength of the government.

They go like this:

From Weatherford, Texas—"What has happened to us, Bill? Are we as a people so hungry for money or personal power that we have forgotten every principle of decency our dads taught us? I don't believe it. Surely there are enough good men left to start a cleanup."

From New York City—"It is high time that we gave serious thought to our standards of right and decency which are far too low. Not only in politics but in every corner of American life."

Cashin Recesses Session in Tribute to Dead Attorney; Calendar Is Made Up

Thirty-nine criminal cases on the calendar for the April term of County Court were called Monday and dates set for disposition of several of the cases were arranged. Several of the cases were set down for next Monday and others for the following Monday.

Four defendants were arraigned under sealed indictments, pleas of innocent entered and the cases set down for later dates.

When Judge John M. Cashin adjourned court until Wednesday at 10 o'clock, he did so in respect to the memory of Chris J. Flanagan whose death was announced during the session of court Monday afternoon. Judge Cashin said in the death of Attorney Flanagan he had lost a good friend, and stated that Flanagan had died from a heart attack while on his way to the court to answer cases on the calendar.

Governor Orders Grand Jury To Begin Saratoga Review

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey today ordered a special grand jury to convene April 30 to investigate any connections between gamblers, racketeers and public officials in Saratoga county.

The extraordinary special and trial term of State Supreme Court will be held at the Saratoga county court house in Ballston Spa.

The investigation, announced by Dewey last week, stemmed from testimony given by high state police officials to the U. S. Senate's Kefauver Crime Committee in New York city.

Police officials said they knew of illegal gambling at Saratoga Springs, historic upstate horse racing center. But, they said, it was long-standing state police policy not to move into a locality that had its own uniformed police, unless invited.

Dewey's order today also formally designated Justice Leo J. Hagerty of State Supreme Court to preside at the special court term. Hagerty, a Republican, lives in Snyder, a Buffalo suburb.

John McKim Minton, a New York city Democrat, was appointed by Dewey Sunday as a special state attorney general to conduct the probe.

The governor directed that the special court session and special grand jury "continue so long as it may be necessary, for the purpose of inquiry, prosecution, trial, and/or judgment which may be made, held, conducted or given thereat * * *."

Dewey said, "In my opinion, the

City Gets Highest Rainfall in 17 Years

The total rainfall in Kingston for the three-months period from January 1 to March 31 was the highest on record since local weather records were inaugurated in March, 1934, the city engineer's office reported today.

The total precipitation for that period was 14.80 inches.

An inch of rainfall had been recorded by 10 a. m. today for the storm that started in the city about 8:30 Monday night.

Time for Flood Control (An Editorial)

Two disastrous floods within a short time in Ulster county point the need for long-range flood control work in the area.

The chief need is in the Esopus creek drainage basin from the mountain area close to the mouth of the stream. In a geographical sense the Esopus is an old stream, with meanderings and the picturesque, but dangerous, phenomenon known as on ox-bow.

The course of the creek should be straightened, deepened and widened where necessary, for unless this is done the situation will not improve, but will become more of a menace to life and property.

This is a big propostion in this area and will require careful approach and federal appropriations. And while complete studies are being made some preliminary work should be done at once on eliminating the worst bottlenecks.

Ulster county's general tax situation is not going to improve while flood dangers exist. The program as a whole will make attractive and valuable whole areas not acceptable to real estate development at present; in addition present settlements will be protected.

We don't need a third disaster to make apparent this great need.

Primary Date Is Set

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Primary election will be held Aug. 21 this year. A bill setting the date was signed yesterday by Governor Dewey. Election Day will be Nov. 6. The measure also set Sept. 4-6 as the period in which state conventions for nominating candidates must be held. The period for judicial district conventions is Sept. 4-8. Sept. 10 will be the deadline for filing certificates of party nominations and Sept. 11 will be the last date for filing certificates of acceptance or declination of party nominations.

Best Is Appointed

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Edward H. Best of Hudson is a new member of the State Tax Commission, Governor Dewey appointed the 44-year-old attorney yesterday. The recess appointment wil be sent to the state Senate next year for confirmation. The post pays $13,500 a year. Best succeeds Harry E. Clinton of Troy, whose term expired Dec. 31. The three-member tax commission has jurisdiction over the State Division of Taxation.

Army Says Study OK, But No Fund

Spillway Overflow Was 3½ Feet Saturday and Is Not Charted

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, majority leader of the state Senate, took up again today with Horace S. Evans, executive director of the State Flood Control Commission, 90 State street, Albany, the great necessity for flood control planning and work in Ulster county.

Senator Wicks' office in Albany informed The Freeman that Evans had been told today by U. S. Army engineers that a survey has been assigned to the New York district for Ulster county, but that federal funds are not available for the work. The money, army officials said, would have to come from Washington.

To Pursue Problem

The senator's office said, however, the matter would not rest there, and that efforts to get this needed project for the county would go on.

Evans, the senator's office said, was getting in touch today with the New York State Department of Public Works in Albany about the repairing of highway bridges and roads and the removal of trees and other flood debris along public thoroughfares.

Took Steps in November

Senator Wicks took steps last November to have army engineers survey the disastrous upper Esopus creek flood which swept away houses, bridges and dams in the Pine Hill area. Engineers and county officials took the trip after a preliminary meeting held in Kingston with Senator Wicks.

Meanwhile unconfirmed estimates indicate that the amount of water which rushed down the Esopus creek early Saturday morning flooding out many homes was higher than at any time since the building of the Ashokan dam and higher than many of the floods reported in years prior to construction of that dam.

'Very High Level'

Provisional figures received by the Ellenville office of the U. S. Geological Survey tend to show the Esopus at a "very high level," but exact measurements cannot be made and confirmed for another day or two. The Neversink Valley streams, however, were apparently not as high as during the November flood, unconfirmed reports indicate.

The New York Board of Water Supply, now permitted to release current data on rainfall and other pertinent information, reports a record flow of water over the Ashokan spillway early Saturday morning.

The water at one time was three and one-half feet over the spillway, which is beyond the amount which can be interpreted into a gallons-per-day figure by present charts. It is known that when there is two and one-half feet of water about the spillway, the flow is eight billion gallons per day.

Today's Rate of Flow

This morning (Tuesday) the rate of flow from the spillway had fallen to 1,400,000,000 gallons per day, still a "moderately high" amount.

Rainfall at Brown Station at the Ashokan was .74 inches in the 24-hour period ended 8 a. m. today. In a similar period which ended 8 a. m. Monday, only .03 inches fell.

The rainfall reported at the same station on Friday in 24 hours was 2.35 inches, and an additional 2.99 inches fell on Saturday.

Snowfall Reported

In the upper reaches of the watershed, snow was reported falling overnight. At Tannersville, four inches of snow was measured this morning, and at Prattsville, two inches.

Turbidity has posed an expensive problem for New York city and local water supply systems, but a survey by Dr. Robert H.

Troops Roll Into Red Korea Along 10-Mile Area in West

Crossing Said to Be Aggressive, Light Resistance Is Met

Tokyo, April 3 (AP)—American troops rolled into Red Korea in force today along a 10-mile front in the west.

Field dispatches said the crossing was aggressive but cautious and met only light resistance at the start.

These other highlights paced Tuesday's war news:

Air—American Sabre jets shot down three Russian-type MIG-15s and damaged three others in a furious battle near the Manchurian border. Other Fifth Air Force planes pounded traffic-jammed Communist supply lines a day-long attack against the biggest Red troop buildup of the Korean war. The Allied fighters flew 700 sorties but foul weather choked them off by late afternoon.

Eastern front—General MacArthur jeeped 13 road miles inside North Korea on the east coast. He rode within 500 yards of the main Red line north of Yangyang. There he found South Korean troops digging in, confident and talking only of attack.

Ridgeline Won

Central front—American, Greek and Thai (Siamese) troops climaxed two days of heavy fighting by winning a high ridgeline north of Chunchon and one mile south of Parallel 38. From the ridge they looked into Red Korean territory where the Communists are massing hundreds of thousands of battle-ready soldiers.

Chinese and North Korean Communists screening the big Red buildup pounded the Allied soldiers with mortar and artillery fire.

On his return to Tokyo from his 15th visit to the war front, MacArthur said:

"The enemy's weakness in the air and on the sea and his lack of artillery and heavy ground weapons is being beautifully exploited by our field commander."

House Destroyed On Flatbush Road

Partial Invalid Escapes With Burned Hair; Appeal Made

Lancelot Stephenson, 47, a partial invalid, was assisted by neighbors from his home on the Flatbush road when it was destroyed by fire which broke out about 3 p. m. Monday. He suffered no apparent injury except that his hair was scorched, it was reported.

Fire Chief James Costello of East Kingston said the house, a one-story bungalow, was a total loss along with all the furnishings and clothing.

Cause of the fire has not been determined, Chief Costello said.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Robert Barnhardt, who summoned the East Kingston volunteer company at 3:05 p. m. At 3:07 p. m. Ulster Hose Company No. 5 was dispatched through mutual aid headquarters in Kingston, and 10 minutes later the Hurley Fire Company's water tank truck was summoned through mutual aid.

Had Gained Too Much

Chief Costello said the fire had gained too much headway and firemen were unable to save the building, located on the Flatbush road about a mile and a half from the East Chester street intersection.

Mr. Stephenson was asleep at the time of the fire. His wife, 44, was at work at the Berne-Ross Knitting Mills, and their two children, Andrew, 8, and Betty, 10, were at school.

The family was given temporary shelter Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brewer.

The Dorcas Welfare Society of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, of which Mrs. Stephenson is a member, named a committee to help in rehabilitating this family. Members of the committee are Mrs. C. Leroy Brower, 82 Henry street; Mrs. Pearl G. Weber, Hurley; Theodore Miller, 179 Henry street, and William Nicora, 274 Linderman avenue.

Needs Are Listed

Needs of the family are listed as furniture, clothing and money. Those having articles to donate may have them picked up by calling Mrs. Weber at 329-J2. Sizes of clothing needed are man's 9½ shoe, 34 trousers, 38 coat; lady's 8½ shoe, 38 or 40 dress; girl's 8½ shoe, 15 dress; boy's size 3 shoe, size 10 clothing.

The bungalow was owned by Charles Parker and located on the Parker farm, Chief Costello reported. The East Kingston department was called again at 6 p. m. Monday to wet down the ruins, which threatened to blaze.

An electric wire was downed during the fire and lay across the road, resulting in a call for the Central Hudson Gas and Electric repair crew.

Reward for Honest Boys

Yonkers, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Two schoolboys who found $33,841 in the attic of a dilapidated mansion here last week are each $1,000 richer today. The boys, Alfred Graves and Thomas Nowak, both 12, received the money from the Central National Bank of Yonkers, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Agnes Edgar Bigelow, owner of the house. Irving R. Church, vice president and trust officer of the bank, said the five cousins of Mrs. Bigelow, her only heirs, consented to payment of the rewards.

Vinson Pleads With House Not to Cut Long-Range UMT Clauses

Strength Only Thing Soviets Respect, He Says

Washington, April 3 (AP)—The House was urged today by the chairman of its Armed Services Committee to enact a combination draft-universal military training law to give this country "the steel" he said Russia will respect.

In a speech prepared for delivery to open two weeks of debate, Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) pleaded with the House not to eliminate long-range UMT provisions from the bill to extend the draft law and lower the induction age from 19 to 18½.

To knock out UMT, Vinson declared, would be to "force on the backs of the American people the necessity for maintaining for an indefinite period a large standing force * * * which eventually jeopardize and possibly ruin the economic stability of this nation."

"The Soviet Union listens only to a nation whose voice is backed by steel," he said. "Here is the steel; here is the sinew; here is the way to avoid economic chaos; here is the answer that will meet Russia's ambitions, all wrapped up in this bill."

Makes Concern Clear

The Georgian's emphasis on the necessity for retaining the UMT provisions along with the draft made clear his concern about the fight brewing on UMT.

Vinson also said "In a short space of time Russia will have a sufficient stockpile of atomic bombs as to be capable of initiating a terrible aerial attack on our cities and homes whenever she wishes to do so."

Without trained military personnel, He said, the vast military output of the United States "will be useless."

As for putting a rigid ceiling on military strength, he said, the changing needs of the day would make such a course "shortsighted and unrealistic."

The Senate has already approved a bill which would permit drafting 18-year-olds for up to 26 months service and establish machinery for a long-range universal military training program.

Senate action came March 9; the House will begin voting next week.

On Following Issues

The big fights will be on these issues:

Whether to retain the universal military training provisions or to separate the long-range training program from draft legislation.

2. Wether to incorporate in the bill, a ban against use of United States troops as part of an Atlantic Pact army in Europe without Congressional approval. The ban was not in the Senate bill or in the House Committee bill. Republicans want it in the House bill.

3. Whether to put a ceiling on United States military strength. The Senate's bill has a 4,000,000-

U. S. Senator Receives Big Pile of Mail Relative to Situation

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Outraged citizens across the United States are pouring telegrams and letters into Washington demanding a clean-up in government.

A large number is piling up in the office of Senator William J. Fulbright. The youthful-looking Arkansas Democrat who ramrodded the sensational RFC probe is demanding a code of ethics be drawn up as a sort of slide-rule for measuring the integrity of public officials.

Fulbright told the Senate last week the RFC inquiry disclosed a moral problem in which officials abide by the letter of the law—but violate its spirit without any feeling of wrong-doing.

"The values of life which were clear to the Pilgrims," he said, "and the founding fathers have become dim and fuzzy in outline." The time has come, he says, for a new look at what is right and what is wrong.

Some of Letters

And many Americans feel the same way. Every mail brings a fresh batch of letters, cheering Fulbright for his fight for honesty in government and echoing his fear that political corruption is eating away the moral strength of the government.

They go like this:

From Weatherford, Texas—"What has happened to us, Bill? Are we as a people so hungry for money or personal power that we have forgotten every principle of decency our dads taught us? I don't believe it. Surely there are enough good men left to start a cleanup."

From New York City—"It is high time that we gave serious thought to our standards of right and decency which are far too low. Not only in politics but in every corner of American life."

From West Nyack, N. Y.—"Shrewdness and cleverness seem to have been readily accepted as an adequate and desirable substitute for the once respected virtues of intellectual and moral integrity."

Army Says Study OK, But No Fund

Spillway Overflow Was 3½ Feet Saturday and Is Not Charted

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, majority leader of the state Senate, took up again today with Horace S. Evans, executive director of the State Flood Control Commission, 90 State street, Albany, the great necessity for flood control planning and work in Ulster county.

Senator Wicks' office in Albany informed The Freeman that Evans had been told today by U. S. Army engineers that a survey has been assigned to the New York district for Ulster county, but that federal funds are not available for the work. The money, army officials said, would have to come from Washington.

To Pursue Problem

The senator's office said, however, the matter would not rest there, and that efforts to get this needed project for the county would go on.

Evans, the senator's office said, was getting in touch today with the New York State Department of Public Works in Albany about the repairing of highway bridges and roads and the removal of trees and other flood debris along public thoroughfares.

Took Steps in November

Senator Wicks took steps last November to have army engineers survey the disastrous upper Esopus creek flood which swept away houses, bridges and dams in the Pine Hill area. Engineers and county officials took the trip after a preliminary meeting held in Kingston with Senator Wicks.

Meanwhile unconfirmed estimates indicate that the amount of water which rushed down the Esopus creek early Saturday morning flooding out many homes was higher than at any time since the building of the Ashokan dam and higher than many of the floods reported in years prior to construction of that dam.

'Very High Level'

Provisional figures received by the Ellenville office of the U. S. Geological Survey tend to show the Esopus at a "very high level," but exact measurements cannot be made and confirmed for another day or two. The Neversink Valley streams, however, were apparently not as high as during the November flood, unconfirmed reports indicate.

The New York Board of Water Supply, now permitted to release current data on rainfall and other pertinent information, reports a record flow of water over the Ashokan spillway early Saturday morning.

The water at one time was three and one-half feet over the spillway, which is beyond the amount which can be interpreted into a gallons-per-day figure by present charts. It is known that when there is two and one-half feet of water about the spillway, the flow is eight billion gallons per day.

Today's Rate of Flow

This morning (Tuesday) the rate of flow from the spillway had fallen to 1,400,000,000 gallons per day, still a "moderately high" amount.

Rainfall at Brown Station at the Ashokan was .74 inches in the 24-hour period ended 8 a. m. today. In a similar period which ended 8 a. m. Monday, only .03 inches fell.

The rainfall reported at the same station on Friday in 24 hours was 2.35 inches, and an additional 2.99 inches fell on Saturday.

Snowfall Reported

In the upper reaches of the watershed, snow was reported falling overnight. At Tannersville, four inches of snow was measured this morning, and at Prattsville, two inches.

Turbidity has posed an expensive problem for New York city and local water supply systems, but a survey by Dr. Robert H.

Attorney Flanagan Is Heart Victim

Christopher J. Flanagan, former corporation counsel, and one of this city's best known attorneys, died Monday afternoon of a heart attack. He had been under a physician's care for some time, having had several previous attacks.

Attorney Flanagan was stricken on Fair street and was removed to the Kingston Hospital where he succumbed shortly after being admitted.

Aside from his prominence as a barrister, Attorney Flanagan was widely known as a sportsman, having hunted and fished in all the favorite sections of Ulster, his home county, and other areas including Canada's great woodland sections.

Admitted to the bar in 1915, he practiced for a year in Albany, then removed to Kingston where he followed his profession ever since. During his career, Attorney Flanagan had figured in important trials in the courts of this section and other parts of New York state.

Politically he was a Democrat and served the city as corporation counsel under the administration of Mayor Eugene B. Carey.

Surviving him are his wife, who before marriage was Marie Galvin, and two sons, John C. and Michael J. Flanagan, also a sister, Mrs. Joseph Quigley.

The funeral will be held from his home, 17 East Chestnut street, Thursday at 9:30 a. m. and at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock, where a solemn Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Agrees on Ending War

Paris, April 3 (AP)—France like Britain agrees now is a good time to end the Korean war, a Foreign Ministry official said today. He said French reaction to the speech yesterday by Herbert Morrison, British foreign secretary, was "generally favorable." Morrison said now was the "psychological time" to call upon Communist China to negotiate a Korean settlement. The source explained, however, France does not agree with Britain over recognition of Communist China.

Planning Network To Communicate In Floods, Disaster

A special radio network is in the formative stage to render assistance in times of disaster similar to the flood that occurred over the week-end.

This announcement was made today by Henry W. Bartsch of 64 Abbel street, who is inviting radio amateurs of Ulster county to join the movement.

Bartsch pointed out that radio amateurs could help immeasurably in forming contacts for communications between the sheriff's office, Red Cross headquarters at Kingston and the police.

"I have in mind to set up a fixed station already in operation," he said, "on the 160 meter phone band using the amateur frequencies set aside for both disaster and regular transmission frequencies of 1750 and 1800 kilocycles and above."

He stressed that "we have amateurs in Woodstock, Phoenicia, Wawarsing, Sidney, Oneonta, Catskill, Medway and these stations would tie into a special disaster net with Easton and Bethlehem, Pa., to report conditions around the Delaware river section and Ashokan reservoir."

The amateurs are under FCC rules, he pointed out, and frequencies with their headquarters at West Hartford, Conn., under American Radio Relay League.

Amateurs interested and willing to join the disaster net are urged by Bartsch to communicate with him. "With cooperation from the departments of the city," he said, "we can put this into effect and render both the city and amateur radio a service."

Snow Is Reported

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Heavy, wet snow fell today in the eastern part of New York state, but in most places it melted as it hit the ground. The U. S. Weather Bureau said the snow was the result of a storm moving up the east coast from the south. The snow belt extended from Hudson northward into the Adirondacks. New York city had rain. Temperatures throughout the state were above freezing, and were expected to reach the upper 30's and low 40's.

State Resort Clinic To Be Held Saturday

Resort operators all over the country will be watching Kingston on April 7, for results from the New York State Hotel Association's Resort Clinic devoted to the national emergency effects on travel, rates, occupancy, and wages.

According to Walter Averill, Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, president of the New York association, some of the nation's outstanding authorities in their respective fields will be on hand at the Governor Cliton Hotel to participate in the program.

"Because of the importance of the subjects covered at the Clinic and the wide effects of the national emergency on our resort industry, we anticipate a large number of our member hotels to be represented at the meeting," Mr. Averill declared.

Wilcox to Preside

Allen Wilcox of the Mohawk Hotel, Old Forge, is chairman of the New York Resort Hotels Committee and will be in charge of the program.

Joseph I. McDonnell, general manager, Chalfonte Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, N. J., member of the American Hotel Association's Resort Hotels Committee will review the general resort industry situation and tell of specific problems and solutions relative to the Atlantic City resort hotels.

"The Washington Story" is the timely title of a luncheon address by M. O. "Bud" Ryan, chief of the Washington office of the American Hotel Association at the clinic luncheon.

The important subjects of rate trends, food costs, trends and controls will be covered by Allan George, Harris, Kerr, Foster & Co., and Louis Toth, Horwath & Horwath, respectively, leading accounting firms in the hotel field.

Trends, Rates

A brief presentation on wage trends and rates in New York resorts through comparative analysis will be presented by Harry A. Mason, wage analyst of the association.

An extremely interesting session is promised by James F. Gilday, Hotel Syracuse, Syracuse, and president of the New York State Travel Council. Here resort operators will be given detailed information on the scope of the Council's activities and the unusual value of the referral system which has been worked out for the various resort areas by which potential visiting tourists are directed to the area and resort hotels of their choice.

William J. Hodges, Severance Lodge, Lovell, Maine, will present a picture of comparative operating costs in resorts which should give many operators an opportunity to gauge their expenditures against a valid average.

The general effect of emergency conditions on business volume and operation of resorts will be described by John F. Kinerk, Executive Secretary of the New York Association.

Gerlach Sustained Bad Loss of Hogs

Property owners along the Esopus creek were still surveying flood damage this morning and reports of loss to both business and personal property continued to be received.

Kasper Gerlach, who runs a farm along the Sawkill road found only 51 hogs still alive today of the 248 that he had prior to Saturday morning's flood. He expects that some of the remaining 51 may die as a result of exposure to the flood waters.

In addition to the loss of hogs, Gerlach reported the loss of two yearling heifers, an uncounted number of chickens, and heavy damage to his water pump, furnace, and the entire contents of his cellar. Trucks and tractors were covered with mud and have been sent to garages for repair work and cleaning.

It was still early to make a complete inspection to determine the loss, as the water had not receded entirely, but the loss will undoubtedly run "into the thousands," Gerlach said.

Saturday morning was the first time in his 28 years in that location that water had reached the barn, Gerlach said.

Roach Brothers Suffered

Next door to Gerlach's heavy damage was done to Roach Brothers rendering plant. Hides, skins, machinery, oil burner and boilers were all covered with mud, Roach said, and he estimates it will be at least a week or 10 days before the plant can be operating at capacity.

A new truck was completely covered with water for two days, Roach said.

The rendering plant has been at its present location since 1922, and this is the first crippling flood experienced.

Floods Common Earlier

What made Saturday's flood so damaging was the fact that many new homes and developments have sprung up along the banks of the lower Esopus since the construction of the Ashokan reservoir alleviated the recurring floods of past days.

Floods prior to the construction of the reservoir in the early 1900's were common. The late William C. DeWitt, city historian, in his book, "People's History of Kingston," said, "I used to see the waters rise over the paved streets as far as Washington and Hurley avenues."

When the Ashokan reservoir stopped the heavy flow of the Esopus by impounding much of the Catskill mountain water, the land that was formerly flooded periodically was opened up for development. Last Saturday, with the Ashokan already overflowing, a flood of oldtime intensity caused much damage to those comparatively new developments.

Confesses Setting Fires

Greenville, Mich., April 3 (AP)—A young factory worker confessed today, state police said, that he set a series of fires that brought near-martial law to this central Michigan city last night. One church was destroyed and another church and two downtown buildings damaged in the blazes. Total loss was estimated at $300,000. But no injuries were reported. State police identified the man as Vernon Mevis, 21, an employe of a refrigerator plant in nearby Belding. He was nabbed last night behind a flaming Western Union building, one of the burned structures, and rushed to state police headquarters in East Lansing for a lie detector test.

Anti-U. S. Feeling

New Delhi, India, April 3 (AP)—Anti-Americanism reached a new high in India today under the double impact of American hesitancy in sending grain to this hungry country and Prime Minister Nehru's sharp criticism of a British-American resolution on Kashmir. "It is hard to stem criticism of America and its action in the Kashmir question when the prime minister himself is in the van of the critics," a highly placed Indian told a reporter. American and Indian officials both express concern over the developments.

More than 70 per cent of the families in the United States own automobiles.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 3 (AP)—Stock prices found limited support in today's market, but progress proved difficult.

A few leaders edged forward narrowly with the aid of some buying of railroad, steel and motor shares. Rubber and radio-television issues joined in the upward move at times, but chemicals and a few others were laggards.

Most changes were measured in cents. Trading held to the halting pace of recent sessions.

The improvement, such as it was, was a continuation of the steady tone that finally brought a halt late Monday to two days of declining prices of stocks.

Reaching higher levels were Chrysler, Studebaker, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Bethlehem, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Pressed Steel Car (on talk of improved prospects for a merger with Marion Power Shovel), Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Zenith Radio, Radio Corp., American Cyanamid, Eastern Air Lines (after a favorable earnings report), Trans World Airlines, Kennecott, International Telephone and General Electric.

Lower at times were du Pont, Union Carbide, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, American Can, Standard Oil (N. J.), Santa Fe, Douglas Aircraft and International Paper.

Railroad obligations continued their decline in the corporate bond market. U. S. Governments were virtually unchanged in over-the-counter trading.

Wicks Makes . . .

Broad, county health commissioner, disclosed this morning that public water supplies of the county came through the flood with minor damage and were able to maintain safe supplies for consumers.

Wells Are Surveyed

At the present time, the staff of the Ulster County Department of Health is attempting to survey flooded private wells. Persons wishing help in disinfecting or cleaning of private wells along with sampling at a later date may contact the health department at Kingston 5300, or they may contact their local supervisors who will transmit the information to the department.

In the meantime, water from any flooded private wells should be boiled prior to use, Dr. Broad warned.

Results of the survey of public water supplies as reported by Dr. Broad include the following:

Filtration Plant Isolated

The city of Kingston filtration plant was isolated for a brief period of time by flood water Friday night and very early Saturday morning. However, as long as pressure is available and mains stay intact this facility is self-supporting.

Ellenville village suffered some flooding near the emergency pumping station but the turbid mountain streams were diverted from the storage reservoir early Friday.

Kerhonkson, Rosendale, Pine Hill, New Paltz and Wallkill reported some increase in turbidities but no major difficulties that could not be handled by increased chlorination.

Woodstock's new water supply functioned very well. The water main across the state highway bridge at the entrance to the hamlet was strained sufficient to leak when the bridge was flooded. Water service to the school was cut off but major damage did not occur.

Sufficient in Storage

At Phoenicia, the pump on the infiltration well was removed from flood water Friday and the chlorinator and meter pit was flooded. Sufficient treated water was in storage to maintain pressure on the mains as long as no serious break occurred.

The Pine Hill water company reported no damage as of late Saturday.

The water at the Blue Mountain reservoir in Saugerties was at a point where the chlorinator house floor was reached and the intake building and treatment house were isolated. A stand-by manual chlorinator and a new automatic chlorinator maintained adequate treatment although there was some danger that a slightly higher rise of water might have made this system inoperative.

Dr. Broad stated that credit for the good work is due the individual water superintendents. Preliminary laboratory results as reported by the Kingston laboratory indicate adequate water treatment.

Dulles Makes Plea

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles urged the Latin American foreign ministers today to study means of dealing with the Soviet veto of admissions to the United Nations. Forecasting a possible Soviet bloc veto of Japan following the completion of the Japanese peace treaty, Dulles said this would make it difficult to develop a genuine security system for the Pacific. "This is an aspect of the problem which I am sure you will want to consider both as belligerents in the Japanese war and as members of the United Nations," Dulles said.

Christopher J. Flanagan, former corporation counsel, and one of this city's best known attorneys, died Monday afternoon of a heart attack. He had been under a physician's care for some time, having had several previous attacks.

Attorney Flanagan was stricken on Fair street and was removed to the Kingston Hospital where he succumbed shortly after being admitted.

Aside from his prominence as a barrister, Attorney Flanagan was widely known as a sportsman, having hunted and fished in all the favorite sections of Ulster, his home county, and other areas including Canada's great woodland sections.

Admitted to the bar in 1915, he practiced for a year in Albany, then removed to Kingston where he followed his profession ever since. During his career, Attorney Flanagan had figured in important trials in the courts of this section and other parts of New York state.

Politically he was a Democrat and served the city as corporation counsel under the administration of Mayor Eugene B. Carey.

Surviving him are his wife, who before marriage was Marie Galvin, and two sons, John C. and Michael J. Flanagan, also a sister, Mrs. Joseph Quigley.

He said French reaction to the speech yesterday by Herbert Morrison, British foreign secretary, was "generally favorable." Planning Network To Communicate In Floods, Disaster

A special radio network is in the formative stage to render assistance in times of disaster similar to the flood that occurred over the week-end.

This announcement was made today by Henry W. Bartsch of 64 Abbel street, who is inviting radio amateurs of Ulster county to join the movement.

Bartsch pointed out that radio amateurs could help immeasurably in forming contacts for communications between the sheriff's office, Red Cross headquarters at Kingston and the police.

"I have in mind to set up a fixed station already in operation," he said, "on the 160 meter phone band using the amateur frequencies set aside for both disaster and regular transmission frequencies of 1750 and 1800 kilocycles and above."

He stressed that "we have amateurs in Woodstock, Phoenicia, Wawarsing, Sidney, Oneonta, Catskill, Medway and these stations would tie into a special disaster net with Easton and Bethlehem, Pa., to report conditions around the Delaware river section and Ashokan reservoir."

The amateurs are under FCC rules, he pointed out, and frequencies with their headquarters at West Hartford, Conn., under American Radio Relay League.

Amateurs interested and willing to join the disaster net are urged by Bartsch to communicate with him. "With cooperation from the departments of the city," he said, "we can put this into effect and render both the city and amateur radio a service."

Snow Is Reported

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Heavy, wet snow fell today in the eastern part of New York state, but in most places it melted as it hit the ground. The U. S. Weather Bureau said the snow was the result of a storm moving up the east coast from the south. The snow belt extended from Hudson northward into the Adirondacks. New York city had rain. Temperatures throughout the state were above freezing, and were expected to reach the upper 30's and low 40's.

State Resort Clinic To Be Held Saturday

Resort operators all over the country will be watching Kingston on April 7, for results from the New York State Hotel Association's Resort Clinic devoted to the national emergency effects on travel, rates, occupancy, and wages.

According to Walter Averill, Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, president of the New York association, some of the nation's outstanding authorities in their respective fields will be on hand at the Governor Clinton Hotel to participate in the program.

"Because of the importance of the subjects covered at the Clinic and the wide effects of the national emergency on our resort industry, we anticipate a large number of our member hotels to be represented at the meeting," Mr. Averill declared.

Wilcox to Preside

Allen Wilcox of the Mohawk Hotel, Old Forge, is chairman of the New York Resort Hotels Committee and will be in charge of the program.

William J. Hodges, Severance Lodge, Lovell, Maine, will present a picture of comparative operating costs in resorts which should give many operators an opportunity to gauge their expenditures against a valid average.

Gerlach Sustained Bad Loss of Hogs

Property owners along the Esopus creek were still surveying flood damage this morning and reports of loss to both business and personal property continued to be received.

Kasper Gerlach, who runs a farm along the Sawkill road found only 51 hogs still alive today of the 248 that he had prior to Saturday morning's flood. He expects that some of the remaining 51 may die as a result of exposure to the flood waters.

In addition to the loss of hogs, Gerlach reported the loss of two yearling heifers, an uncounted number of chickens, and heavy damage to his water pump, furnace, and the entire contents of his cellar. Trucks and tractors were covered with mud and have been sent to garages for repair work and cleaning.

It was still early to make a complete inspection to determine the loss, as the water had not receded entirely, but the loss will undoubtedly run "into the thousands," Gerlach said.

Saturday morning was the first time in his 28 years in that location that water had reached the barn, Gerlach said.

Roach Brothers Suffered

Next door to Gerlach's heavy damage was done to Roach Brothers rendering plant. Hides, skins, machinery, oil burner and boilers were all covered with mud, Roach said, and he estimates it will be at least a week or 10 days before the plant can be operating at capacity.

A new truck was completely covered with water for two days, Roach said.

The rendering plant has been at its present location since 1922, and this is the first crippling flood experienced.

Floods Common Earlier

What made Saturday's flood so damaging was the fact that many new homes and developments have sprung up along the banks of the lower Esopus since the construction of the Ashokan reservoir alleviated the recurring floods of past days.

Floods prior to the construction of the reservoir in the early 1900's were common. The late William C. DeWitt, city historian, in his book, "People's History of Kingston," said, "I used to see the waters rise over the paved streets as far as Washington and Hurley avenues."

When the Ashokan reservoir stopped the heavy flow of the Esopus by impounding much of the Catskill mountain water, the land that was formerly flooded periodically was opened up for development. Last Saturday, with the Ashokan already overflowing, a flood of oldtime intensity caused much damage to those comparatively new developments.

Confesses Setting Fires

Greenville, Mich., April 3 (AP)—A young factory worker confessed today, state police said, that he set a series of fires that brought near-martial law to this central Michigan city last night. One church was destroyed and another church and two downtown buildings damaged in the blazes. Total loss was estimated at $300,000. But no injuries were reported. State police identified the man as Vernon Mevis, 21, an employe of a refrigerator plant in nearby Belding. He was nabbed last night behind a flaming Western Union building, one of the burned structures, and rushed to state police headquarters in East Lansing for a lie detector test.

Anti-U. S. Feeling

New Delhi, India, April 3 (AP)—Anti-Americanism reached a new high in India today under the double impact of American hesitancy in sending grain to this hungry country and Prime Minister Nehru's sharp criticism of a British-American resolution on Kashmir. "It is hard to stem criticism of America and its action in the Kashmir question when the prime minister himself is in the van of the critics," a highly placed Indian told a reporter. American and Indian officials both express concern over the developments.

More than 70 per cent of the families in the United States own automobiles.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 3 (AP)—Stock prices found limited support in today's market, but progress proved difficult.

A few leaders edged forward narrowly with the aid of some buying of railroad, steel and motor shares. Rubber and radio-television issues joined in the upward move at times, but chemicals and a few others were laggards.

Most changes were measured in cents. Trading held to the halting pace of recent sessions.

The improvement, such as it was, was a continuation of the steady tone that finally brought a halt late Monday to two days of declining prices of stocks.

Reaching higher levels were Chrysler, Studebaker, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Bethlehem, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Pressed Steel Car (on talk of improved prospects for a merger with Marion Power Shovel), Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Zenith Radio, Radio Corp., American Cyanamid, Eastern Air Lines (after a favorable earnings report), Trans World Airlines, Kennecott, International Telephone and General Electric.

Lower at times were du Pont, Union Carbide, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, American Can, Standard Oil (N. J.), Santa Fe, Douglas Aircraft and International Paper.

Railroad obligations continued their decline in the corporate bond market. U. S. Governments were virtually unchanged in over-the-counter trading.

Wicks Makes . . .

Broad, county health commissioner, disclosed this morning that public water supplies of the county came through the flood with minor damage and were able to maintain safe supplies for consumers.

Wells Are Surveyed

At the present time, the staff of the Ulster County Department of Health is attempting to survey flooded private wells. Persons wishing help in disinfecting or cleaning of private wells along with sampling at a later date may contact the health department at Kingston 5300, or they may contact their local supervisors who will transmit the information to the department.

In the meantime, water from any flooded private wells should be boiled prior to use, Dr. Broad warned.

Results of the survey of public water supplies as reported by Dr. Broad include the following:

Filtration Plant Isolated

The city of Kingston filtration plant was isolated for a brief period of time by flood water Friday night and very early Saturday morning. However, as long as pressure is available and mains stay intact this facility is self-supporting.

Ellenville village suffered some flooding near the emergency pumping station but the turbid mountain streams were diverted from the storage reservoir early Friday.

Kerhonkson, Rosendale, Pine Hill, New Paltz and Wallkill reported some increase in turbidities but no major difficulties that could not be handled by increased chlorination.

Woodstock's new water supply functioned very well. The water main across the state highway bridge at the entrance to the hamlet was strained sufficient to leak when the bridge was flooded. Water service to the school was cut off but major damage did not occur.

Sufficient in Storage

At Phoenicia, the pump on the infiltration well was removed from flood water Friday and the chlorinator and meter pit was flooded. Sufficient treated water was in storage to maintain pressure on the mains as long as no serious break occurred.

The Pine Hill water company reported no damage as of late Saturday.

The water at the Blue Mountain reservoir in Saugerties was at a point where the chlorinator house floor was reached and the intake building and treatment house were isolated. A stand-by manual chlorinator and a new automatic chlorinator maintained adequate treatment although there was some danger that a slightly higher rise of water might have made this system inoperative.

Dr. Broad stated that credit for the good work is due the individual water superintendents. Preliminary laboratory results as reported by the Kingston laboratory indicate adequate water treatment.

Dulles Makes Plea

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles urged the Latin American foreign ministers today to study means of dealing with the Soviet veto of admissions to the United Nations. Forecasting a possible Soviet bloc veto of Japan following the completion of the Japanese peace treaty, Dulles said this would make it difficult to develop a genuine security system for the Pacific. "This is an aspect of the problem which I am sure you will want to consider both as belligerents in the Japanese war and as members of the United Nations," Dulles said.

He said French reaction to the speech yesterday by Herbert Morrison, British foreign secretary, was "generally favorable." Morrison said now was the "psychological time" to call upon Communist China to negotiate a Korean settlement. Planning Network To Communicate In Floods, Disaster

A special radio network is in the formative stage to render assistance in times of disaster similar to the flood that occurred over the week-end.

This announcement was made today by Henry W. Bartsch of 64 Abbel street, who is inviting radio amateurs of Ulster county to join the movement.

Bartsch pointed out that radio amateurs could help immeasurably in forming contacts for communications between the sheriff's office, Red Cross headquarters at Kingston and the police.

"I have in mind to set up a fixed station already in operation," he said, "on the 160 meter phone band using the amateur frequencies set aside for both disaster and regular transmission frequencies of 1750 and 1800 kilocycles and above."

He stressed that "we have amateurs in Woodstock, Phoenicia, Wawarsing, Sidney, Oneonta, Catskill, Medway and these stations would tie into a special disaster net with Easton and Bethlehem, Pa., to report conditions around the Delaware river section and Ashokan reservoir."

The amateurs are under FCC rules, he pointed out, and frequencies with their headquarters at West Hartford, Conn., under American Radio Relay League.

Amateurs interested and willing to join the disaster net are urged by Bartsch to communicate with him. "With cooperation from the departments of the city," he said, "we can put this into effect and render both the city and amateur radio a service."

According to Walter Averill, Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, president of the New York association, some of the nation's outstanding authorities in their respective fields will be on hand at the Governor Clinton Hotel to participate in the program.

"Because of the importance of the subjects covered at the Clinic and the wide effects of the national emergency on our resort industry, we anticipate a large number of our member hotels to be represented at the meeting," Mr. Averill declared.

Wilcox to Preside

Allen Wilcox of the Mohawk Hotel, Old Forge, is chairman of the New York Resort Hotels Committee and will be in charge of the program.

The important subjects of rate trends, food costs, trends and controls will be covered by Allan George, Harris, Kerr, Foster & Co., and Louis Toth, Horwath & Horwath, respectively, leading accounting firms in the hotel field.

Here resort operators will be given detailed information on the scope of the Council's activities and the unusual value of the referral system which has been worked out for the various resort areas by which potential visiting tourists are directed to the area and resort hotels of their choice.

Gerlach Sustained Bad Loss of Hogs

Property owners along the Esopus creek were still surveying flood damage this morning and reports of loss to both business and personal property continued to be received.

Kasper Gerlach, who runs a farm along the Sawkill road found only 51 hogs still alive today of the 248 that he had prior to Saturday morning's flood. He expects that some of the remaining 51 may die as a result of exposure to the flood waters.

In addition to the loss of hogs, Gerlach reported the loss of two yearling heifers, an uncounted number of chickens, and heavy damage to his water pump, furnace, and the entire contents of his cellar. Trucks and tractors were covered with mud and have been sent to garages for repair work and cleaning.

It was still early to make a complete inspection to determine the loss, as the water had not receded entirely, but the loss will undoubtedly run "into the thousands," Gerlach said.

Saturday morning was the first time in his 28 years in that location that water had reached the barn, Gerlach said.

Roach Brothers Suffered

Next door to Gerlach's heavy damage was done to Roach Brothers rendering plant. Hides, skins, machinery, oil burner and boilers were all covered with mud, Roach said, and he estimates it will be at least a week or 10 days before the plant can be operating at capacity.

A new truck was completely covered with water for two days, Roach said.

The rendering plant has been at its present location since 1922, and this is the first crippling flood experienced.

Floods Common Earlier

What made Saturday's flood so damaging was the fact that many new homes and developments have sprung up along the banks of the lower Esopus since the construction of the Ashokan reservoir alleviated the recurring floods of past days.

Floods prior to the construction of the reservoir in the early 1900's were common. The late William C. DeWitt, city historian, in his book, "People's History of Kingston," said, "I used to see the waters rise over the paved streets as far as Washington and Hurley avenues."

When the Ashokan reservoir stopped the heavy flow of the Esopus by impounding much of the Catskill mountain water, the land that was formerly flooded periodically was opened up for development. Last Saturday, with the Ashokan already overflowing, a flood of oldtime intensity caused much damage to those comparatively new developments.

Confesses Setting Fires

Greenville, Mich., April 3 (AP)—A young factory worker confessed today, state police said, that he set a series of fires that brought near-martial law to this central Michigan city last night. One church was destroyed and another church and two downtown buildings damaged in the blazes. Total loss was estimated at $300,000. But no injuries were reported. State police identified the man as Vernon Mevis, 21, an employe of a refrigerator plant in nearby Belding. He was nabbed last night behind a flaming Western Union building, one of the burned structures, and rushed to state police headquarters in East Lansing for a lie detector test.

Anti-U. S. Feeling

New Delhi, India, April 3 (AP)—Anti-Americanism reached a new high in India today under the double impact of American hesitancy in sending grain to this hungry country and Prime Minister Nehru's sharp criticism of a British-American resolution on Kashmir. "It is hard to stem criticism of America and its action in the Kashmir question when the prime minister himself is in the van of the critics," a highly placed Indian told a reporter. American and Indian officials both express concern over the developments.

More than 70 per cent of the families in the United States own automobiles.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 3 (AP)—Stock prices found limited support in today's market, but progress proved difficult.

A few leaders edged forward narrowly with the aid of some buying of railroad, steel and motor shares. Rubber and radio-television issues joined in the upward move at times, but chemicals and a few others were laggards.

Most changes were measured in cents. Trading held to the halting pace of recent sessions.

The improvement, such as it was, was a continuation of the steady tone that finally brought a halt late Monday to two days of declining prices of stocks.

Reaching higher levels were Chrysler, Studebaker, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Bethlehem, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Pressed Steel Car (on talk of improved prospects for a merger with Marion Power Shovel), Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Zenith Radio, Radio Corp., American Cyanamid, Eastern Air Lines (after a favorable earnings report), Trans World Airlines, Kennecott, International Telephone and General Electric.

Lower at times were du Pont, Union Carbide, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, American Can, Standard Oil (N. J.), Santa Fe, Douglas Aircraft and International Paper.

Railroad obligations continued their decline in the corporate bond market. U. S. Governments were virtually unchanged in over-the-counter trading.

Wicks Makes . . .

Broad, county health commissioner, disclosed this morning that public water supplies of the county came through the flood with minor damage and were able to maintain safe supplies for consumers.

Wells Are Surveyed

At the present time, the staff of the Ulster County Department of Health is attempting to survey flooded private wells. Persons wishing help in disinfecting or cleaning of private wells along with sampling at a later date may contact the health department at Kingston 5300, or they may contact their local supervisors who will transmit the information to the department.

In the meantime, water from any flooded private wells should be boiled prior to use, Dr. Broad warned.

Results of the survey of public water supplies as reported by Dr. Broad include the following:

Filtration Plant Isolated

The city of Kingston filtration plant was isolated for a brief period of time by flood water Friday night and very early Saturday morning. However, as long as pressure is available and mains stay intact this facility is self-supporting.

Ellenville village suffered some flooding near the emergency pumping station but the turbid mountain streams were diverted from the storage reservoir early Friday.

Kerhonkson, Rosendale, Pine Hill, New Paltz and Wallkill reported some increase in turbidities but no major difficulties that could not be handled by increased chlorination.

Woodstock's new water supply functioned very well. The water main across the state highway bridge at the entrance to the hamlet was strained sufficient to leak when the bridge was flooded. Water service to the school was cut off but major damage did not occur.

Sufficient in Storage

At Phoenicia, the pump on the infiltration well was removed from flood water Friday and the chlorinator and meter pit was flooded. Sufficient treated water was in storage to maintain pressure on the mains as long as no serious break occurred.

The Pine Hill water company reported no damage as of late Saturday.

The water at the Blue Mountain reservoir in Saugerties was at a point where the chlorinator house floor was reached and the intake building and treatment house were isolated. A stand-by manual chlorinator and a new automatic chlorinator maintained adequate treatment although there was some danger that a slightly higher rise of water might have made this system inoperative.

Dr. Broad stated that credit for the good work is due the individual water superintendents. Preliminary laboratory results as reported by the Kingston laboratory indicate adequate water treatment.

Dulles Makes Plea

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles urged the Latin American foreign ministers today to study means of dealing with the Soviet veto of admissions to the United Nations. Forecasting a possible Soviet bloc veto of Japan following the completion of the Japanese peace treaty, Dulles said this would make it difficult to develop a genuine security system for the Pacific. "This is an aspect of the problem which I am sure you will want to consider both as belligerents in the Japanese war and as members of the United Nations," Dulles said.

Congressional Group Says Sampson Waste Unsupported

Geneva, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—There is little evidence to support charges of wasteful spending in rehabilitating nearby Sampson Air Force Base, a congressional subcommittee says.

But an investigation started here will be continued in Washington, according to the chairman of the group which left for the capital yesterday.

Rep. L. Gary Clemente (D.-N. Y.) together with Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R.-Pa.) and John Courtney, subcommittee investigator, conducted a public hearing on the Sampson situation here yesterday.

After the hearing, Clemente said:

"Unless we get direct testimony on destroying material or doing anything adverse to the interests of the government, this committee will have nothing to act on so far as this phase of the investigation is concerned."

12 Witnesses Heard

Twelve witnesses were heard yesterday, including eight workmen.

Among those who testified was Joseph Izzo, an assistant general foreman for the plumbing subcontractor on rehabilitation of the base.

Rep. John Taber, Auburn Republican, had charged that Izzo earned $543 for one week's work and that he had worked as much as three consecutive days at 23½ hours a day. His hours for the week totaled 110½, Taber said.

Izzo testified that he had taken a half hour off each of the three successive days for one meal, but otherwise had not left the job. He said he had not slept, had not shaved and had not eaten except for the one meal each day.

"I was told to see that the job was done and I did," Izzo told the investigators.

Sampson was a naval training station during World War 2. It was taken over by the air force last fall and a rehabilitation project slated to cost $18,000,000 was started under supervision of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Republicans Win Michigan Elections

Detroit, April 3 (AP)—Republicans marked up a sweeping triumph today in Michigan's spring elections.

It was all GOP. They won eight state offices in yesterday's light voter turnout and got concessions on all contests from the Democrats as early as 3 a. m.

The GOP triumph followed precedent. For 18 years the party has been Michigan's spring victory.

Democratic Detroit and Wayne county, which helped to re-elect Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams last fall, were no great support this time.

Detroit's vote was about 175,000 compared to 220,000 in the spring election two years ago. The total state vote ran toward 600,000 as against 850,000 two years ago.

Smoke Blankets Area

New York, April 3 (AP)—Smoke from a three-alarm fire in a midtown hat factory blanketed the Fifth avenue shopping district and Rockefeller Center late last night. A drizzle of rain weighed the heavy smoke down, causing it to spread many blocks from the fire in a seven-story Loft building on 57th street, near Fifth avenue. Six physicians and eight nurses stood by at an emergency hospital set up in a nearby restaurant. But the only casualty was a lone fireman overcome by smoke. Authorities said the fire, of undetermined origin, caused considerable damage.

Quill Says Efforts Are Going Ahead

New York, April 3 (AP)—Efforts to unionize the city's police, CIO leader Michael J. Quill says, are going forward regardless of opposition by Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy.

And, a spokesman for Quill adds, that goes for any opposition from Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri too.

Quill, head of the CIO Transport Workers Union, told Murphy in a letter yesterday that the commissioner's expressions of opposition to the union were a "foul fake."

Murphy had told police at a communion breakfast Sunday that unionism was not for them and might cost them their jobs, as a state law forbids strikes by public employes.

Quill replied that Murphy ignored no-strike provisions of police unions in other cities and the no-strike clauses on TWU application cards now being circulated among local police.

After the letter was sent to Murphy, Mayor Impellitteri said he supported his police commissioner.

Impellitteri's stand, a TWU spokesman later said, did not change the situation.

Ceiling Prices Checked

New York, April 3 (AP)—Investigators of the Office of Price Stabilization are checking on whether ceiling prices set Jan. 26 are being observed by manufacturers and wholesalers in New York state and New Jersey. Books of many firms are being examined, OPS Regional Director James G. Lyons said yesterday. "Wilfull and flagrant violators" will be dealt with swiftly, said James E. Birdsall, regional chief enforcement officer. Minor irregularities will be adjusted at OPS headquarters, he said.

Too Big

Built in 1893, the first ferris wheel was so large that it needed 175 freight cars to carry it, causing so much expense that, after an exposition at St. Louis in 1904, it was broken up and sold for scrap.

Congressional Group Says Sampson Waste Unsupported

Geneva, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—There is little evidence to support charges of wasteful spending in rehabilitating nearby Sampson Air Force Base, a congressional subcommittee says.

But an investigation started here will be continued in Washington, according to the chairman of the group which left for the capital yesterday.

Rep. L. Gary Clemente (D.-N.Y.) together with Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R.-Pa.) and John Courtney, subcommittee investigator, conducted a public hearing on the Sampson situation here yesterday.

After the hearing, Clemente said:

"Unless we get direct testimony on destroying material or doing anything adverse to the interests of the government, this committee will have nothing to act on so far as this phase of the investigation is concerned."

12 Witnesses Heard

Twelve witnesses were heard yesterday, including eight workmen.

Among those who testified was Joseph Izzo ,an assistant general foreman for the plumbing subcontractor on rehabilitation of the base.

Rep. John Taber, Auburn Republican, had charged that Izzo earned $543 for one week's work and that he had worked as much as three consecutive days at 23½ hours a day. His hours for the week totaled 110½, Taber said.

Izzo testified that he had taken a half hour off each of the three successive days for one meal, but otherwise had not left the job. He said he had not slept, had not shaved and had not eaten except for the one meal each day.

"I was told to see that the job was done and I did," Izzo told the investigators.

Sampson was a naval training station during World War 2. It was taken over by the air force last fall and a rehabilitation project slated to cost $18,000,000 was started under supervision of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Republicans Win Michigan Elections

Detroit, April 3 (AP)—Republicans marked up a sweeping triumph today in Michigan's spring elections.

It was all GOP. They won eight state offices in yesterday's light voter turnout and got concessions on all contests from the Democrats as early as 3 a. m.

The GOP triumph followed precedent. For 18 years the party has been Michigan's spring victory.

Democratic Detroit and Wayne county, which helped to re-elect Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams last fall, were no great support this time.

Detroit's vote was about 175,000 compared to 220,000 in the spring election two years ago. The total state vote ran toward 600,000 as against 850,000 two years ago.

Smoke Blankets Area

New York, April 3 (AP)—Smoke from a three-alarm fire in a midtown hat factory blanketed the Fifth avenue shopping district and Rockefeller Center late last night. Six physicians and eight nurses stood by at an emergency hospital set up in a nearby restaurant. But the only casualty was a lone fireman overcome by smoke. Authorities said the fire, of undetermined origin, caused considerable damage.

Quill Says Efforts Are Going Ahead

New York, April 3 (AP)—Efforts to unionize the city's police, CIO leader Michael J. Quill says, are going forward regardless of opposition by Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy.

And, a spokesman for Quill adds, that goes for any opposition from Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri too.

Quill, head of the CIO Transport Workers Union, told Murphy in a letter yesterday that the commissioner's expressions of opposition to the union were a "foul fake."

Murphy had told police at a communion breakfast Sunday that unionism was not for them and might cost them their jobs, as a state law forbids strikes by public employes.

Quill replied that Murphy ignored no-strike provisions of police unions in other cities and the no-strike clauses on TWU application cards now being circulated among local police.

After the letter was sent to Murphy, Mayor Impellitteri said he supported his police commissioner.

Impellitteri's stand, a TWU spokesman later said, did not change the situation.

And, a spokesman for Quill adds, that goes for any opposition from Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri too.

After the letter was sent to Murphy, Mayor Impellitteri said he supported his police commissioner.

Impellitteri's stand, a TWU spokesman later said, did not change the situation.

FREE WORLD AND PERON

History repeating itself can sometimes make an unpleasant sound. That's the kind of noise that's emanating these days from Argentina, home of the bush league dictator, Juan Peron.

Ever since Peron made it clear he intended to snuff out the great independent Buenos Aires newspaper, La Presna, supporters of a free press in all parts of the world have been deploring his behavior.

Peron declared in reply that what goes on in Argentina is nobody's business but his. You don't need a prodigious memory to recall that Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister, said something very much like that when the world objected to the Nazis' Jewish pogrom in 1938.

Goebbels was wrong and so is Senor Peron. What happens to freedom anywhere is the business of all free men wherever they may be.

When a great voice of liberty has been silenced ruthlessly, as has La Prensa's, only the fearful and the tyrannical will let the casualty occur unnoticed. The free will set up a clamor of protest.

This they have done in the case of La Prensa, and should continue to do despite Peron's contemptuous comment that it's none of our business and that he doesn't care what we think anyway.

By his action Peron has sought to place himself and his government above the rules of decent conduct regulating free nations. Having thus chosen to isolate himself from the respected world fraternity, he deserves to be treated in the manner he has invited.

The free press of the world, and free governments as well, should pound him mercilessly so long as he holds power. His absurd posturings, his petty conceits, his frauds should all be exposed. He should be shown to the world for what he is—a four-cylinder Hitler who hasn't even one inch of stature in the world community.

American scientists already have done a pretty good job of puncturing Peron's wild story of new and distinct atomic energy discoveries in his country. The tale was patently an effort to distract attention from his La Prensa seizure and achieve fresh prestige at the current Washington conference of the American republics.

Maybe the senor doesn't care what we think. But he ought to be made to listen to us anyhow. For there's really a good chance that the world's criticism nettles him badly, and gives him the nice, insecure feeling he deserves to have.

CANCER CRUSADE

"There's no such thing as an incurable disease," says science. "There are only diseases for which the cure is not yet known."

On this very logical premise, the American Cancer Society has dedicated itself to the fulltime task of unlocking the secret that cloaks one of man's deadliest killers—cancer.

The society, made up of thousands of volunteer workers, is leading the fight against cancer on three fronts—through research, education and service for cancer victims.

With the help provided by the funds it raises each April, the American Cancer Society has opened new avenues of research which may lead to cancer's cause and cure. Already science has discovered new techniques of cancer control which may some day save your life, or that of someone dear to you.

The 1951 Cancer Crusade gives everyone an opportunity to join this great humanitarian battle against cancer.

Help science help you. Help guard your family. Help to conquer cancer—by contributing to the 1951 campaign of the American Cancer Society.

TV IN SCHOOL

The question of the value of television as an educational medium in the public school system is soon to be put to the test in Washington, D. C.

Music appreciation, usually taught on a once-a-week schedule by a teacher who serves the whole system, is to be taken care of in part of the schools by a television broadcast lasting 40 minutes. Tests given before and after the start of the project will measure the relative effectiveness of each method. The scheme has been carefully worked out by broadcasting officials, the board of education and a professor in the music department of the University of Maryland.

This experiment will be watched with interest by educators, radio people and the general public. Success may open up new vistas of achievement for this latest means of communication.

If everything that is good were good for us it would be bad for indigestion.

'These Days'

THE CASE OF WARD BOND

On a recent visit to Los Angeles, which is a growing and busy city that includes a suburb called Hollywood, I saw a headline in the trade paper "Daily Variety" which gave the impression that an actor, Ward Bond, who is a friend of mine, got himself into a quarrel with another actor, Jose Ferrer, whom I do not include among my friends.

According to this peculiar trade paper, Bond had indicated displeasure over a proposed endorsement of Ferrer by California teachers that came during the period when Hollywood was gestating with the silly ceremony of passing out "Oscars" which those engaged in producing movies take seriously. Bond happens to be a violent anti-Communist and an officer of the Motion Picture Alliance, which is a fine organization of real Americans and should be better known than it is.

As "Daily Variety" told it, it seems that some reporter for that paper inferred that Bond threatened to get Pegler and Sokolsky to attack the Teachers Association if they endorsed Ferrer. I do not like anyone using my name in vain, but Ward Bond's account of the interview is satisfactory to me, and when I saw Pegler in Tucson, he appeared not to be displeased at the honor. So we will let it go at that.

Nevertheless and notwithstanding, if any citizen gets into a row over being forced to be tongue-tied or to be silent because some idiotic judge said that to suspect a man of being a Communist and to say so in print is libel per se, let him send his story to me and if he is correct in his facts and I can check them, I shall be happy to help him out by telling the stoy.

The time has come to quarrel over the issue that Communists, fellow-travelers, sympathizers of Soviet Russia, New Dealers and Fair Dealers can smear and attack and abuse anyone they like, but no one can answer back lest he face an expensive and burdensome libel suit. This is a means of intimidation which we shall have to fight in the interest of free speech and the good of the country even if we have to pass the hat as we did in the McCullough case.

I also saw a piece about Joyce O'Hara, who is subbing for Eric Johnston as president of the Motion Picture of America, which he denied the next day. I do not know and am not called upon to say which of his two statements is the correct one, but he said some things in each which struck me as not too wise.

In the first piece, he is reported to have said that "fanatical anti-Reds in Hollywood constitute a greater menace to the film industry than Communists." That is obviously so dopey a statement that I was not surprised that on the very next day, the trade paper reported O'Hara as saying:

". . . I made no mention whatsoever of those in Hollywood who are fighting communism. I did say that there are a few extremists outside of Hollywood who were unwilling to give Hollywood credit for the job it has done thus far in waging its fight against Communists."

To me the denial is as stupid as the original statement. Any American who is not "fanatical anti-Red" is just a no good bum—to use language to which I may have to become accustomed—and ought to be treated as such. There can be no halfway, half-hearted anti-Communists. These people are our enemies and their associates are killing our sons. The person who can see both sides of that question is either a fool or he likes a profit better than his country.

Secondly, does Mr. O'Hara take the position that the "extremists" (on this subject) are all outside of Hollywood? Does he mean to tell us that there are no full and unequivocal anti-Communists in Hollywood?

If that be what he means, he is not telling the truth because all of my friends in the motion picture industry—and there are lots of them—are as extreme as I am in their violent opposition to communism. And I suggest to Mr. O'Hara that he become an extremist on this subject, if he wants to be of service to his employers. It is too late for anyone to be smart-alecky about communism.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

FOOD NEEDS OF ELDERLY PERSONS

A cartoon by the late Charles Dana Gibson depicted a wealthy old gentleman sitting at the end of a table richly laden with silver but all the old chap was apparently able to eat was a glass of milk and some bread and crackers. The text at the bottom of the cartoon was "Backward, turn backward, O Time in thy flight; make me a boy again just for tonight." On the wall of the room was what was in the man's mind, a boy of 12 siting down to a big turkey with all that goes with a turkey dinner. It is only too true that many start life with milk and bread and end life with milk and bread.

Some weeks ago I quoted Dr. E. J. Stieglitz, in The Journal of the American Medical Association, on overweight and its dangers, in which it was stated that those 25 per cent or more overweight show a death rate of 174 (normal 100) per cent of the expected rate.

Good diet is a powerful tool for keeping healthy and vigorous in later years. Almost all the degenerative diseases (wasting and wearing) have one characteristic in common: the gradual destruction of certain cells of the body. Elderly people are more likely to suffer from lack of protein (the food substance that builds new and repairs old cells). The best proteins are animal proteins—meat, fish, eggs, milk—and lack of protein is a significant factor in causing tissue wastage and anemia (thin blood). The loss of calcium and phosphorous apparently is also a factor in the characteristic wasting away of bone seen in elderly persons.

It is unfortunate that the majority of older persons dislike or resent the physician's advice to drink milk, because not only is milk rich in animal protein but it also is a major source of calcium. Nearly all elderly men and women need more protein because they are slightly anemic.

Dr. Stieglitz states that not only is the diet of most elderly individuals deficient in protein but it is also deficient in vitamins. The addition of plenty of vitamins, especially B and C, to the diet of older persons can make for great improvement in general vitality and vigor. Foods rich in vitamin B are beef liver, ham, bacon, malted milk, whole wheat bread, asparagus, spinach, yeast, wheat germ, peanuts. Foods rich in vitamin C are fresh raw fruits, lemons, oranges, grapefruit, raw cabbage, raw lettuce, tomatoes, peas.

What the Well-Dressed Man Is Wearing

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Benny Buttenwiesser, U. S. deputy high commissioner for Germany, had a conversation with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer some time ago which illustrates one of the most important problems the United States faces in Europe.

The new German parliament had scaled down taxes on wealthier taxpayers about a year ago, leaving a proportionately heavy tax burden on labor and white collar workers. The United States, which has the right to intervene in certain affairs of the new German government, objected, and it was following this that Deputy Commissioner Buttenwiesser had his talk with Adenauer.

Showing him the high tax scale prevailing in the U.S.A., Buttenwiesser argued that wealthy Germans also must shoulder their share of the tax burden.

Chancellor Adenauer replied that he just couldn't believe the United States collected such high taxes. If German taxes remained too high, he argued, the German government would not be able to collect them.

"We have a very good tax collector in the United States—Buttenwiesser replied, "jail!"

"Yes, I know," replied the German chancellor, but that is just for your gunmen."

"On the contrary," countered the deputy high commissioner, "I can show you a list of quite solid citizens, including doctors and businessmen who went to jail because of tax fraud."

Adenauer, however, remained unconvinced, and U. S. authorities finally permitted the German government to get away with its reduced tax structure, even though shot full of legal loopholes whereby high bracket taxpayers can dodge taxes. Result: Germany is now faced with a heavy deficit, is asking for more U. S. aid—which, if given, would have to come out of the pockets of Americans who do pay their taxes.

French Tax Evasion

Real fact is that with the exception of England and the Scandinavian countries, our major European friends are not taxing themselves. Furthermore, if they paid taxes on anywhere near the same scale as the U.S.A. and England, they could do two things:

1. Come close to balancing their budgets.

2. Come much closer to wiping out communism. For when you lighten the tax burden on the poor and shift part of it to the upper brackets, as is now done in the United States and England, then standards of living are raised and one of the most fertile fields for communism vanishes.

In both France and Italy, in addition to Germany, the working classes pay taxes out of all proportion to the upper brackets.

Actually French income taxes are high, just as high as in the United States. However, evasion among the higher bracket and middle class taxpayers is notorious. The average French businessman, lawyer, farmer or doctor just doesn't dream of revealing his real income. This throws a heavy burden on French labor and white collar workers, because their salaries are a matter of record with the companies for which they work.

This unfair tax distribution plus the high cost of living, is probably the biggest cause of communism in France.

In most European countries, also, there is a heavy tax burden on the consumer through sales, transfer and various consumer taxes.

Italian Ambassador Objects

Italian Ambassador Alberto Tarchiani, one of the ablest envoys in Washington, has taken exception to some of my recent reports from Rome in which I criticized use of money under the Marshall Plan. He points out quite correctly that Italian industrial production at the end of 1950 reached an all-time high, being 30 per cent above 1938. (1938 by the way was during the supposedly prosperous days of Mussolini.) He also points out that exports in 1950 rose to an all-time postwar high, and that electric power, auto and textile producing are zooming.

I am glad to have the ambassador's reminder of these encouraging facts. Possibly, in reporting from Rome, I should have emphasized them more, because the general economic condition of Italy is definitely improved.

It was my job as a newspaperman, however, to inform the American people on some of the steps that must be taken in Italy if Italy is to continue on a stable basis after Congress pulls the plug on the flow of Marshall Plan dollars—as it is certain to do sooner or later. And two of the essentials to long-range stability in Italy are land reform and a revised tax system. The new Italian tax bill is certainly a step in the right direction—even though a long way from the vigorous tax collection system existing in the United States and England.

Another Atom Spy

A theft of atomic secrets worse than the Dr. Fuchs case is wrapped up in a report picked up by U. S. intelligence agents in Germany. The report comes through devious channels from behind the Iron Curtain and has not yet been evaluated by the Atomic Energy Commission.

It will be recalled that last summer Professor Bruno Pontecorvo, an atomic scientist who spent some time in the United States, slipped mysteriously into Finland and then vanished behind the Iron Curtain.

American authorities had warned the British that Pontecorvo should be watched, but nonetheless he and his family left London in August, presumably on vacation, traveled a circuitous route to Rome, Stockholm and Helsinki. There Pontecorvo was picked up by a Soviet Embassy car and driven across the border to Leningrad.

The Italian-born professor allegedly had been in touch with the Russians long before he fled last summer, and made this move after he advised his Soviet contacts that he had information so "hot" he must bring it personally to the U.S.S.R.

Once in the Soviet, it is now reported that Prof. Pontecorvo devoted himself to writing an exhaustive report on a new method of A-bomb production, a long-range guided missile, and an air defense system based on cosmic rays. He is said to have told Marshall Beria, in charge of secret scientific research, that the air defense system could be in operation by October 1952.

Professor Pontecorvo is reported to be at work on all three projects with top priority given to an air defense system against the American atom bomb. In this connection it is interesting that the supreme Soviet has within the last few weeks given special awards to several Russian scientists for comic ray research.

Note—While in the United States, Prof. Pontecorvo was not employed by the Atomic Energy Commission but was in contact with many leading scientists. He is regarded here as a reactor expert.

Congress Must Decide Whether Taxes Should Be Increased—Surplus May Have Bearing

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 3—Congress is up against a tough decision that it must make before long—whether, in the face of a rising income from taxes already levied, it should go ahead and increase the tax rates just the same.

The last time a new tax law was passed—in the autumn of 1950—the psychology of war and tension was in the air. Korea had been a reverse for us and the rearmament program was being blueprinted with all sorts of fantastic guesses as to the billions it would cost.

Today the defense figures are more definite and there is a better idea of how much money is actually being produced on the revenue side.

What is changing the picture, of course, and affecting the congressional problem is the psychology of surplus. The present fiscal year, which ends June 30 next, will not show a deficit of $2,700,000,000 as President Truman and the treasury experts predicted several months ago, but there will be a surplus of at least $2,000,000,000. Receipts are better than heretofore estimated.

It's a difficult thing to raise tax rates in the face of a psychology of surplus. The country will not understand it without a lot of explaining. Also the country will demand that the expenditure side be carefully re-examined to see if next years' expenses need be as high as planned.

What brings to some extent the surplus in the present fiscal year—apart from added receipts—is the fact that expenditures are not yet running at the rate anticipated or at the rate they will attain in the next fiscal year. There's always a lag between the time when money is appropriated and the time it is actually spent. An interval of unavoidable delay occurs as contracts have to be carefully allocated and specifications written.

Thus, in the fiscal year which starts July 1 next the rate of spending will be higher for the full 12 months than it has been this fiscal year. The armament program will get into full swing in 1952. By the end of 1953 it should have reached its peak and begun to taper off somewhat.

The question is how to get over the hump—how to meet this accelerated rate of armament building without imposing on the nation a high tax system that could impair incentive and perhaps fasten on the country for many years a method of extracting taxes that would not promote a healthy economy.

The other side of the argument is that, unless taxes are increased and a lot of purchasing power siphoned off, the inflationary spiral will continue. Thus the biggest total of purchasing power is among the persons who earn less than $3,000 a year. The tax rates, relatively speaking, are light on that group. Union-labor spokesmen keep on urging that the tax rates be increased severely on the groups above $3,000 a year—as if that would take care of the treasury's needs. But there is a point at which the higher the tax rates go, the lower the return—that's an old rule. Also the total amount of earnings of those making more than $3,000 would have to be dipped into heavily in order to avoid taxing the groups under $3,000 a year. There isn't enough in the above-$3,000 group to meet a big treasury deficit.

What ought to happen, of course, is the passage of some form of sales tax which would affect all groups and yet not become too damaging in its impact on any. Congress is a bit fearful that a sales tax would prove a political boomerang. The Democratic party, on the other hand, does not know what's in store for it if it raises the taxes during the calendar year 1951 and the country goes into a national election campaign in 1952 with tax rates higher than or equal to those we had during World War 2.

Meanwhile, the pressure to cut expenditures has been steadily growing, but Congress has never really been up against the political gun on that one. If the dangers politically of increasing tax rates become apparent, the country may see at least some drastic cutting of expenses.

Yet some increases in tax rates this year will be inevitable. The prospect of carrying a $12,000,000,000 deficit in the next fiscal year will not be relished by any school of economic thought. Still, taxes are not likely to be raised this year to the point forecast a few months ago. Incidentally, Congress will take its time about enacting a new bill. The new rates will probably become effective in the latter half of this year, thus cutting the effect of the increases in half and in some categories to a fourth because of the belated passage of the law.

It could happen that the Congress which meets next January will have the real political battle on its hands and that the Republicans will not aid in any drive for heavy taxes during 1951, preferring to pass a moderate bill and let the majority party take it on the chin in the January session. Whichever way the tax problem is viewed, it is going to provoke unprecedented repercussions in a political sense. In the end, there may be a decision by Congress to increase taxes moderately this year and do some borrowing next year while waiting to see if the tax rates in 1952—a year of greatly stimulated armament building—actually bring in more receipts than anybody has yet calculated.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

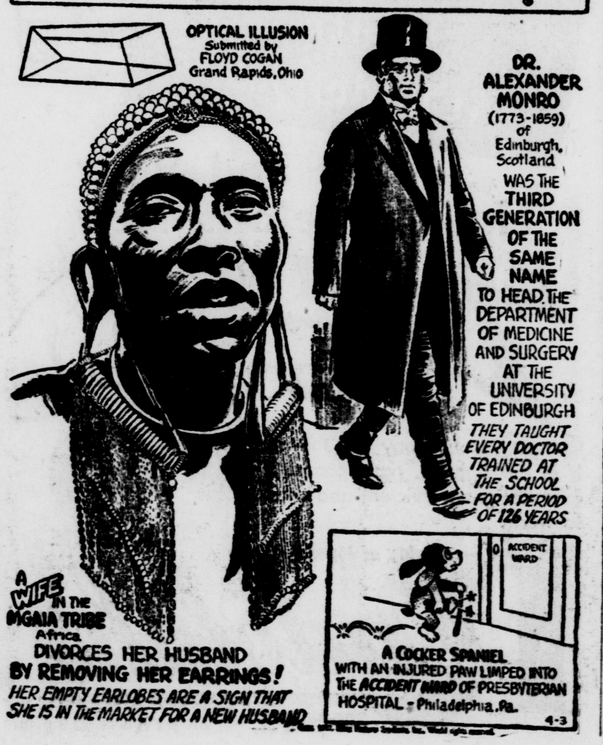

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The younger group of our citizen-voters, the "generation" who fought in World War II and came to their political maturity during and since that war, must be responsible for the silent and, thus far, passive revolution against unionism. Certainly the racket has slumped since V-J Day, and the current efforts of the same old gang of parasites to blackmail the government and the whole American people by threatening trouble unless we buy them off is not succeeding. On the contrary, Charles E. Wilson surprised these profiteers in national peril by standing toe-to-toe and slugging it out until, for the first time in 20 years, they broke off and ran squawking to "the public." "Labor," they said, was getting a dirty deal from this retired "tycoon" of big business.

Licked and discredited, they now will try a new approach. Their champion is Hubert Humphrey, a mock-Democrat from Minnesota, who has been promoting the essentials of the disastrous British Marxian adventure through a synthetic political society called Americans for Democratic action. Anna Rosenberg, with her arbitrary control over the lives of all Americans, has a record of sympathetic cooperation with the Union menace and with Eleanor Roosevelt, too." There is no present question whether she is or ever was a Communist. Her past performances and associations commend her to the vigilant attention of those who would reject union slavery as basic training for total thralldom under our common enemy, the state.

Eight or nine years ago, when James B. Carey, of the CIO, was a house-pet of the Roosevelts, with limousine, chauffeur and unlimited fuel, all at our expense, defiance of the monster was unthinkable. All his kind were princes of privilege. Roosevelt chose a brawl of drunken sycophants at the Hotel Statler, an orgy arranged by Dan Tobin, the permanent grand parasite of the teamsters, as the occasion of the first speech in his campaign for a fourth term. The great free American press, so like the Argentine press of today, suppressed the descriptive facts of that disgraceful scene, but Merriman Smith of the U.P., in a reminiscent book

History repeating itself can sometimes make an unpleasant sound. That's the kind of noise that's emanating these days from Argentina, home of the bush league dictator, Juan Peron.

Ever since Peron made it clear he intended to snuff out the great independent Buenos Aires newspaper, La Presna, supporters of a free press in all parts of the world have been deploring his behavior.

Peron declared in reply that what goes on in Argentina is nobody's business but his. You don't need a prodigious memory to recall that Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister, said something very much like that when the world objected to the Nazis' Jewish pogrom in 1938.

Goebbels was wrong and so is Senor Peron. What happens to freedom anywhere is the business of all free men wherever they may be.

When a great voice of liberty has been silenced ruthlessly, as has La Prensa's, only the fearful and the tyrannical will let the casualty occur unnoticed. The free will set up a clamor of protest.

This they have done in the case of La Prensa, and should continue to do despite Peron's contemptuous comment that it's none of our business and that he doesn't care what we think anyway.

By his action Peron has sought to place himself and his government above the rules of decent conduct regulating free nations. Having thus chosen to isolate himself from the respected world fraternity, he deserves to be treated in the manner he has invited.

Maybe the senor doesn't care what we think. But he ought to be made to listen to us anyhow. For there's really a good chance that the world's criticism nettles him badly, and gives him the nice, insecure feeling he deserves to have.

"There's no such thing as an incurable disease," says science. "There are only diseases for which the cure is not yet known."

On this very logical premise, the American Cancer Society has dedicated itself to the fulltime task of unlocking the secret that cloaks one of man's deadliest killers—cancer.

The society, made up of thousands of volunteer workers, is leading the fight against cancer on three fronts—through research, education and service for cancer victims.

With the help provided by the funds it raises each April, the American Cancer Society has opened new avenues of research which may lead to cancer's cause and cure. Already science has discovered new techniques of cancer control which may some day save your life, or that of someone dear to you.

The 1951 Cancer Crusade gives everyone an opportunity to join this great humanitarian battle against cancer.

Help science help you. Help guard your family. Help to conquer cancer—by contributing to the 1951 campaign of the American Cancer Society.

TV IN SCHOOL

The question of the value of television as an educational medium in the public school system is soon to be put to the test in Washington, D. C.

Music appreciation, usually taught on a once-a-week schedule by a teacher who serves the whole system, is to be taken care of in part of the schools by a television broadcast lasting 40 minutes. Tests given before and after the start of the project will measure the relative effectiveness of each method. The scheme has been carefully worked out by broadcasting officials, the board of education and a professor in the music department of the University of Maryland.

This experiment will be watched with interest by educators, radio people and the general public. Success may open up new vistas of achievement for this latest means of communication.

If everything that is good were good for us it would be bad for indigestion.

'These Days'

THE CASE OF WARD BOND

On a recent visit to Los Angeles, which is a growing and busy city that includes a suburb called Hollywood, I saw a headline in the trade paper "Daily Variety" which gave the impression that an actor, Ward Bond, who is a friend of mine, got himself into a quarrel with another actor, Jose Ferrer, whom I do not include among my friends.

According to this peculiar trade paper, Bond had indicated displeasure over a proposed endorsement of Ferrer by California teachers that came during the period when Hollywood was gestating with the silly ceremony of passing out "Oscars" which those engaged in producing movies take seriously. Bond happens to be a violent anti-Communist and an officer of the Motion Picture Alliance, which is a fine organization of real Americans and should be better known than it is.

As "Daily Variety" told it, it seems that some reporter for that paper inferred that Bond threatened to get Pegler and Sokolsky to attack the Teachers Association if they endorsed Ferrer. I do not like anyone using my name in vain, but Ward Bond's account of the interview is satisfactory to me, and when I saw Pegler in Tucson, he appeared not to be displeased at the honor. So we will let it go at that.

Nevertheless and notwithstanding, if any citizen gets into a row over being forced to be tongue-tied or to be silent because some idiotic judge said that to suspect a man of being a Communist and to say so in print is libel per se, let him send his story to me and if he is correct in his facts and I can check them, I shall be happy to help him out by telling the stoy.

The time has come to quarrel over the issue that Communists, fellow-travelers, sympathizers of Soviet Russia, New Dealers and Fair Dealers can smear and attack and abuse anyone they like, but no one can answer back lest he face an expensive and burdensome libel suit. This is a means of intimidation which we shall have to fight in the interest of free speech and the good of the country even if we have to pass the hat as we did in the McCullough case.

I also saw a piece about Joyce O'Hara, who is subbing for Eric Johnston as president of the Motion Picture of America, which he denied the next day. I do not know and am not called upon to say which of his two statements is the correct one, but he said some things in each which struck me as not too wise.

In the first piece, he is reported to have said that "fanatical anti-Reds in Hollywood constitute a greater menace to the film industry than Communists." That is obviously so dopey a statement that I was not surprised that on the very next day, the trade paper reported O'Hara as saying:

". . . I made no mention whatsoever of those in Hollywood who are fighting communism. I did say that there are a few extremists outside of Hollywood who were unwilling to give Hollywood credit for the job it has done thus far in waging its fight against Communists."

To me the denial is as stupid as the original statement. Any American who is not "fanatical anti-Red" is just a no good bum—to use language to which I may have to become accustomed—and ought to be treated as such. There can be no halfway, half-hearted anti-Communists. These people are our enemies and their associates are killing our sons. The person who can see both sides of that question is either a fool or he likes a profit better than his country.

Secondly, does Mr. O'Hara take the position that the "extremists" (on this subject) are all outside of Hollywood? Does he mean to tell us that there are no full and unequivocal anti-Communists in Hollywood?

If that be what he means, he is not telling the truth because all of my friends in the motion picture industry—and there are lots of them—are as extreme as I am in their violent opposition to communism. And I suggest to Mr. O'Hara that he become an extremist on this subject, if he wants to be of service to his employers. It is too late for anyone to be smart-alecky about communism.

That Body of Yours

FOOD NEEDS OF ELDERLY PERSONS

A cartoon by the late Charles Dana Gibson depicted a wealthy old gentleman sitting at the end of a table richly laden with silver but all the old chap was apparently able to eat was a glass of milk and some bread and crackers. The text at the bottom of the cartoon was "Backward, turn backward, O Time in thy flight; make me a boy again just for tonight." On the wall of the room was what was in the man's mind, a boy of 12 siting down to a big turkey with all that goes with a turkey dinner. It is only too true that many start life with milk and bread and end life with milk and bread.

Some weeks ago I quoted Dr. E. J. Stieglitz, in The Journal of the American Medical Association, on overweight and its dangers, in which it was stated that those 25 per cent or more overweight show a death rate of 174 (normal 100) per cent of the expected rate.

Good diet is a powerful tool for keeping healthy and vigorous in later years. Almost all the degenerative diseases (wasting and wearing) have one characteristic in common: the gradual destruction of certain cells of the body. Elderly people are more likely to suffer from lack of protein (the food substance that builds new and repairs old cells). The best proteins are animal proteins—meat, fish, eggs, milk—and lack of protein is a significant factor in causing tissue wastage and anemia (thin blood). The loss of calcium and phosphorous apparently is also a factor in the characteristic wasting away of bone seen in elderly persons.

It is unfortunate that the majority of older persons dislike or resent the physician's advice to drink milk, because not only is milk rich in animal protein but it also is a major source of calcium. Nearly all elderly men and women need more protein because they are slightly anemic.

Dr. Stieglitz states that not only is the diet of most elderly individuals deficient in protein but it is also deficient in vitamins. The addition of plenty of vitamins, especially B and C, to the diet of older persons can make for great improvement in general vitality and vigor. Foods rich in vitamin B are beef liver, ham, bacon, malted milk, whole wheat bread, asparagus, spinach, yeast, wheat germ, peanuts. Foods rich in vitamin C are fresh raw fruits, lemons, oranges, grapefruit, raw cabbage, raw lettuce, tomatoes, peas.

What the Well-Dressed Man Is Wearing

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Benny Buttenwiesser, U. S. deputy high commissioner for Germany, had a conversation with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer some time ago which illustrates one of the most important problems the United States faces in Europe.

The new German parliament had scaled down taxes on wealthier taxpayers about a year ago, leaving a proportionately heavy tax burden on labor and white collar workers. The United States, which has the right to intervene in certain affairs of the new German government, objected, and it was following this that Deputy Commissioner Buttenwiesser had his talk with Adenauer.

Showing him the high tax scale prevailing in the U.S.A., Buttenwiesser argued that wealthy Germans also must shoulder their share of the tax burden.

Chancellor Adenauer replied that he just couldn't believe the United States collected such high taxes. If German taxes remained too high, he argued, the German government would not be able to collect them.

"We have a very good tax collector in the United States—Buttenwiesser replied, "jail!"

"Yes, I know," replied the German chancellor, but that is just for your gunmen."

"On the contrary," countered the deputy high commissioner, "I can show you a list of quite solid citizens, including doctors and businessmen who went to jail because of tax fraud."

Adenauer, however, remained unconvinced, and U. S. authorities finally permitted the German government to get away with its reduced tax structure, even though shot full of legal loopholes whereby high bracket taxpayers can dodge taxes. Result: Germany is now faced with a heavy deficit, is asking for more U. S. aid—which, if given, would have to come out of the pockets of Americans who do pay their taxes.

French Tax Evasion

Real fact is that with the exception of England and the Scandinavian countries, our major European friends are not taxing themselves. Furthermore, if they paid taxes on anywhere near the same scale as the U.S.A. and England, they could do two things:

1. Come close to balancing their budgets.

2. Come much closer to wiping out communism. For when you lighten the tax burden on the poor and shift part of it to the upper brackets, as is now done in the United States and England, then standards of living are raised and one of the most fertile fields for communism vanishes.

In both France and Italy, in addition to Germany, the working classes pay taxes out of all proportion to the upper brackets.

Actually French income taxes are high, just as high as in the United States. However, evasion among the higher bracket and middle class taxpayers is notorious. The average French businessman, lawyer, farmer or doctor just doesn't dream of revealing his real income. This throws a heavy burden on French labor and white collar workers, because their salaries are a matter of record with the companies for which they work.

This unfair tax distribution plus the high cost of living, is probably the biggest cause of communism in France.

In most European countries, also, there is a heavy tax burden on the consumer through sales, transfer and various consumer taxes.

Italian Ambassador Objects

Italian Ambassador Alberto Tarchiani, one of the ablest envoys in Washington, has taken exception to some of my recent reports from Rome in which I criticized use of money under the Marshall Plan. He points out quite correctly that Italian industrial production at the end of 1950 reached an all-time high, being 30 per cent above 1938. (1938 by the way was during the supposedly prosperous days of Mussolini.) He also points out that exports in 1950 rose to an all-time postwar high, and that electric power, auto and textile producing are zooming.

I am glad to have the ambassador's reminder of these encouraging facts. Possibly, in reporting from Rome, I should have emphasized them more, because the general economic condition of Italy is definitely improved.

It was my job as a newspaperman, however, to inform the American people on some of the steps that must be taken in Italy if Italy is to continue on a stable basis after Congress pulls the plug on the flow of Marshall Plan dollars—as it is certain to do sooner or later. And two of the essentials to long-range stability in Italy are land reform and a revised tax system. The new Italian tax bill is certainly a step in the right direction—even though a long way from the vigorous tax collection system existing in the United States and England.

Another Atom Spy

A theft of atomic secrets worse than the Dr. Fuchs case is wrapped up in a report picked up by U. S. intelligence agents in Germany. The report comes through devious channels from behind the Iron Curtain and has not yet been evaluated by the Atomic Energy Commission.

It will be recalled that last summer Professor Bruno Pontecorvo, an atomic scientist who spent some time in the United States, slipped mysteriously into Finland and then vanished behind the Iron Curtain.

American authorities had warned the British that Pontecorvo should be watched, but nonetheless he and his family left London in August, presumably on vacation, traveled a circuitous route to Rome, Stockholm and Helsinki. There Pontecorvo was picked up by a Soviet Embassy car and driven across the border to Leningrad.

The Italian-born professor allegedly had been in touch with the Russians long before he fled last summer, and made this move after he advised his Soviet contacts that he had information so "hot" he must bring it personally to the U.S.S.R.

Once in the Soviet, it is now reported that Prof. Pontecorvo devoted himself to writing an exhaustive report on a new method of A-bomb production, a long-range guided missile, and an air defense system based on cosmic rays. He is said to have told Marshall Beria, in charge of secret scientific research, that the air defense system could be in operation by October 1952.

Professor Pontecorvo is reported to be at work on all three projects with top priority given to an air defense system against the American atom bomb. In this connection it is interesting that the supreme Soviet has within the last few weeks given special awards to several Russian scientists for comic ray research.

Note—While in the United States, Prof. Pontecorvo was not employed by the Atomic Energy Commission but was in contact with many leading scientists. He is regarded here as a reactor expert.

Congress Must Decide Whether Taxes Should Be Increased—Surplus May Have Bearing

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 3—Congress is up against a tough decision that it must make before long—whether, in the face of a rising income from taxes already levied, it should go ahead and increase the tax rates just the same.

The last time a new tax law was passed—in the autumn of 1950—the psychology of war and tension was in the air. Korea had been a reverse for us and the rearmament program was being blueprinted with all sorts of fantastic guesses as to the billions it would cost.

Today the defense figures are more definite and there is a better idea of how much money is actually being produced on the revenue side.

What is changing the picture, of course, and affecting the congressional problem is the psychology of surplus. The present fiscal year, which ends June 30 next, will not show a deficit of $2,700,000,000 as President Truman and the treasury experts predicted several months ago, but there will be a surplus of at least $2,000,000,000. Receipts are better than heretofore estimated.

It's a difficult thing to raise tax rates in the face of a psychology of surplus. The country will not understand it without a lot of explaining. Also the country will demand that the expenditure side be carefully re-examined to see if next years' expenses need be as high as planned.

What brings to some extent the surplus in the present fiscal year—apart from added receipts—is the fact that expenditures are not yet running at the rate anticipated or at the rate they will attain in the next fiscal year. There's always a lag between the time when money is appropriated and the time it is actually spent. An interval of unavoidable delay occurs as contracts have to be carefully allocated and specifications written.

Thus, in the fiscal year which starts July 1 next the rate of spending will be higher for the full 12 months than it has been this fiscal year. The armament program will get into full swing in 1952. By the end of 1953 it should have reached its peak and begun to taper off somewhat.

The question is how to get over the hump—how to meet this accelerated rate of armament building without imposing on the nation a high tax system that could impair incentive and perhaps fasten on the country for many years a method of extracting taxes that would not promote a healthy economy.

The other side of the argument is that, unless taxes are increased and a lot of purchasing power siphoned off, the inflationary spiral will continue. Thus the biggest total of purchasing power is among the persons who earn less than $3,000 a year. The tax rates, relatively speaking, are light on that group. Union-labor spokesmen keep on urging that the tax rates be increased severely on the groups above $3,000 a year—as if that would take care of the treasury's needs. But there is a point at which the higher the tax rates go, the lower the return—that's an old rule. Also the total amount of earnings of those making more than $3,000 would have to be dipped into heavily in order to avoid taxing the groups under $3,000 a year. There isn't enough in the above-$3,000 group to meet a big treasury deficit.

What ought to happen, of course, is the passage of some form of sales tax which would affect all groups and yet not become too damaging in its impact on any. Congress is a bit fearful that a sales tax would prove a political boomerang. The Democratic party, on the other hand, does not know what's in store for it if it raises the taxes during the calendar year 1951 and the country goes into a national election campaign in 1952 with tax rates higher than or equal to those we had during World War 2.

Meanwhile, the pressure to cut expenditures has been steadily growing, but Congress has never really been up against the political gun on that one. If the dangers politically of increasing tax rates become apparent, the country may see at least some drastic cutting of expenses.

Yet some increases in tax rates this year will be inevitable. The prospect of carrying a $12,000,000,000 deficit in the next fiscal year will not be relished by any school of economic thought. Still, taxes are not likely to be raised this year to the point forecast a few months ago. Incidentally, Congress will take its time about enacting a new bill. The new rates will probably become effective in the latter half of this year, thus cutting the effect of the increases in half and in some categories to a fourth because of the belated passage of the law.

It could happen that the Congress which meets next January will have the real political battle on its hands and that the Republicans will not aid in any drive for heavy taxes during 1951, preferring to pass a moderate bill and let the majority party take it on the chin in the January session. Whichever way the tax problem is viewed, it is going to provoke unprecedented repercussions in a political sense. In the end, there may be a decision by Congress to increase taxes moderately this year and do some borrowing next year while waiting to see if the tax rates in 1952—a year of greatly stimulated armament building—actually bring in more receipts than anybody has yet calculated.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

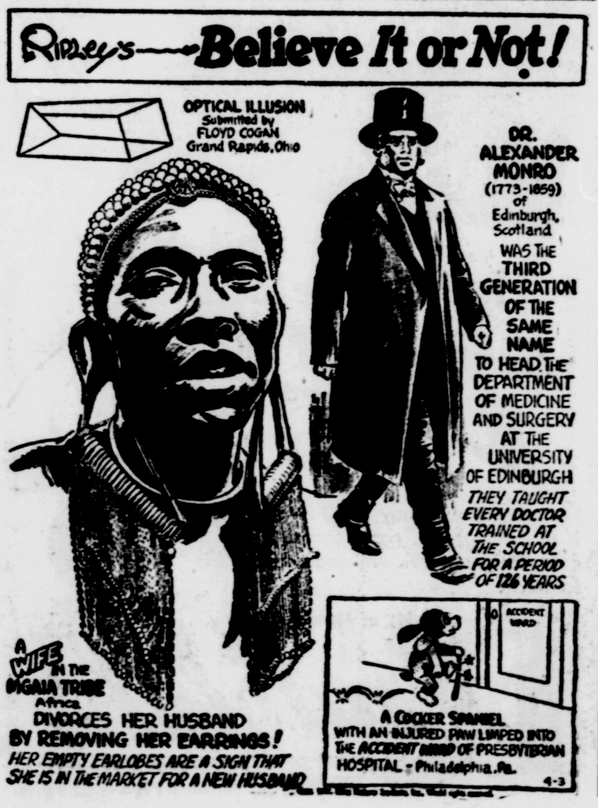

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The younger group of our citizen-voters, the "generation" who fought in World War II and came to their political maturity during and since that war, must be responsible for the silent and, thus far, passive revolution against unionism. Certainly the racket has slumped since V-J Day, and the current efforts of the same old gang of parasites to blackmail the government and the whole American people by threatening trouble unless we buy them off is not succeeding. On the contrary, Charles E. Wilson surprised these profiteers in national peril by standing toe-to-toe and slugging it out until, for the first time in 20 years, they broke off and ran squawking to "the public," "Labor," they said, was getting a dirty deal from this retired "tycoon" of big business.

Licked and discredited, they now will try a new approach. Their champion is Hubert Humphrey, a mock - Democrat from Minnesota, who has been promoting the essentials of the disastrous British Marxian adventure through a synthetic political society called Americans for Democratic action. Anna Rosenberg, with her arbitrary control over the lives of all Americans, has a record of sympathetic cooperation with the Union menace and with Eleanor Roosevelt, too." There is no present question whether she is or ever was a Communist. Her past performances and associations commend her to the vigilant attention of those who would reject union slavery as basic training for total thralldom under our common enemy, the state.

Eight or nine years ago, when James B. Carey, of the CIO, was a house-pet of the Roosevelts, with limousine, chauffeur and unlimited fuel, all at our expense, defiance of the monster was unthinkable. All his kind were princes of privilege. Roosevelt chose a brawl of drunken sycophants at the Hotel Statler, an orgy arranged by Dan Tobin, the permanent grand parasite of the teamsters, as the occasion of the first speech in his campaign for a fourth term. The great free American press, so like the Argentine press of today, suppressed the descriptive facts of that disgraceful scene, but Merriman Smith of the U.P., in a reminiscent book

History repeating itself can sometimes make an unpleasant sound. That's the kind of noise that's emanating these days from Argentina, home of the bush league dictator, Juan Peron.

Ever since Peron made it clear he intended to snuff out the great independent Buenos Aires newspaper, La Presna, supporters of a free press in all parts of the world have been deploring his behavior.

Peron declared in reply that what goes on in Argentina is nobody's business but his. You don't need a prodigious memory to recall that Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister, said something very much like that when the world objected to the Nazis' Jewish pogrom in 1938.

Goebbels was wrong and so is Senor Peron. What happens to freedom anywhere is the business of all free men wherever they may be.

When a great voice of liberty has been silenced ruthlessly, as has La Prensa's, only the fearful and the tyrannical will let the casualty occur unnoticed. The free will set up a clamor of protest.

This they have done in the case of La Prensa, and should continue to do despite Peron's contemptuous comment that it's none of our business and that he doesn't care what we think anyway.

By his action Peron has sought to place himself and his government above the rules of decent conduct regulating free nations. Having thus chosen to isolate himself from the respected world fraternity, he deserves to be treated in the manner he has invited.

The free press of the world, and free governments as well, should pound him mercilessly so long as he holds power. His absurd posturings, his petty conceits, his frauds should all be exposed. He should be shown to the world for what he is—a four-cylinder Hitler who hasn't even one inch of stature in the world community.

American scientists already have done a pretty good job of puncturing Peron's wild story of new and distinct atomic energy discoveries in his country. The tale was patently an effort to distract attention from his La Prensa seizure and achieve fresh prestige at the current Washington conference of the American republics.

Maybe the senor doesn't care what we think. But he ought to be made to listen to us anyhow. For there's really a good chance that the world's criticism nettles him badly, and gives him the nice, insecure feeling he deserves to have.

TV IN SCHOOL

The question of the value of television as an educational medium in the public school system is soon to be put to the test in Washington, D. C.

Music appreciation, usually taught on a once-a-week schedule by a teacher who serves the whole system, is to be taken care of in part of the schools by a television broadcast lasting 40 minutes. Tests given before and after the start of the project will measure the relative effectiveness of each method. The scheme has been carefully worked out by broadcasting officials, the board of education and a professor in the music department of the University of Maryland.

This experiment will be watched with interest by educators, radio people and the general public. Success may open up new vistas of achievement for this latest means of communication.

THE CASE OF WARD BOND

On a recent visit to Los Angeles, which is a growing and busy city that includes a suburb called Hollywood, I saw a headline in the trade paper "Daily Variety" which gave the impression that an actor, Ward Bond, who is a friend of mine, got himself into a quarrel with another actor, Jose Ferrer, whom I do not include among my friends.

According to this peculiar trade paper, Bond had indicated displeasure over a proposed endorsement of Ferrer by California teachers that came during the period when Hollywood was gestating with the silly ceremony of passing out "Oscars" which those engaged in producing movies take seriously. Bond happens to be a violent anti-Communist and an officer of the Motion Picture Alliance, which is a fine organization of real Americans and should be better known than it is.

As "Daily Variety" told it, it seems that some reporter for that paper inferred that Bond threatened to get Pegler and Sokolsky to attack the Teachers Association if they endorsed Ferrer. I do not like anyone using my name in vain, but Ward Bond's account of the interview is satisfactory to me, and when I saw Pegler in Tucson, he appeared not to be displeased at the honor. So we will let it go at that.

Nevertheless and notwithstanding, if any citizen gets into a row over being forced to be tongue-tied or to be silent because some idiotic judge said that to suspect a man of being a Communist and to say so in print is libel per se, let him send his story to me and if he is correct in his facts and I can check them, I shall be happy to help him out by telling the stoy.

The time has come to quarrel over the issue that Communists, fellow-travelers, sympathizers of Soviet Russia, New Dealers and Fair Dealers can smear and attack and abuse anyone they like, but no one can answer back lest he face an expensive and burdensome libel suit. This is a means of intimidation which we shall have to fight in the interest of free speech and the good of the country even if we have to pass the hat as we did in the McCullough case.

I also saw a piece about Joyce O'Hara, who is subbing for Eric Johnston as president of the Motion Picture of America, which he denied the next day. I do not know and am not called upon to say which of his two statements is the correct one, but he said some things in each which struck me as not too wise.

In the first piece, he is reported to have said that "fanatical anti-Reds in Hollywood constitute a greater menace to the film industry than Communists." That is obviously so dopey a statement that I was not surprised that on the very next day, the trade paper reported O'Hara as saying:

". . . I made no mention whatsoever of those in Hollywood who are fighting communism. I did say that there are a few extremists outside of Hollywood who were unwilling to give Hollywood credit for the job it has done thus far in waging its fight against Communists."

To me the denial is as stupid as the original statement. Any American who is not "fanatical anti-Red" is just a no good bum—to use language to which I may have to become accustomed—and ought to be treated as such. There can be no halfway, half-hearted anti-Communists. These people are our enemies and their associates are killing our sons. The person who can see both sides of that question is either a fool or he likes a profit better than his country.

Secondly, does Mr. O'Hara take the position that the "extremists" (on this subject) are all outside of Hollywood? Does he mean to tell us that there are no full and unequivocal anti-Communists in Hollywood?

If that be what he means, he is not telling the truth because all of my friends in the motion picture industry—and there are lots of them—are as extreme as I am in their violent opposition to communism. And I suggest to Mr. O'Hara that he become an extremist on this subject, if he wants to be of service to his employers. It is too late for anyone to be smart-alecky about communism.

That Body of Yours

FOOD NEEDS OF ELDERLY PERSONS

A cartoon by the late Charles Dana Gibson depicted a wealthy old gentleman sitting at the end of a table richly laden with silver but all the old chap was apparently able to eat was a glass of milk and some bread and crackers. The text at the bottom of the cartoon was "Backward, turn backward, O Time in thy flight; make me a boy again just for tonight." On the wall of the room was what was in the man's mind, a boy of 12 siting down to a big turkey with all that goes with a turkey dinner. It is only too true that many start life with milk and bread and end life with milk and bread.

Some weeks ago I quoted Dr. E. J. Stieglitz, in The Journal of the American Medical Association, on overweight and its dangers, in which it was stated that those 25 per cent or more overweight show a death rate of 174 (normal 100) per cent of the expected rate.

Good diet is a powerful tool for keeping healthy and vigorous in later years. Almost all the degenerative diseases (wasting and wearing) have one characteristic in common: the gradual destruction of certain cells of the body. Elderly people are more likely to suffer from lack of protein (the food substance that builds new and repairs old cells). The best proteins are animal proteins—meat, fish, eggs, milk—and lack of protein is a significant factor in causing tissue wastage and anemia (thin blood). The loss of calcium and phosphorous apparently is also a factor in the characteristic wasting away of bone seen in elderly persons.

It is unfortunate that the majority of older persons dislike or resent the physician's advice to drink milk, because not only is milk rich in animal protein but it also is a major source of calcium. Nearly all elderly men and women need more protein because they are slightly anemic.

Dr. Stieglitz states that not only is the diet of most elderly individuals deficient in protein but it is also deficient in vitamins. The addition of plenty of vitamins, especially B and C, to the diet of older persons can make for great improvement in general vitality and vigor. Foods rich in vitamin B are beef liver, ham, bacon, malted milk, whole wheat bread, asparagus, spinach, yeast, wheat germ, peanuts. Foods rich in vitamin C are fresh raw fruits, lemons, oranges, grapefruit, raw cabbage, raw lettuce, tomatoes, peas.

What the Well-Dressed Man Is Wearing

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Benny Buttenwiesser, U. S. deputy high commissioner for Germany, had a conversation with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer some time ago which illustrates one of the most important problems the United States faces in Europe.

The new German parliament had scaled down taxes on wealthier taxpayers about a year ago, leaving a proportionately heavy tax burden on labor and white collar workers. The United States, which has the right to intervene in certain affairs of the new German government, objected, and it was following this that Deputy Commissioner Buttenwiesser had his talk with Adenauer.

Showing him the high tax scale prevailing in the U.S.A., Buttenwiesser argued that wealthy Germans also must shoulder their share of the tax burden.

Chancellor Adenauer replied that he just couldn't believe the United States collected such high taxes. If German taxes remained too high, he argued, the German government would not be able to collect them.

"We have a very good tax collector in the United States—Buttenwiesser replied, "jail!"

"Yes, I know," replied the German chancellor, but that is just for your gunmen."

"On the contrary," countered the deputy high commissioner, "I can show you a list of quite solid citizens, including doctors and businessmen who went to jail because of tax fraud."

Adenauer, however, remained unconvinced, and U. S. authorities finally permitted the German government to get away with its reduced tax structure, even though shot full of legal loopholes whereby high bracket taxpayers can dodge taxes. Result: Germany is now faced with a heavy deficit, is asking for more U. S. aid—which, if given, would have to come out of the pockets of Americans who do pay their taxes.

French Tax Evasion

Real fact is that with the exception of England and the Scandinavian countries, our major European friends are not taxing themselves. Furthermore, if they paid taxes on anywhere near the same scale as the U.S.A. and England, they could do two things:

1. Come close to balancing their budgets.

2. Come much closer to wiping out communism. For when you lighten the tax burden on the poor and shift part of it to the upper brackets, as is now done in the United States and England, then standards of living are raised and one of the most fertile fields for communism vanishes.

In both France and Italy, in addition to Germany, the working classes pay taxes out of all proportion to the upper brackets.

Actually French income taxes are high, just as high as in the United States. However, evasion among the higher bracket and middle class taxpayers is notorious. The average French businessman, lawyer, farmer or doctor just doesn't dream of revealing his real income. This throws a heavy burden on French labor and white collar workers, because their salaries are a matter of record with the companies for which they work.

This unfair tax distribution plus the high cost of living, is probably the biggest cause of communism in France.

In most European countries, also, there is a heavy tax burden on the consumer through sales, transfer and various consumer taxes.

Italian Ambassador Objects

Italian Ambassador Alberto Tarchiani, one of the ablest envoys in Washington, has taken exception to some of my recent reports from Rome in which I criticized use of money under the Marshall Plan. He points out quite correctly that Italian industrial production at the end of 1950 reached an all-time high, being 30 per cent above 1938. (1938 by the way was during the supposedly prosperous days of Mussolini.) He also points out that exports in 1950 rose to an all-time postwar high, and that electric power, auto and textile producing are zooming.

I am glad to have the ambassador's reminder of these encouraging facts. Possibly, in reporting from Rome, I should have emphasized them more, because the general economic condition of Italy is definitely improved.

It was my job as a newspaperman, however, to inform the American people on some of the steps that must be taken in Italy if Italy is to continue on a stable basis after Congress pulls the plug on the flow of Marshall Plan dollars—as it is certain to do sooner or later. And two of the essentials to long-range stability in Italy are land reform and a revised tax system. The new Italian tax bill is certainly a step in the right direction—even though a long way from the vigorous tax collection system existing in the United States and England.

Another Atom Spy

A theft of atomic secrets worse than the Dr. Fuchs case is wrapped up in a report picked up by U. S. intelligence agents in Germany. The report comes through devious channels from behind the Iron Curtain and has not yet been evaluated by the Atomic Energy Commission.

It will be recalled that last summer Professor Bruno Pontecorvo, an atomic scientist who spent some time in the United States, slipped mysteriously into Finland and then vanished behind the Iron Curtain.

American authorities had warned the British that Pontecorvo should be watched, but nonetheless he and his family left London in August, presumably on vacation, traveled a circuitous route to Rome, Stockholm and Helsinki. There Pontecorvo was picked up by a Soviet Embassy car and driven across the border to Leningrad.

The Italian-born professor allegedly had been in touch with the Russians long before he fled last summer, and made this move after he advised his Soviet contacts that he had information so "hot" he must bring it personally to the U.S.S.R.

Once in the Soviet, it is now reported that Prof. Pontecorvo devoted himself to writing an exhaustive report on a new method of A-bomb production, a long-range guided missile, and an air defense system based on cosmic rays. He is said to have told Marshall Beria, in charge of secret scientific research, that the air defense system could be in operation by October 1952.

Professor Pontecorvo is reported to be at work on all three projects with top priority given to an air defense system against the American atom bomb. In this connection it is interesting that the supreme Soviet has within the last few weeks given special awards to several Russian scientists for comic ray research.

Note—While in the United States, Prof. Pontecorvo was not employed by the Atomic Energy Commission but was in contact with many leading scientists. He is regarded here as a reactor expert.

Today in Washington

Congress Must Decide Whether Taxes Should Be Increased—Surplus May Have Bearing

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 3—Congress is up against a tough decision that it must make before long—whether, in the face of a rising income from taxes already levied, it should go ahead and increase the tax rates just the same.

The last time a new tax law was passed — in the autumn of 1950—the psychology of war and tension was in the air. Korea had been a reverse for us and the rearmament program was being blueprinted with all sorts of fantastic guesses as to the billions it would cost.

Today the defense figures are more definite and there is a better idea of how much money is actually being produced on the revenue side.

What is changing the picture, of course, and affecting the congressional problem is the psychology of surplus. The present fiscal year, which ends June 30 next, will not show a deficit of $2,700,000,000 as President Truman and the treasury experts predicted several months ago, but there will be a surplus of at least $2,000,000,000. Receipts are better than heretofore estimated.

It's a difficult thing to raise tax rates in the face of a psychology of surplus. The country will not understand it without a lot of explaining. Also the country will demand that the expenditure side be carefully re-examined to see if next years' expenses need be as high as planned.

What brings to some extent the surplus in the present fiscal year—apart from added receipts—is the fact that expenditures are not yet running at the rate anticipated or at the rate they will attain in the next fiscal year. There's always a lag between the time when money is appropriated and the time it is actually spent. An interval of unavoidable delay occurs as contracts have to be carefully allocated and specifications written.

Thus, in the fiscal year which starts July 1 next the rate of spending will be higher for the full 12 months than it has been this fiscal year. The armament program will get into full swing in 1952. By the end of 1953 it should have reached its peak and begun to taper off somewhat.

The question is how to get over the hump—how to meet this accelerated rate of armament building without imposing on the nation a high tax system that could impair incentive and perhaps fasten on the country for many years a method of extracting taxes that would not promote a healthy economy.

The other side of the argument is that, unless taxes are increased and a lot of purchasing power siphoned off, the inflationary spiral will continue. Thus the biggest total of purchasing power is among the persons who earn less than $3,000 a year. The tax rates, relatively speaking, are light on that group. Union-labor spokesmen keep on urging that the tax rates be increased severely on the groups above $3,000 a year—as if that would take care of the treasury's needs. But there is a point at which the higher the tax rates go, the lower the return—that's an old rule. Also the total amount of earnings of those making more than $3,000 would have to be dipped into heavily in order to avoid taxing the groups under $3,000 a year. There isn't enough in the above-$3,000 group to meet a big treasury deficit.

What ought to happen, of course, is the passage of some form of sales tax which would affect all groups and yet not become too damaging in its impact on any. Congress is a bit fearful that a sales tax would prove a political boomerang. The Democratic party, on the other hand, does not know what's in store for it if it raises the taxes during the calendar year 1951 and the country goes into a national election campaign in 1952 with tax rates higher than or equal to those we had during World War 2.

Meanwhile, the pressure to cut expenditures has been steadily growing, but Congress has never really been up against the political gun on that one. If the dangers politically of increasing tax rates become apparent, the country may see at least some drastic cutting of expenses.

Yet some increases in tax rates this year will be inevitable. The prospect of carrying a $12,000,000,000 deficit in the next fiscal year will not be relished by any school of economic thought. Still, taxes are not likely to be raised this year to the point forecast a few months ago. Incidentally, Congress will take its time about enacting a new bill. The new rates will probably become effective in the latter half of this year, thus cutting the effect of the increases in half and in some categories to a fourth because of the belated passage of the law.

It could happen that the Congress which meets next January will have the real political battle on its hands and that the Republicans will not aid in any drive for heavy taxes during 1951, preferring to pass a moderate bill and let the majority party take it on the chin in the January session. Whichever way the tax problem is viewed, it is going to provoke unprecedented repercussions in a political sense. In the end, there may be a decision by Congress to increase taxes moderately this year and do some borrowing next year while waiting to see if the tax rates in 1952—a year of greatly stimulated armament building—actually bring in more receipts than anybody has yet calculated.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The younger group of our citizen-voters, the "generation" who fought in World War II and came to their political maturity during and since that war, must be responsible for the silent and, thus far, passive revolution against unionism. Certainly the racket has slumped since V-J Day, and the current efforts of the same old gang of parasites to blackmail the government and the whole American people by threatening trouble unless we buy them off is not succeeding. On the contrary, Charles E. Wilson surprised these profiteers in national peril by standing toe-to-toe and slugging it out until, for the first time in 20 years, they broke off and ran squawking to "the public." "Labor," they said, was getting a dirty deal from this retired "tycoon" of big business.

Licked and discredited, they now will try a new approach. Their champion is Hubert Humphrey, a mock-Democrat from Minnesota, who has been promoting the essentials of the disastrous British Marxian adventure through a synthetic political society called Americans for Democratic action. Anna Rosenberg, with her arbitrary control over the lives of all Americans, has a record of sympathetic cooperation with the Union menace and with Eleanor Roosevelt, too." There is no present question whether she is or ever was a Communist. Her past performances and associations commend her to the vigilant attention of those who would reject union slavery as basic training for total thralldom under our common enemy, the state.

Eight or nine years ago, when James B. Carey, of the CIO, was a house-pet of the Roosevelts, with limousine, chauffeur and unlimited fuel, all at our expense, defiance of the monster was unthinkable. All his kind were princes of privilege. Roosevelt chose a brawl of drunken sycophants at the Hotel Statler, an orgy arranged by Dan Tobin, the permanent grand parasite of the teamsters, as the occasion of the first speech in his campaign for a fourth term. The great free American press, so like the Argentine press of today, suppressed the descriptive facts of that disgraceful scene, but Merriman Smith of the U.P., in a reminiscent book

Seal Sale Proceeds To Help Research

Christmas Seals funds will this year make possible the most extensive medical research program in the history of the voluntary tuberculosis control movement in this country according to word received here yesterday from Dr. Esmond R. Long, director of research, National Tuberculosis Association.

Dr. Long informed Harry S. Ensign, president of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, that the NTA board of directors had approved grants to aid the work of 29 investigators in 12 states and the District of Columbia for the current fiscal year. Funds for the grants are derived from the 1950 sale of Christmas Seals throughout the country.

Of the total contributed to the Christmas Seal sale in Ulster county—$23,901.56—18 per cent is forwarded to the New York committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health. The NTA then derives six per cent of this amount paid which will aid in this research work. Some of the investigators are pursuing laboratory studies, others are engaged in clinical work. Answers are being sought to numerous questions about tuberculosis through study of the germ which causes the disease and the "host" in whom the germ takes residence, by following the course of the disease in the patient, by searching for better methods of treatment.

Two Boys Admit Taking Articles From Stores

Two youthful shoplifters of school age were caught Monday by Detective Clarence Brophy and a cache of more than $30 worth of materials seized for return to store owners in the uptown and downtown sections of Kingston.

Detective Brophy investigated complaints turned in to Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren by the merchants and from clues picked up from store owners apprehended two boys who admitted the thefts.

Brophy said they admitted having taken articles from Yallum's downtown, the Shanty Store, Herzog's, Otto's and Flanagans'.

To Televise Opera

New York, April 3 (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera Association plans a special series of televised operas next season. The video programs, as described by General Manager Rudolf Bing, will not duplicate the regular opera season repertory. The TV operas will be put on at broadcasting company studios, will be sung in English, and will be sold to advertisers. Also on tap for the 1951-52 season, Bing said yesterday, is a revival of the opera, "Alveste," last heard at the Met 11 years ago. Kirsten Flagstad has changed her mind about not singing at the Met any more, Bing said, and will take the title role. "Alceste" will be sung in English.

Counter-Suit in TV Patent Fight

New York, April 3 (Special)—The Channel Master Corporation, of Ellenville, filed a counter-suit against Telrex, Inc., of Asbury Park, N. J., in Federal Court here Monday denying an alleged patent infringement and charging that the New Jersey company has been unfairly intimidating its customers.

Telrex, in an action filed on March 28, charged the Ellenville company with violating its patent rights to a high frequency television receiving antenna and asked damages of $50,000.

In its counter-claim, the Ellenville firm contends that Telrex's claims go beyond the scope of its patent and have no force. Channel Master asks an injunction restraining the New Jersey company from allegedly harassing and intimidating Channel Master's customers with the infringement claim. It also asks the court to award damages it has allegedly sustained through Telrex's acts.

Seal Sale Proceeds To Help Research

Christmas Seals funds will this year make possible the most extensive medical research program in the history of the voluntary tuberculosis control movement in this country according to word received here yesterday from Dr. Esmond R. Long, director of research, National Tuberculosis Association.

Dr. Long informed Harry S. Ensign, president of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, that the NTA board of directors had approved grants to aid the work of 29 investigators in 12 states and the District of Columbia for the current fiscal year. Funds for the grants are derived from the 1950 sale of Christmas Seals throughout the country.

Of the total contributed to the Christmas Seal sale in Ulster county—$23,901.56—18 per cent is forwarded to the New York committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health. The NTA then derives six per cent of this amount paid which will aid in this research work. Some of the investigators are pursuing laboratory studies, others are engaged in clinical work. Answers are being sought to numerous questions about tuberculosis through study of the germ which causes the disease and the "host" in whom the germ takes residence, by following the course of the disease in the patient, by searching for better methods of treatment.

One thing that keeps the divorce rate high: Gals who are clinging vines before marriage and ramblers afterwards.

When a Chinese celebrity was met at the docks after his long voyage from the Far East, he was met by a horde of reporters, who promptly began their questioning.

Reporter—Tell me, Sir! What strikes you as being the oddest thing about us Westerners?

Chinese (meditating for a few moments)—I think it is the peculiar slant of your eyes.

If we do our best; if we do not magnify trifling troubles; if we look resolutely, I will not say at the bright side of things, but at things as they really are; if we avail ourselves of the manifold blessings which surround us, we can not but feel that life is indeed a glorious inheritance.—John Lubbock.

Jackie—Mom, when we have company for dinner tonight, do I have to eat my pie with a fork?

Mother—Yes.

Jackie—Well, may I have a piece to practice on?

Alcohol will remove all grass stain from summer clothes, also, spring and winter clothes, not only from the man who drinks, but also from his wife and children. It will remove furniture from the house and also eatables from the pantry; the smile from the face of his wife and happiness frim the home. As a remover, alcohol has no equal.—Christian Herald.

She—What a wonderfully developed arm you have. Do you play baseball?

He—Yes, and may I ask were you ever on a track team?

One hot day an oold-fashioned judge was drinking some hot tea when a friend passed by his table and stopped.

Friend—You shouldn't be drinking hot stuff on a day like this, judge. An iced stimulating drink would be better. Have you ever tried gin and ginger ale?

Judge—No, but I've tried several fellows who have.

Salt for Witnesses

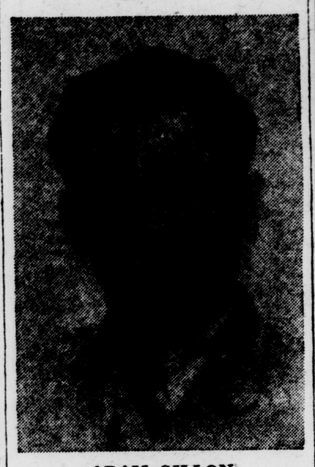

El Roseires, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—You don't take the testimony of witnesses here with a grain of salt. The witnesses take the salt. This strange quirk developed at a court inquiry called in this Blue Nile province. The Falubud tribesmen, who live near here, refused to take the regular oath, saying they had their own form. The witnesses ceremoniously placed some grains of salt on their tongues—followed by a red pepper, a piece of charcoal and a grain of wheat—carefully chewed, then spit the lot out the nearest window. They offered no explanation, but said it was now impossible for them to tell a lie.

Stopped by 'Divine Wind'

U.J.A. Workers To Hear Gillon

ADAM GILLON

Herman G. Rafalowsky, chairman of the Workers' Division of the 1951 United Jewish Appeal and Welfare Fund Drive, announced today that Adam Gillon, noted educator and soldier, will address the campaign workers at a dinner to be held at the Stuyvesant Hotel April 4, at 6:30 p. m.

Gillon was born at Kfar-Saba, Israel, in 1921 and holds an M. A, from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, where he was awarded a scholarship and won several literary competitions.

For years he was a teacher and youth instructor of the Vaad Leumi, giving lessons in English in a Tel Aviv secondary school.

But when Israel's war of liberation came, Gillon put scholarship aside and saw action in Ramle and Lydda, where he was wounded. He was transferred to the air force and distinguished himself as a flight lieutenant there until his discharge in July 1949.

With the establishment of the new state, Gillon became principal of the Montefiore Technical High School in Tel Aviv, meanwhile publishing articles, book reviews and stories in Hebrew and English periodicals.

In America where he is working for a Ph.D. at Columbia University, Gillon is preparing himself to teach English and American literature at the Hebrew University when he returns to his own land, where his wife and son reside.

An unusual feature of the campaign this year is that a portion of the funds collected will be allocated for local needs. A Jewish Community Center is in the process for local needs. A Jewish Community Center is in the process of being established, a membership drive for which is currently in prograss. A portion of the operating expense for the center will be derived from the proceeds of the current drive.

April Fulfills Mission

Vibrant cloudbursts, and April is here
Her showers pour forth around the sphere
Condemn her not, her mission she fulfills
To bring the rains, as her God wills

Lilacs and violets in her path
To try and pacify the storm's wrath
Each drop falls as a melancholy tear
To give each budding flower cheer.

April, who rests in her rainy bower
Watching the birth of the beauteous flower
Unceasing, with lightning as her aid
Of sunshine she is never afraid.

April opens floodgates of rainy days
As with raindrops she happily plays
Showing gathering green, trees show leaves
For their return, each plant grieves.

Rains of April, she keeps her word
As a steady pitter patter is heard
Clouds gathering, pouring everywhere
As April climbs her stormy stair.

Look this over

Anywhere a gas pipe can be run you can have Natural Gas heat! Below are listed a few of the spots where this flexible fuel fits. Take a look at 'em . . . then see your plumber or heating contractor. Get facts and figures. Considering the benefits, you'll be surprised at how little this finest fuel costs.

CONVERT YOUR PRESENT FURNACE. Hot air, hot water, steam — there's a Natural Gas Conversion Burner just waiting to go to work in your present furnace. Installation can be made in a matter of hours — between breakfast and lunch.

SEE THE NEW GAS-AND-GAS COMBINATION RANGES. We'd like to watch your eyes bug out when you get a look at the glistening chromium and gleaming white porcelain of the new Gas-and-Gas Combination Ranges! They're beauties! Can't you picture one in your kitchen? One side clean, even, instant heat; the other side with every facility to make good cooking easy.

If you're fed up with the combination range you now have, make it a point to see the new ones.

GET A NEW FURNACE. If you're starting new or replacing, see the gas-designed jobs. Some are so small you'll wonder how one can heat your house. Efficiency is their middle name. Sets in a corner, takes up no space. Simple installation, too. No tanks or bins to bother with.

HOW ABOUT A CONSOLE HEATER FOR YOUR LIVING ROOM? If you are using a parlor stove, the same argument goes for this as for any heater burning solid fuels. There's always work, dirt, dust and muss!

With Natural Gas you use a cabinet-type heater. Looks like a radio. And what a tune it plays . . . a rhapsody of leisure! You can even run it by a thermostat, remotely controlling your comfort from fall to spring.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR COMBINATION RANGE? Lots of folks depend upon their kitchen combination range for heat. Some use coal, some oil. The coal folks lug coal, build fires, tend 'em, take out ashes and clean up. The oil users get by a little easier but still there's work to be done.

When you put a Natural Gas Conversion Burner in the firebox side of your coal-and-gas or oil-and-gas combination range all these troubles go out the window together with the dirt, dust, smoke, smudge and odors!

You get clean, even heat — as little or as much as you want, when you want it!

NOW IS THE TIME TO PLAN. Look facts in the face! Get full information! Study all the angles! When you do you can't help but come up with the conclusion that "Natural Gas has got it!"

April Fulfills Mission

Vibrant cloudbursts, and April is here
Her showers pour forth around the sphere
Condemn her not, her mission she fulfills
To bring the rains, as her God wills

Lilacs and violets in her path
To try and pacify the storm's wrath
Each drop falls as a melancholy tear
To give each budding flower cheer.

April, who rests in her rainy bower
Watching the birth of the beauteous flower
Unceasing, with lightning as her aid
Of sunshine she is never afraid.

April opens floodgates of rainy days
As with raindrops she happily plays
Showing gathering green, trees show leaves
For their return, each plant grieves.

Rains of April, she keeps her word
As a steady pitter patter is heard
Clouds gathering, pouring everywhere
As April climbs her stormy stair.

Anywhere a gas pipe can be run you can have Natural Gas heat! Below are listed a few of the spots where this flexible fuel fits. Take a look at 'em . . . then see your plumber or heating contractor. Get facts and figures. Considering the benefits, you'll be surprised at how little this finest fuel costs.

CONVERT YOUR PRESENT FURNACE. Hot air, hot water, steam — there's a Natural Gas Conversion Burner just waiting to go to work in your present furnace. Installation can be made in a matter of hours — between breakfast and lunch.

SEE THE NEW GAS-AND-GAS COMBINATION RANGES. We'd like to watch your eyes bug out when you get a look at the glistening chromium and gleaming white porcelain of the new Gas-and-Gas Combination Ranges! They're beauties! Can't you picture one in your kitchen? One side clean, even, instant heat; the other side with every facility to make good cooking easy.

If you're fed up with the combination range you now have, make it a point to see the new ones.

GET A NEW FURNACE. If you're starting new or replacing, see the gas-designed jobs. Some are so small you'll wonder how one can heat your house. Efficiency is their middle name. Sets in a corner, takes up no space. Simple installation, too. No tanks or bins to bother with.

HOW ABOUT A CONSOLE HEATER FOR YOUR LIVING ROOM? If you are using a parlor stove, the same argument goes for this as for any heater burning solid fuels. There's always work, dirt, dust and muss!

With Natural Gas you use a cabinet-type heater. Looks like a radio. And what a tune it plays . . . a rhapsody of leisure! You can even run it by a thermostat, remotely controlling your comfort from fall to spring.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR COMBINATION RANGE? Lots of folks depend upon their kitchen combination range for heat. Some use coal, some oil. The coal folks lug coal, build fires, tend 'em, take out ashes and clean up. The oil users get by a little easier but still there's work to be done.

When you put a Natural Gas Conversion Burner in the firebox side of your coal-and-gas or oil-and-gas combination range all these troubles go out the window together with the dirt, dust, smoke, smudge and odors!

You get clean, even heat — as little or as much as you want, when you want it!

NOW IS THE TIME TO PLAN. Look facts in the face! Get full information! Study all the angles! When you do you can't help but come up with the conclusion that "Natural Gas has got it!"

Salt for Witnesses

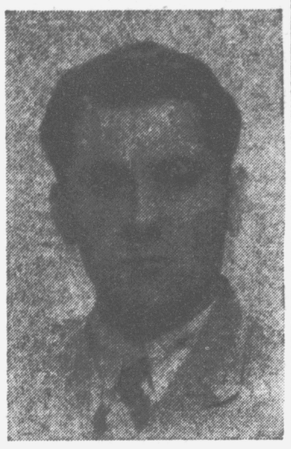

El Roseires, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—You don't take the testimony of witnesses here with a grain of salt. The witnesses take the salt. This strange quirk developed at a court inquiry called in this Blue Nile province. The Falubud tribesmen, who live near here, refused to take the regular oath, saying they had their own form. The witnesses ceremoniously placed some grains of salt on their tongues—followed by a red pepper, a piece of charcoal and a grain of wheat—carefully chewed, then spit the lot out the nearest window. They offered no explanation, but said it was now impossible for them to tell a lie.

U.J.A. Workers To Hear Gillon

ADAM GILLON

Herman G. Rafalowsky, chairman of the Workers' Division of the 1951 United Jewish Appeal and Welfare Fund Drive, announced today that Adam Gillon, noted educator and soldier, will address the campaign workers at a dinner to be held at the Stuyvesant Hotel April 4, at 6:30 p. m.

Gillon was born at Kfar-Saba, Israel, in 1921 and holds an M. A, from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, where he was awarded a scholarship and won several literary competitions.

For years he was a teacher and youth instructor of the Vaad Leumi, giving lessons in English in a Tel Aviv secondary school.

But when Israel's war of liberation came, Gillon put scholarship aside and saw action in Ramle and Lydda, where he was wounded. He was transferred to the air force and distinguished himself as a flight lieutenant there until his discharge in July 1949.

With the establishment of the new state, Gillon became principal of the Montefiore Technical High School in Tel Aviv, meanwhile publishing articles, book reviews and stories in Hebrew and English periodicals.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

With the ferry starting its run again, it was a big event on Thursday, May 16th, 1946, according to a local paper my father had saved and used in his drug store window. For the item under the five column width picture of the "George Clinton" ferryboat reads in part: "Today is the day set aside for the ceremonies ushering in the advent of ferry service across the Hudson to Rhinecliff once more. Starting today it will not be necessary for people desiring to reach Northern Dutchess county districts to travel by car a distance of over 60 miles before reaching home again. The State of New York has charge of the ferry and will operate it, through the State Bridge Authority, until such time when a new bridge spans the river and traffic will not be compelled to await the necessities of a ferry schedule."

By no means was it a simple ceremony, although a ferry had run across this spot since Queen Anne's time, for the article goes on further to state: "At 11 o'clock Mayor William F. Edelmuth is slated to be at the ferry terminal on Ferry street and with due solemnity cut the tape which will be stretched across the gangway. There will be remarks preceding that act on the part of Kingston's mayor, short talks, by possibly Governor Dewey, who has been invited to be present. Senator Arthur Wicks, Assemblyman, John F. Wadlin, Senator Bontecue and Assemblyman Hatfield from the Dutchess district. After this ceremony the officials will board the "George Clinton" and be taken across the Hudson river to Rhinecliff where a similar program will be carried out. After that the committee and guests will go to the Beekman Arms at Rhinebeck for dinner and a speaking program."

The Kingston Daily Leader carried the above items, also the "Ulster County News" covered the event. The Freeman of that same date covered the entire Ferry service from Rhinecliff to Kingston for the last 190 years, with many excellent photographs on today's ferry service. Most of us folks remember I guess, when on December 17, 1942, the ferryboat "Kingston" made her last trip and ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff came to a sudden stop after nearly 200 years of some form of transportation across the river. It was a hard blow to many residents on both sides of the river, many who worked in Kingston, others who used the trains on the Rhinecliff side, etc., "The Kingston" ferry was sold down the river a year later and taken to Harris county, Texas. Anyway, now in 1951, we have the "George Clinton" to take us back and forth at the same spot. And someday, perhaps in the not too distant future, that ferry too will only exist as a small cardboard or wooden model like the little Skillypot did in my father's window, and a handsome bridge spanning the spot. We may never forget the ferry, but nothing can take the place of a bridge.

Remember back on holiday week-ends, like 4th of July, when lines of cars lined up along Ferry street, Strand and Broadway waiting for the Skillypot, or even the big "Transport." I remember they went up as far as Abeel street. The folks in the hot cars used to run across to us or to Terpenings and get ice cream cones. Remember?

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Don't Be in Rush To Draw Trumps

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Perhaps South should have tried three no-trump in today's hand. North would have passed readily enough, and South would have made nine tricks without the least difficulty. The actual contract of four spades was far more interesting.

West opened the queen of hearts, and South won with the ace. South drew just two rounds of trumps and then switched to diamonds. West had to take the first trick in that suit since otherwise South would have switched back to trumps and taken four tricks in each black suit together with one in each red suit.

After taking the ace of diamonds, West led another heart, and South carefully discarded instead of ruffing. This was a key play, for now the defenders could do nothing to defeat the contract.

If West led another heart, dummy could ruff. (That is why South stopped after drawing just two rounds of trumps). If West led anything else, declarer could easily win, draw the rest of the trumps, and then run the rest of the tricks.

South would have lost his contract if he had begun by drawing all of the trumps. He could take nine tricks if he chose, but whenever he led diamonds West would take the ace of diamonds and cash the setting tricks with hearts.

YOUR GARDEN

By Arnold Davis

For Best Results, Start Peas Early

Peas are the luxury vegetable around the Fourth of July. For the best results start them from seed early. Plant in rows of 3 feet apart and thin out to 2 inches between plants. A good rule is to have your peas in the garden before Good Friday.

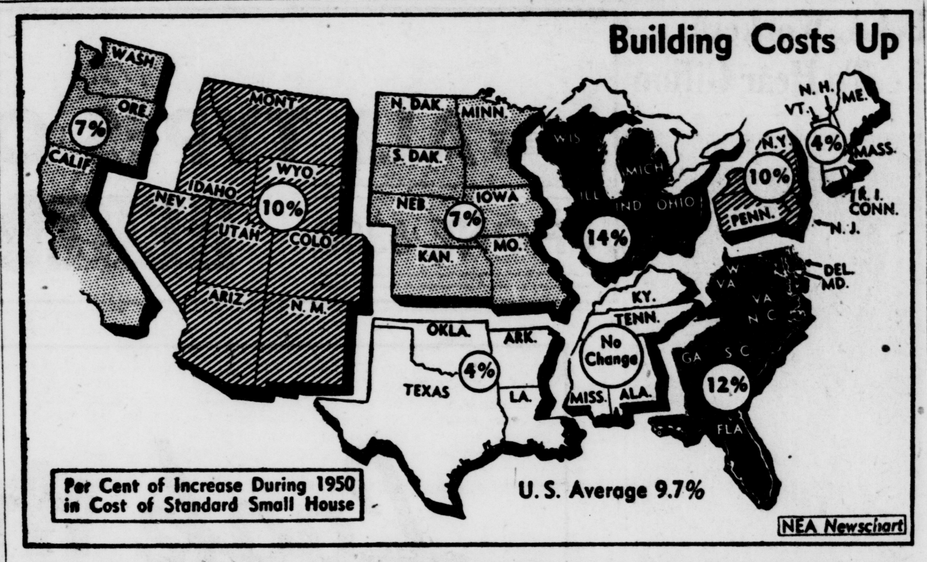

Take the small varieties like Worlds, for the earliest type, and the Tall Telephone varieties which will need staking for later use. Peas require a great deal of space so in a small garden are not too practical.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

With the ferry starting its run again, it was a big event on Thursday, May 16th, 1946, according to a local paper my father had saved and used in his drug store window. For the item under the five column width picture of the "George Clinton" ferryboat reads in part: "Today is the day set aside for the ceremonies ushering in the advent of ferry service across the Hudson to Rhinecliff once more. Starting today it will not be necessary for people desiring to reach Northern Dutchess county districts to travel by car a distance of over 60 miles before reaching home again. The State of New York has charge of the ferry and will operate it, through the State Bridge Authority, until such time when a new bridge spans the river and traffic will not be compelled to await the necessities of a ferry schedule."

By no means was it a simple ceremony, although a ferry had run across this spot since Queen Anne's time, for the article goes on further to state: "At 11 o'clock Mayor William F. Edelmuth is slated to be at the ferry terminal on Ferry street and with due solemnity cut the tape which will be stretched across the gangway. There will be remarks preceding that act on the part of Kingston's mayor, short talks, by possibly Governor Dewey, who has been invited to be present. Senator Arthur Wicks, Assemblyman, John F. Wadlin, Senator Bontecue and Assemblyman Hatfield from the Dutchess district. After this ceremony the officials will board the "George Clinton" and be taken across the Hudson river to Rhinecliff where a similar program will be carried out. After that the committee and guests will go to the Beekman Arms at Rhinebeck for dinner and a speaking program."

The Kingston Daily Leader carried the above items, also the "Ulster County News" covered the event. The Freeman of that same date covered the entire Ferry service from Rhinecliff to Kingston for the last 190 years, with many excellent photographs on today's ferry service. Most of us folks remember I guess, when on December 17, 1942, the ferryboat "Kingston" made her last trip and ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff came to a sudden stop after nearly 200 years of some form of transportation across the river. It was a hard blow to many residents on both sides of the river, many who worked in Kingston, others who used the trains on the Rhinecliff side, etc., "The Kingston" ferry was sold down the river a year later and taken to Harris county, Texas. Anyway, now in 1951, we have the "George Clinton" to take us back and forth at the same spot. And someday, perhaps in the not too distant future, that ferry too will only exist as a small cardboard or wooden model like the little Skillypot did in my father's window, and a handsome bridge spanning the spot. We may never forget the ferry, but nothing can take the place of a bridge.

Remember back on holiday week-ends, like 4th of July, when lines of cars lined up along Ferry street, Strand and Broadway waiting for the Skillypot, or even the big "Transport." I remember they went up as far as Abeel street.

Don't Be in Rush To Draw Trumps

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Perhaps South should have tried three no-trump in today's hand. North would have passed readily enough, and South would have made nine tricks without the least difficulty. The actual contract of four spades was far more interesting.

West opened the queen of hearts, and South won with the ace. South drew just two rounds of trumps and then switched to diamonds. West had to take the first trick in that suit since otherwise South would have switched back to trumps and taken four tricks in each black suit together with one in each red suit.

After taking the ace of diamonds, West led another heart, and South carefully discarded instead of ruffing. This was a key play, for now the defenders could do nothing to defeat the contract.

If West led another heart, dummy could ruff. (That is why South stopped after drawing just two rounds of trumps). If West led anything else, declarer could easily win, draw the rest of the trumps, and then run the rest of the tricks.

South would have lost his contract if he had begun by drawing all of the trumps. He could take nine tricks if he chose, but whenever he led diamonds West would take the ace of diamonds and cash the setting tricks with hearts.

Chicago Holds Election

Chicago, April 3 (AP)—Chicago elected a mayor today in an election that was widely watched for trends that may have a bearing on next year's presidential ballot. The Democrats, in control of the mayor's office since 1931, looked for Mayor Martin H. Kennelly to win reelection to a four-year term. Robert L. Hunter, 52-year-old lawyer making his first bid for a major political office, was the Republican nominee. Election experts forecast a vote of between 1,200,000 and 1,400,000 out of a total registration of 2,103,409. Polls were opened from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m. (CST).

The folks in the hot cars used to run across to us or to Terpenings and get ice cream cones. Remember?

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

With the ferry starting its run again, it was a big event on Thursday, May 16th, 1946, according to a local paper my father had saved and used in his drug store window. For the item under the five column width picture of the "George Clinton" ferryboat reads in part: "Today is the day set aside for the ceremonies ushering in the advent of ferry service across the Hudson to Rhinecliff once more. Starting today it will not be necessary for people desiring to reach Northern Dutchess county districts to travel by car a distance of over 60 miles before reaching home again. The State of New York has charge of the ferry and will operate it, through the State Bridge Authority, until such time when a new bridge spans the river and traffic will not be compelled to await the necessities of a ferry schedule."

By no means was it a simple ceremony, although a ferry had run across this spot since Queen Anne's time, for the article goes on further to state: "At 11 o'clock Mayor William F. Edelmuth is slated to be at the ferry terminal on Ferry street and with due solemnity cut the tape which will be stretched across the gangway. There will be remarks preceding that act on the part of Kingston's mayor, short talks, by possibly Governor Dewey, who has been invited to be present. Senator Arthur Wicks, Assemblyman, John F. Wadlin, Senator Bontecue and Assemblyman Hatfield from the Dutchess district. After this ceremony the officials will board the "George Clinton" and be taken across the Hudson river to Rhinecliff where a similar program will be carried out. After that the committee and guests will go to the Beekman Arms at Rhinebeck for dinner and a speaking program."

The Kingston Daily Leader carried the above items, also the "Ulster County News" covered the event. The Freeman of that same date covered the entire Ferry service from Rhinecliff to Kingston for the last 190 years, with many excellent photographs on today's ferry service. Most of us folks remember I guess, when on December 17, 1942, the ferryboat "Kingston" made her last trip and ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff came to a sudden stop after nearly 200 years of some form of transportation across the river. It was a hard blow to many residents on both sides of the river, many who worked in Kingston, others who used the trains on the Rhinecliff side, etc., "The Kingston" ferry was sold down the river a year later and taken to Harris county, Texas. Anyway, now in 1951, we have the "George Clinton" to take us back and forth at the same spot. And someday, perhaps in the not too distant future, that ferry too will only exist as a small cardboard or wooden model like the little Skillypot did in my father's window, and a handsome bridge spanning the spot. We may never forget the ferry, but nothing can take the place of a bridge.

Remember back on holiday week-ends, like 4th of July, when lines of cars lined up along Ferry street, Strand and Broadway waiting for the Skillypot, or even the big "Transport." I remember they went up as far as Abeel street. The folks in the hot cars used to run across to us or to Terpenings and get ice cream cones. Remember?

Don't Be in Rush To Draw Trumps

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Perhaps South should have tried three no-trump in today's hand. North would have passed readily enough, and South would have made nine tricks without the least difficulty. The actual contract of four spades was far more interesting.

West opened the queen of hearts, and South won with the ace. South drew just two rounds of trumps and then switched to diamonds. West had to take the first trick in that suit since otherwise South would have switched back to trumps and taken four tricks in each black suit together with one in each red suit.

After taking the ace of diamonds, West led another heart, and South carefully discarded instead of ruffing. This was a key play, for now the defenders could do nothing to defeat the contract.

If West led another heart, dummy could ruff. (That is why South stopped after drawing just two rounds of trumps). If West led anything else, declarer could easily win, draw the rest of the trumps, and then run the rest of the tricks.

South would have lost his contract if he had begun by drawing all of the trumps. He could take nine tricks if he chose, but whenever he led diamonds West would take the ace of diamonds and cash the setting tricks with hearts.

Chicago Holds Election

Chicago, April 3 (AP)—Chicago elected a mayor today in an election that was widely watched for trends that may have a bearing on next year's presidential ballot. The Democrats, in control of the mayor's office since 1931, looked for Mayor Martin H. Kennelly to win reelection to a four-year term. Robert L. Hunter, 52-year-old lawyer making his first bid for a major political office, was the Republican nominee. Election experts forecast a vote of between 1,200,000 and 1,400,000 out of a total registration of 2,103,409. Polls were opened from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m. (CST).

YOUR GARDEN — By Arnold Davis

For Best Results, Start Peas Early

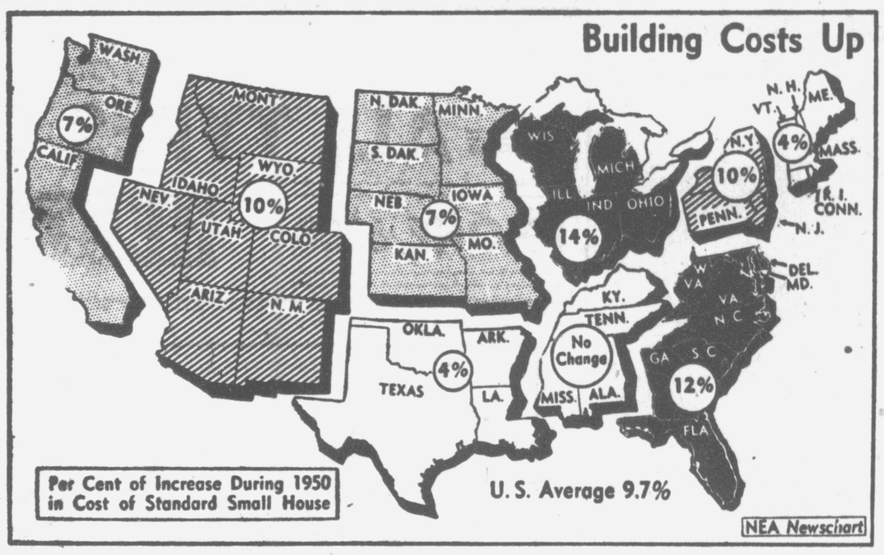

Peas are the luxury vegetable around the Fourth of July. For the best results start them from seed early. Plant in rows of 3 feet apart and thin out to 2 inches between plants. A good rule is to have your peas in the garden before Good Friday.

Take the small varieties like Worlds, for the earliest type, and the Tall Telephone varieties which will need staking for later use. Peas require a great deal of space so in a small garden are not too practical.

After the crop has been harvested, the tops can be spaded into the soil and will furnish an excellent source of green manure. They are definitely a soil building crop and from that standpoint have value in any garden.

Unless peas can be planted early there is little use in planting them. Warm weather brings diseases and insects that will keep the crop from maturing. An occasional crop planted in the late summer matures and with a delightful yield in September.

If space is available here is a good crop for winter use, canned or frozen.

The cost of building a standard small house increased 9.7 per cent during 1950, according to the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The Newsmap above, based on data from a survey of 110 cities. shows increase by regions. Biggest boosts were in cities over 500,000 and under 10,000.

Several Officials Are to Be Called Before Grand Jury

New York, April 3 (AP)—Several present and former city officials who were closely associated with former Mayor William O'Dwyer will be called before a rackets-investigating grand jury starting tomorrow, District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said.

The Brooklyn district attorney said the witnesses would be summoned as the result of O'Dwyer's testimony before the special jury last week.

Although McDonald would give no further information yesterday, it appeared likely that about a dozen persons would be called.

These are expected to include former Police Commissioner William P. O'Brien, who resigned last September after the Brooklyn grand jury uncovered police corruption, and former city Water Commissioner James J. Moran, who has been indicted on a perjury charge as a result of testimony before the U. S. Crime Committee.

May Call Whalen, Bals

Others may be former Chief of Detectives William T. Whalen and former Deputy Police Commissioner Frank C. Bals. Whalen resigned in September, a day after O'Brien.

Bals reportedly will be questioned about circumstances surrounding the death of Abe (Kid Twist) Reles.

Reles mysteriously plunged five stories to his death while under protective custody in a hotel. He was being held as a material witness during O'Dwyer's 1941 investigation of Murder, Inc. O'Dwyer then was Brooklyn district attorney.

The Brooklyn panel, a hold-over jury, has been investigating gamblers and their alleged links with cops.

O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, appeared before the jury for a total of more than nine hours on two days last week. After he was dismissed, the envoy was given a questionnaire to fill out on his finances.

No Details of Testimony

No details were disclosed of O'Dwyer's testimony, but a few days earlier he told the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee that large-scale bookmaking could exist in New York city only with the connivance of police.

O'Dwyer then said he could not take the responsibility for the conduct of his police officials.

Those O'Dwyer aides summoned by the jury also are expected to receive financial questionnaires.

O'Dwyer was excused by the jury "for the present" and has returned to his duties in Mexico City.

Both O'Dwyer and Moran were named as the recipients of "good will" gifts of cash from John P. Crane, president of the city's Uniformed Firemen's Association. Crane named the two men in testimony to the Senate crime group.

Democrats Win Stamford Ballot

Stamford, Conn., April 3 (AP)—Democrats won their first city campaign in 11 years here yesterday, giving their mayoralty candidate a plurality of 1,891 votes, and unseating George R. Close, Republican, who had been town clerk 36 years.

Thomas F. J. Quigley, 48, an oil distributor making his first bid for elective office, defeated Republican Samuel F. Pierson 14,511 to 12,620 to win election as mayor.

Pierson, a 36-year-old real estate and insurance broker who has been president of the Board of Representatives for the last two years, won the Republican nomination for mayor in a primary contest which left the party badly split.

Also defeated in the primary was former Mayor George A. Moore, who served from 1942 until the town and city governments were consolidated. Neither he nor Mayor George T. Barrett, who leaves office April 15, took part in the campaign.

The 64-year-old Close, who served as assistant for 10 years before being elected town clerk in 1915, was defeated by the slim margin of 82 votes by 31-year-old Joseph V. Toner.

The vote was Toner, 13,550; Close, 13,468.

Republicans who formerly controlled the Board of Representatives by a 24-16 margin, lost three seats to the Democrats in yesterday's election.

The Democrats took control, 2-1, of the Board of Selectmen; took four of the six seats at stake on the Board of Education to win control of the board; and split control, 3-3, of the Board of Finance.

In a referendum, the electors approved a 40-hour week for policemen by a vote of 14,331 to 3,114.

Camera Girl Causes Arrest of Customer

New York, April 3 (AP)—Louis Morelli, 59, of 19 Stagg street, Brooklyn, was arrested early today in the Metropole Restaurant, 723 Seventh avenue, Manhattan, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The cigarette and camera girl, Mrs. Rose Mary Track, attractive brown-haired mother of three young sons, alleged the customer struck her in the face, police reported.

Morelli was released in $500 bail posted by Herman Saberstein, described by police as a part-owner of the restaurant.

Mrs. Track, 26, a resident of 33-16 81st street, Jackson Heights, Queens, is the wife of a Marine Corps sergeant in Korea. She alleged that Morelli struck her after an argument concerning the photographing of seven women in the restaurant lounge.

Mrs. Track said that as she prepared to take the picture of the women, Morelli told her he would pay for the prints.

"I made the prints and when I told him it would be $1.50 for each, he insisted the pictures should only be $1 each and I told him that had been the price," said Mrs. Track, according to police.

Mrs. Track said it was agreed that Morelli would pay $1 each for the prints and the women would pay 50 cents for each print.

"Later, he came roaring at me and charging like a bull and accused me of charging him and the women $1.50 each for the prints," Mrs. Track alleged, adding that Morelli then struck her, police said.

Mrs. Track said she complained to the management about the customer's behavior and that when nothing was done about it she called police and had Morelli arrested.

Not always has April been the fourth month of the year. The earliest known Roman calendar had a year ten months long and placed Aprilis after Martius, then the first month.

Grange News

A 70-year-grange member has turned up over in Wayne county and been given a fair share of the honor due her. She is Clara Yeomans of Walworth Grange. We didn't say she was 70 years old, we said she has been a member for that length of time. We are not so foolish as to go around asking women's ages, but Clara must be 84 because one cannot become a Subordinate Grange member until age 14. Anyway, her neighbors and friends are congratulating her, and a good many turned out for the reception in her honor.

There is at least one other older Grange member in the state and a woman in Pennsylvania, last we knew holds the record at 73 years. Albert Cornell, former York Stater, whom many of you met at Elmira sessions last fall, is an active 89, with 72 years of service. If you know of any member with more years of membership, write us about it.

Dairymen and others who are accustomed to listening to David Lawrence editor of U. S. News & World Report, and a radio commentator of note, will be glad to know that their own, milk-producers-sponsored organization, American Dairy Ass'n, have secured his services for a broadcast over national NBC hook-up Sundays 3:30 to 3:45 Eastern Time. Harold M. Stanley, State Grange secretary, and president of American Dairy of N. Y., made the announcement following his return from a dairy industry rally at Chicago recently. The radio program, Mr. Stanley point out, is part of an extensive 1951 expansion of facilities to promote the sale of dairy products and fluid milk. A.D.A. carries on a vast program using radio, television, magazine and newspaper advertising.

Community service projects are being reported all over the state, with possible increase over last year. We understand that some Granges are tying in these plans with their Goss Memorial Membership drive. This is a usual outcome, we mean an increase in membership, when once a Grange branches out into community service and discovers ready and willing prospective members. A contest plan worked out over in Chenango county will be forwarded to each Grange by the State Master. It may be the answer to your own problem of stirring up new members.

Hurley Unit

The recent regular meeting of Hurley Grange, 963, was presided over by Walter Stauble, worthy master. Mrs. Winfred Snyder, chairman of the service and hospitality committee, reported that the cook books had arrived and are being distributed by members. Books may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Snyder.

A meeting was held March 23 at the home of Mrs. Roger Ten Eyck to discuss community projects. Several projects were proposed. These projects were discussed at the March 27 meeting and one selected was the Hurley Honor Roll which the Grange will take over as a permanent project. It was reported that considerable work is to be done on the project and those interested in the community to help are asked to contact Mrs. Charles Lockwood, community project chairman, or Walter J. Stauble, Grange master.

The Grange also is making the blood bank another permanent project with Mrs. Stauble as chairman who said that three pints of blood were used from the bank during March. There is an urgent need for more donors, she said. One letter was read thanking the bank for a donation.

A letter of appreciation was read from T. Jay Rifenbary, campaign director of the heart campaign, for the Grange's contribution.

The literary program was in charge of Mrs. Andrew Lehtonen. A poem was read by Jay Molyneaux. A game of double or nothing was enjoyed.

The next regular meeting will be held April 10 with members of Mt. Tremper Grange as guests. The visitors will have charge of the program.

Refreshments at the recent meeting were served by Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, George Kent and John Ostrander.

Several Officials Are to Be Called Before Grand Jury

New York, April 3 (AP)—Several present and former city officials who were closely associated with former Mayor William O'Dwyer will be called before a rackets-investigating grand jury starting tomorrow, District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said.

The Brooklyn district attorney said the witnesses would be summoned as the result of O'Dwyer's testimony before the special jury last week.

Although McDonald would give no further information yesterday, it appeared likely that about a dozen persons would be called.

These are expected to include former Police Commissioner William P. O'Brien, who resigned last September after the Brooklyn grand jury uncovered police corruption, and former city Water Commissioner James J. Moran, who has been indicted on a perjury charge as a result of testimony before the U. S. Crime Committee.

May Call Whalen, Bals

Others may be former Chief of Detectives William T. Whalen and former Deputy Police Commissioner Frank C. Bals. Whalen resigned in September, a day after O'Brien.

Bals reportedly will be questioned about circumstances surrounding the death of Abe (Kid Twist) Reles.

Reles mysteriously plunged five stories to his death while under protective custody in a hotel. He was being held as a material witness during O'Dwyer's 1941 investigation of Murder, Inc. O'Dwyer then was Brooklyn district attorney.

The Brooklyn panel, a hold-over jury, has been investigating gamblers and their alleged links with cops.

O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, appeared before the jury for a total of more than nine hours on two days last week. After he was dismissed, the envoy was given a questionnaire to fill out on his finances.

No Details of Testimony

No details were disclosed of O'Dwyer's testimony, but a few days earlier he told the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee that large-scale bookmaking could exist in New York city only with the connivance of police.

O'Dwyer then said he could not take the responsibility for the conduct of his police officials.

Those O'Dwyer aides summoned by the jury also are expected to receive financial questionnaires.

O'Dwyer was excused by the jury "for the present" and has returned to his duties in Mexico City.

Both O'Dwyer and Moran were named as the recipients of "good will" gifts of cash from John P. Crane, president of the city's Uniformed Firemen's Association. Crane named the two men in testimony to the Senate crime group.

Democrats Win Stamford Ballot

Stamford, Conn., April 3 (AP)—Democrats won their first city campaign in 11 years here yesterday, giving their mayoralty candidate a plurality of 1,891 votes, and unseating George R. Close, Republican, who had been town clerk 36 years.

Thomas F. J. Quigley, 48, an oil distributor making his first bid for elective office, defeated Republican Samuel F. Pierson 14,511 to 12,620 to win election as mayor.

Pierson, a 36-year-old real estate and insurance broker who has been president of the Board of Representatives for the last two years, won the Republican nomination for mayor in a primary contest which left the party badly split.

Also defeated in the primary was former Mayor George A. Moore, who served from 1942 until the town and city governments were consolidated. Neither he nor Mayor George T. Barrett, who leaves office April 15, took part in the campaign.

The 64-year-old Close, who served as assistant for 10 years before being elected town clerk in 1915, was defeated by the slim margin of 82 votes by 31-year-old Joseph V. Toner.

The vote was Toner, 13,550; Close, 13,468.

Republicans who formerly controlled the Board of Representatives by a 24-16 margin, lost three seats to the Democrats in yesterday's election.

The Democrats took control, 2-1, of the Board of Selectmen; took four of the six seats at stake on the Board of Education to win control of the board; and split control, 3-3, of the Board of Finance.

In a referendum, the electors approved a 40-hour week for policemen by a vote of 14,331 to 3,114.

Camera Girl Causes Arrest of Customer

New York, April 3 (AP)—Louis Morelli, 59, of 19 Stagg street, Brooklyn, was arrested early today in the Metropole Restaurant, 723 Seventh avenue, Manhattan, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The cigarette and camera girl, Mrs. Rose Mary Track, attractive brown-haired mother of three young sons, alleged the customer struck her in the face, police reported.

Morelli was released in $500 bail posted by Herman Saberstein, described by police as a part-owner of the restaurant.

Mrs. Track, 26, a resident of 33-16 81st street, Jackson Heights, Queens, is the wife of a Marine Corps sergeant in Korea. She alleged that Morelli struck her after an argument concerning the photographing of seven women in the restaurant lounge.

Mrs. Track said that as she prepared to take the picture of the women, Morelli told her he would pay for the prints.

"I made the prints and when I told him it would be $1.50 for each, he insisted the pictures should only be $1 each and I told him that had been the price," said Mrs. Track, according to police.

Mrs. Track said it was agreed that Morelli would pay $1 each for the prints and the women would pay 50 cents for each print.

"Later, he came roaring at me and charging like a bull and accused me of charging him and the women $1.50 each for the prints," Mrs. Track alleged, adding that Morelli then struck her, police said.

Mrs. Track said she complained to the management about the customer's behavior and that when nothing was done about it she called police and had Morelli arrested.

Grange News

A 70-year-grange member has turned up over in Wayne county and been given a fair share of the honor due her. She is Clara Yeomans of Walworth Grange. We didn't say she was 70 years old, we said she has been a member for that length of time. We are not so foolish as to go around asking women's ages, but Clara must be 84 because one cannot become a Subordinate Grange member until age 14. Anyway, her neighbors and friends are congratulating her, and a good many turned out for the reception in her honor.

There is at least one other older Grange member in the state and a woman in Pennsylvania, last we knew holds the record at 73 years. Albert Cornell, former York Stater, whom many of you met at Elmira sessions last fall, is an active 89, with 72 years of service. If you know of any member with more years of membership, write us about it.

Dairymen and others who are accustomed to listening to David Lawrence editor of U. S. News & World Report, and a radio commentator of note, will be glad to know that their own, milk-producers-sponsored organization, American Dairy Ass'n, have secured his services for a broadcast over national NBC hook-up Sundays 3:30 to 3:45 Eastern Time. Harold M. Stanley, State Grange secretary, and president of American Dairy of N. Y., made the announcement following his return from a dairy industry rally at Chicago recently. The radio program, Mr. Stanley point out, is part of an extensive 1951 expansion of facilities to promote the sale of dairy products and fluid milk. A.D.A. carries on a vast program using radio, television, magazine and newspaper advertising.

Community service projects are being reported all over the state, with possible increase over last year. We understand that some Granges are tying in these plans with the Goss Memorial Membership Give. This is a usual outcome, we mean an increase in membership, when once a Grange branches out into community service and discovers ready and willing prospective members. A contest plan worked out over in Chenango county will be forwarded to each Grange by the State Master. It may be the answer to your own problem of stirring up new members.

Hurley Unit

The recent regular meeting of Hurley Grange, 963, was presided over by Walter Stauble, worthy master. Mrs. Winfred Snyder, chairman of the service and hospitality committee, reported that the cook books had arrived and are being distributed by members. Books may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Snyder.

A meeting was held March 23 at the home of Mrs. Roger Ten Eyck to discuss community projects. Several projects were proposed. These projects were discussed at the March 27 meeting and one selected was the Hurley Honor Roll which the Grange will take over as a permanent project. It was reported that considerable work is to be done on the project and those interested in the community to help are asked to contact Mrs. Charles Lockwood, community project chairman, or Walter J. Stauble, Grange master.

The Grange also is making the blood bank another permanent project with Mrs. Stauble as chairman who said that three pints of blood were used from the bank during March. There is an urgent need for more donors, she said. One letter was read thanking the bank for a donation.

A letter of appreciation was read from T. Jay Rifenbary, campaign director of the heart campaign, for the Grange's contribution.

The literary program was in charge of Mrs. Andrew Lehtonen. A poem was read by Jay Molyneaux. A game of double or nothing was enjoyed.

The next regular meeting will be held April 10 with members of Mt. Tremper Grange as guests. The visitors will have charge of the program.

Refreshments at the recent meeting were served by Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, George Kent and John Ostrander.

Cancer Film to Be Shown Wednesday

A cancer film will be shown Wednesday at 8 p. m. under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity Lutheran Church, at the church hall, corner of Spring and Hone streets, it was announced today.

The film, Breast Self-Examination, has been designed to save many of the lives of the 20,000 American women, who through ignorance and death die each year of cancer, one spokesman explained. Breast tumors are first discovered, almost without exception, by the woman herself, rather than the physician. As a result, the American woman, if properly informed, can virtually conquer the fatal aspects of what has come to be our most dreaded disease. The film does not show cancer. It shows, instead, how to detect malignant growths in time to have them cured.

Members and friends of the congregation are invited to attend. Arrangements for the film were made by Mrs. James Betts, chairman of the Kingston Field Army, American Cancer Society.

Musicians to Entertain

Units of Musicians Local 215 will make two appearances today for the Music Performance Trust Fund. Johnny Michael's quartet will entertain the patients at the Kingston Hospital at 3 p. m. Joey Vigna's quartet will appear at Mother Cabrini's Orphanage in West Park at 7 p. m.

Cancer Film to Be Shown Wednesday

A cancer film will be shown Wednesday at 8 p. m. under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity Lutheran Church, at the church hall, corner of Spring and Hone streets, it was announced today.

The film, Breast Self-Examination, has been designed to save many of the lives of the 20,000 American women, who through ignorance and death die each year of cancer, one spokesman explained. Breast tumors are first discovered, almost without exception, by the woman herself, rather than the physician. As a result, the American woman, if properly informed, can virtually conquer the fatal aspects of what has come to be our most dreaded disease. The film does not show cancer. It shows, instead, how to detect malignant growths in time to have them cured.

Members and friends of the congregation are invited to attend. Arrangements for the film were made by Mrs. James Betts, chairman of the Kingston Field Army, American Cancer Society.

Musicians to Entertain

Units of Musicians Local 215 will make two appearances today for the Music Performance Trust Fund. Johnny Michael's quartet will entertain the patients at the Kingston Hospital at 3 p. m. Joey Vigna's quartet will appear at Mother Cabrini's Orphanage in West Park at 7 p. m.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, April 3—The April meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society at the Reformed Church Wednesday will be addressed by Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen of Kingston. The public is invited to attend this meeting which is scheduled to begin at 2 p. m.

Hundreds of motorists passed Winchell's Corners Sunday afternoon on their way to and from the Ashokan Reservoir spillway whence they journeyed to view the awesome spectacle provided by the periodical, mighty surge of freshet waters over the crest and into the gorge below. Apparently about one car in three of the Onteora Trail traffic entered or came out of the reservoir road. There was plenty of action in the village center.

Local boys attending the M. J. Michael School this term include Carl and Conrad Bremmer who reside in the Felix Zeff house on the trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert returned home Saturday from a month's trip to Florida. They also visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zanis, at Fort Mitchell, Ky. The Ruckerts passed most of their time in the Miami area where they bought a bungalow near Biscayne Bay.

Mrs. John Valland and son, John, returned to New York Sunday following a week's sojourn at their Shokan summer home, the one time Augustus Greene place. They expect to be up again in a couple of weeks.

Having a birthday April 3, is Mrs. Frank Jackson of Ashokan. The former Bessie Hamilton was born in Brooklyn. She attended the Conservatory of Music and is an accomplished pianist. Mrs. Jackson, who has dwelt in many states in the course of her husband's naval career, has three sons and a daughter.

Tuesday also is John Burrough's birthday. The famous naturalist and author, native of Roxbury and a boyhood schoolmate of Jay Gould, as a young man taught school at Olive (now Ashokan); studied medicine there under Dr. Abram C. Hull (a grandfather of Mrs. Elva Bogart of Kingston), and married Susan North, member of a family of Methodist pioneers in what is now the Glenford sector of Hurley.

Callers here Thursday included Elinor Boice, a student at Albany Teachers College, K.H.S. alumnus and Olive Legion Post essays contest winner.

This season coiffures are smoother, sleeker, level headed. Gone the free flowing mane of yesterday. Whether long or short, the hair conforms to the shape of the head and face. "Contour" is the word. Controlled sculptured and well directed. That's the way yours ought to be and will be if you let Mickey design your hairdo.

MAN'S MANNERS

A reader asks: "What can a woman do when a man propels her along the sidewalk by the elbow? I know she is supposed to take his arm when she needs any assistance, and I also believe that, ideally, he offers it to her. But what if he instead takes her by the elbow?

About the only thing she can do is to pull her arm away and say frankly: "I hope you don't mind, but I'd rather take your arm!"

Two Wrongs

Dear Mrs. Post: Would a man's family be privileged to give a tea for their son's fiancee before his divorce becomes final? Her family announced the engagement a month or so ago.

Answer: Most certainly not! Two wrongs do not make a right. His family can do nothing until his divorce is final.

Writing Home From Army

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a young stepmother and father and soon I'll be writing letters home from the army. Should I begin these Dear Father and Marian, or the reverse?

Answer: I really don't see that it matters, although Father first is more natural.

Plaque in Honor of Doctor

Dear Mrs. Post: We want to put up a plaque in a local hospital in honor of one of the doctors who passed on. Should his title be used, and should it be Dr. or M.D.? Someone has suggested a title might be in error in the way it is on a gravestone.

Answer: They are not parallel situations. The gravestone is a record of the family and the plaque an honor given a man because of his profession. It would be necessary to indicate his title. M.D. after his name would be preferable to Dr. Before it.

As Pegler Sees It

published years later, established the record. He described an appalling spectacle of drunken ribaldry by the nobles of Tobin's kingdom and of leering flippancy by a cynic who was steering a course toward Teheran, Yalta and, in due course, Korea.

If the press of that day was morally and intellectually benumbed, refusing to strike out against unionism, per se as an imposition on our nation, or too dull to perceive that it was, the citizen-voters were no better. With only a few strident exceptions, which were called "labor-baiters" and "Roosevelt-haters" and thus easily disposed of, the press stupidly accepted unionism as an element in government, as though our Constitution had solemnly provided for a fourth arm.

A pioneer in the rebellion, even I did not come to the hard conclusion that our unionism was inherently bad and hostile to our Constitution and our rights as men, until 1948. This declaration exposed me to abuse, but that was a calculated risk and I believe we are beginning to exploit the beachhead, if you will let me use these army cliches just this once.

During that war, the income of the whole union movement was about one thousand million dollars a year, in dues, fees and miscellaneous loot. An electrician had to pay $300 to a racket, or he couldn't work at wiring a new barracks or war factory. A farmer had to hand over $50 to some underworld rogue of the hodcarriers' union, which had not held a convention in more than 30 years, for permission to shovel dirt on a "project" near his home far out in the country. And this was only a trifle of the whole cost of unionism because, constantly, the racketeers were pushing wages up to endear themselves to their subjects and this pushed up the cost of everything the people were buying for the soldiers.

Actually, these racketeers had no standing whatever. A majority of their "members" were and are to this day involuntary captives, dragooned into their compounds by the administration. They had no mandate to speak for "labor." There is no such element of our people as "labor." About 60 million jobs are held by citizens who do perform labor. But these 60 million represent all our races or varieties of people, all trades and occupations and all our religions. They never elected the grand dragoons of the union racket to speak for them. They never consented to the designation of these men as their "leaders" by the government. They have absolutely no legitimate standing. Our government should not deal with them. The more consideration we show them the slower production moves and the more it costs per unit.

The union racket is admittedly corrupt. On the face of the facts, which show that it has declined 60 per cent in proportion of the workers employed, it plainly has been repudiated by the "generation" which came through the war.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, April 3—The April meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society at the Reformed Church Wednesday will be addressed by Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen of Kingston. The public is invited to attend this meeting which is scheduled to begin at 2 p. m.

Hundreds of motorists passed Winchell's Corners Sunday afternoon on their way to and from the Ashokan Reservoir spillway whence they journeyed to view the awesome spectacle provided by the periodical, mighty surge of freshet waters over the crest and into the gorge below. Apparently about one car in three of the Onteora Trail traffic entered or came out of the reservoir road. There was plenty of action in the village center.

Local boys attending the M. J. Michael School this term include Carl and Conrad Bremmer who reside in the Felix Zeff house on the trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert returned home Saturday from a month's trip to Florida. They also visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zanis, at Fort Mitchell, Ky. The Ruckerts passed most of their time in the Miami area where they bought a bungalow near Biscayne Bay.

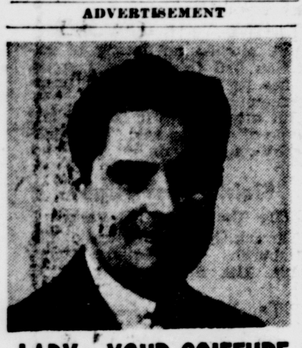

Mrs. John Valland and son, John, returned to New York Sunday following a week's sojourn at their Shokan summer home, the one time Augustus Greene place. They expect to be up again in a couple of weeks.

Having a birthday April 3, is Mrs. Frank Jackson of Ashokan. The former Bessie Hamilton was born in Brooklyn. She attended the Conservatory of Music and is an accomplished pianist. Mrs. Jackson, who has dwelt in many states in the course of her husband's naval career, has three sons and a daughter.

Tuesday also is John Burrough's birthday. The famous naturalist and author, native of Roxbury and a boyhood schoolmate of Jay Gould, as a young man taught school at Olive (now Ashokan); studied medicine there under Dr. Abram C. Hull (a grandfather of Mrs. Elva Bogart of Kingston), and married Susan North, member of a family of Methodist pioneers in what is now the Glenford sector of Hurley.

Callers here Thursday included Elinor Boice, a student at Albany Teachers College, K.H.S. alumnus and Olive Legion Post essays contest winner.

MAN'S MANNERS

A reader asks: "What can a woman do when a man propels her along the sidewalk by the elbow? I know she is supposed to take his arm when she needs any assistance, and I also believe that, ideally, he offers it to her. But what if he instead takes her by the elbow?

About the only thing she can do is to pull her arm away and say frankly: "I hope you don't mind, but I'd rather take your arm!"

Two Wrongs

Dear Mrs. Post: Would a man's family be privileged to give a tea for their son's fiancee before his divorce becomes final? Her family announced the engagement a month or so ago.

Answer: Most certainly not! Two wrongs do not make a right. His family can do nothing until his divorce is final.

Writing Home From Army

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a young stepmother and father and soon I'll be writing letters home from the army. Should I begin these Dear Father and Marian, or the reverse?

Answer: I really don't see that it matters, although Father first is more natural.

Plaque in Honor of Doctor

Dear Mrs. Post: We want to put up a plaque in a local hospital in honor of one of the doctors who passed on. Should his title be used, and should it be Dr. or M.D.? Someone has suggested a title might be in error in the way it is on a gravestone.

Answer: They are not parallel situations. The gravestone is a record of the family and the plaque an honor given a man because of his profession. It would be necessary to indicate his title. M.D. after his name would be preferable to Dr. Before it.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. If you are puzzled about what to say in a "bread and butter" note or other notes, you will find suggestions in Mrs. Post's booklet, No. 502, "Letter Writing." As Pegler Sees It published years later, established the record. He described an appalling spectacle of drunken ribaldry by the nobles of Tobin's kingdom and of leering flippancy by a cynic who was steering a course toward Teheran, Yalta and, in due course, Korea.

If the press of that day was morally and intellectually benumbed, refusing to strike out against unionism, per se as an imposition on our nation, or too dull to perceive that it was, the citizen-voters were no better. With only a few strident exceptions, which were called "labor-baiters" and "Roosevelt-haters" and thus easily disposed of, the press stupidly accepted unionism as an element in government, as though our Constitution had solemnly provided for a fourth arm.

A pioneer in the rebellion, even I did not come to the hard conclusion that our unionism was inherently bad and hostile to our Constitution and our rights as men, until 1948. This declaration exposed me to abuse, but that was a calculated risk and I believe we are beginning to exploit the beachhead, if you will let me use these army cliches just this once.

During that war, the income of the whole union movement was about one thousand million dollars a year, in dues, fees and miscellaneous loot. An electrician had to pay $300 to a racket, or he couldn't work at wiring a new barracks or war factory. A farmer had to hand over $50 to some underworld rogue of the hodcarriers' union, which had not held a convention in more than 30 years, for permission to shovel dirt on a "project" near his home far out in the country. And this was only a trifle of the whole cost of unionism because, constantly, the racketeers were pushing wages up to endear themselves to their subjects and this pushed up the cost of everything the people were buying for the soldiers.

Actually, these racketeers had no standing whatever. A majority of their "members" were and are to this day involuntary captives, dragooned into their compounds by the administration. They had no mandate to speak for "labor." There is no such element of our people as "labor." About 60 million jobs are held by citizens who do perform labor. But these 60 million represent all our races or varieties of people, all trades and occupations and all our religions. They never elected the grand dragoons of the union racket to speak for them. They never consented to the designation of these men as their "leaders" by the government. They have absolutely no legitimate standing. Our government should not deal with them. The more consideration we show them the slower production moves and the more it costs per unit.

The union racket is admittedly corrupt. On the face of the facts, which show that it has declined 60 per cent in proportion of the workers employed, it plainly has been repudiated by the "generation" which came through the war.

MAN'S MANNERS

A reader asks: "What can a woman do when a man propels her along the sidewalk by the elbow? I know she is supposed to take his arm when she needs any assistance, and I also believe that, ideally, he offers it to her. But what if he instead takes her by the elbow?

About the only thing she can do is to pull her arm away and say frankly: "I hope you don't mind, but I'd rather take your arm!"

Two Wrongs

Dear Mrs. Post: Would a man's family be privileged to give a tea for their son's fiancee before his divorce becomes final? Her family announced the engagement a month or so ago.

Answer: Most certainly not! Two wrongs do not make a right. His family can do nothing until his divorce is final.

Writing Home From Army

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a young stepmother and father and soon I'll be writing letters home from the army. Should I begin these Dear Father and Marian, or the reverse?

Answer: I really don't see that it matters, although Father first is more natural.

Plaque in Honor of Doctor

Dear Mrs. Post: We want to put up a plaque in a local hospital in honor of one of the doctors who passed on. Should his title be used, and should it be Dr. or M.D.? Someone has suggested a title might be in error in the way it is on a gravestone.

Answer: They are not parallel situations. The gravestone is a record of the family and the plaque an honor given a man because of his profession. It would be necessary to indicate his title, M.D. after his name would be preferable to Dr. Before it.

As Pegler Sees It

published years later, established the record. He described an appalling spectacle of drunken ribaldry by the nobles of Tobin's kingdom and of leering flippancy by a cynic who was steering a course toward Teheran, Yalta and, in due course, Korea.

If the press of that day was morally and intellectually benumbed, refusing to strike out against unionism, per se as an imposition on our nation, or too dull to perceive that it was, the citizen-voters were no better. With only a few strident exceptions, which were called "labor-baiters" and "Roosevelt-haters" and thus easily disposed of, the press stupidly accepted unionism as an element in government, as though our Constitution had solemnly provided for a fourth arm.

A pioneer in the rebellion, even I did not come to the hard conclusion that our unionism was inherently bad and hostile to our Constitution and our rights as men, until 1948. This declaration exposed me to abuse, but that was a calculated risk and I believe we are beginning to exploit the beachhead, if you will let me use these army cliches just this once.

During that war, the income of the whole union movement was about one thousand million dollars a year, in dues, fees and miscellaneous loot. An electrician had to pay $300 to a racketeer, or he couldn't work at wiring a new barracks or war factory. A farmer had to hand over $50 to some underworld rogue of the hodcarriers' union, which had not held a convention in more than 30 years, for permission to shovel dirt on a "project" near his home far out in the country. And this was only a trifle of the whole cost of unionism because, constantly, the racketeers were pushing wages up to endear themselves to their subjects and this pushed up the cost of everything the people were buying for the soldiers.

Actually, these racketeers had no standing whatever. A majority of their "members" were and are to this day involuntary captives, dragooned into their compounds by the administration. They had no mandate to speak for "labor." There is no such element of our people as "labor." About 60 million jobs are held by citizens who do perform labor. But these 60 million represent all our races or varieties of people, all trades and occupations and all our religions. They never elected the grand dragoons of the union racket to speak for them. They never consented to the designation of these men as their "leaders" by the government. They have absolutely no legitimate standing. Our government should not deal with them. The more consideration we show them the slower production moves and the more it costs per unit.

The union racket is admittedly corrupt. On the face of the facts, which show that it has declined 60 per cent in proportion of the workers employed, it plainly has been repudiated by the "generation" which came through the war.

Sox Lose Dropo For Four Weeks

Sarasota, Fla., April 3 (AP) — The famed power of the Red Sox dropped a few notches today when Walt Dropo, big, slugging first baseman, left for Boston to have his fractured right wrist treated.

First medical reports were that Dropo would be out from four to six weeks. The 1950 rookie of the year insisted he'd be back in action in three weeks.

Regardless of when he returns, club manager Steve O'Neill said Billy Goodman will play first base meanwhile.

Boudreau presently is listed to play short with Vern Stephens shifting over to third and Bob Doerr holding down second base and Johnny Pesky going to the bench as the club's ranking utility infielder.

Dropo, who had just returned to the Sox lineup after recovering from a pull muscle, was struck by a Ray Herbert pitch Sunday as the Bostons whipped Detroit, 8-1.

Hogan Identifies New "Fix" Suspect

New York, April 3 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan has identified one of four men sought in the current collegiate basketball scandal as William Rivlin, convicted of a 1949 cage "fix."

The other three were not identified.

Rivlin was sentenced to a year in jail in 1949 for a vain attempt to fix a Madison Square Garden game between George Washington University and Manhattan College.

Hogan said yesterday that he wanted to talk with Ravlin about the current scandal, that has involved 17 players or former players at four local colleges. Five alleged fixers have been arrested.

Last week Hogan said his men were scouring the eastern seaboard for the four men.

Ravlin and three others were convicted of trying to bribe George Washington co-captain David Shapiro to lose the Manhattan game by more than 10 points.

But Shapiro reported the attempt to authorities, and his team scored an upset 71-63 victory. The game was played Jan. 4, 1949.

NBA Starts Action To Unfrock Ike

Chicago, April 3 (AP)—The National Boxing Association began action today which may strip the world's lightweight boxing championship from Ike Williams for his failure to defend it.

Williams has not risked his 135-pound crown since Dec. 5, 1949, when he outpointed Freddie Dawson of Chicago in 15 rounds at Philadelphia.

Williams failed to abide by an NBA edict to sign for defense of his title by March 31. Dawson's manager, Harry Rudolph, asked that action be taken on the issue.

Executive committeemen of the NBA are being polled today for a decision on declaring Williams' title vacant. The poll is being taken at the direction of Arch Hindman, NBA president. Hindman acted on a request from Fred Saddy of Milwaukee, chairman of the NBA rating committee.

"The decision is up to the 14 members of the executive committee—present officers and past presidents," Hindman said at his Hagerstown, Ind., home. "It will take several days to complete the poll."

In Washington, D. C., Executive Secretary Col. Harvey L. Miller, said Hindman had the legal right if he wished to unseat Williams by order instead of polling members.

Miller said Williams knew such action was being contemplated and had consented that his title be vacated if he did not defend it at the specified date, March 31.

Indications are that Williams is ready to forfeit the 135-pound title and enter the current series to decide the recognized successor of Sugar Ray Robinson as 147-pound king.

Stirnweiss Boosts Cleveland Hopes

Tucson, Ariz., March 3 (AP)—Now that they have landed an excellent utility infielder in George Stirnweiss, the Cleveland Indians are more certain than ever that they are the team somebody will have to beat in the American League.

They knew all along they had the power and the pitching, but there has been a shade of uneasiness as Roberto Avila, the club's new second-baseman, failed to sparkle on the double play.

In obtaining Stirnweiss from the St. Louis Browns the Tribe figures it not only bought insurance for every infield position except first base, but also landed one of the best teachers of young infielders in the game. Gerry Coleman credits Snuffy with having taught him how to make the double play when they were teammates on the Yankees.

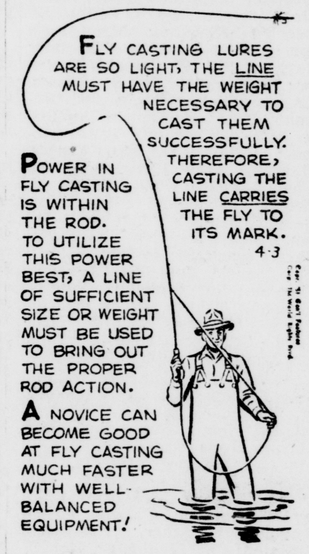

"George is in the best condition I've seen him for four or five years," said Manager Al Lopez. "He's only 31 and should have several more good years. I'm certain he will help us."

Providence, R. I.—Jackie Weber, 137, Pawtucket, outpointed Eduardo Carrasco, 139¾, Peru, (10).

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Bob Baker, 224, Pittsburgh, stopped Levi Bryant, 214, Port Arthur, Tex. (3).

State Tourney Pinmen In Elmira Saturday

Dozen Teams, 31 Doubles Make Up Local Entry

Eleven squads of Kingston's 12-team delegation to the 26th annual New York state bowling tournament will roll their team event Sunday, April 8, at 5:30 p. m. at the Dixie bowling alleys in Elmira.

Singles and doubles will be rolled at 6 p. m. and 7:45 p. m. on Saturday at Rossi's alleys.

Kingston's 1951 representation to the state tournament is the largest in the history of the local city association.

The 12th team, Broadway Flower Shoppe, is scheduled to roll on Sunday, April 15.

The city's heavy entry as compared to other years was recruited in order to back up the city's bid for the 1952 championships.

Formal action on Kingston's bid will be taken by the executive committee of the New York State Bowling Association on Friday, April 20. A committee of K.B.A. and Chamber of Commerce members headed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will present the Kingston bid.

According to unofficial reports out of Elmira, there will be no opposition to the Kingston bid.

Fourth Largest

The 1951 tournament has attracted 1521 five-man entries which makes the tourney the fourth largest in the history of the state association. The record of 1904 teams was set in Buffalo in 1949. There will also be 3207 doubles, 6316 singles and 5619 all-events.

Although the 1951 tournament has not established a new record for entries, it definitely proves that the game of bowling is making rapid strides in the state. This statement is also borne out by the fact that more cities are represented than in any previous tournament.

Championships will be determined on a scratch basis, but the overall competition is based on 75-per cent handicap. First prize for the team event, handicap included, will be $1,500. Doubles will be worth $600 for first place; singles $300 and all-events, $150.

The Kingston five-man entries are:

Jones Dairy City, Jones Dairy Major, Independent Married Men No. 2, Ulster Tool and Die Corp., Chamber of Commerce, Thomson Laundry, Freeman No. 6, Central Hudson, Progress Clothes, Mannie's Barbers, Amoco Gas and Broadway Flower Shoppe.

The doubles pairings:

Also, Mitzie Arlensky-Ralph Mayone; William Winslow-Bud Evans; Clifton Quick-Randy Kelder; Charlie Manfro-Harold Broskie; Jim Moss-Larry Weishaupt; Ed Heins-Lou Misasi; Bill Murray-Chris Robinson.

K.W.B.A. Honors Past Presidents

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association will honor its four past presidents at a testimonial dinner on Thursday, April 12, at the Hotel Stuyvesant, president Chrissie Wilson announced today.

The four women to be honored are Mrs. Ardis Miller, Mrs. Cora Emerick, Mrs. Reta Frederick and Evelyn Dolson.

The dinner will be open to all members of the K.W.B.A. Further details will be announced later.

Allie Worries Yanks

Tucson, Ariz., April 3 (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees are becoming more and more worried about the ailing arm of pitcher Allie Reynolds.

The New Yorkers, No. 2 hurler hasn't pitched an inning of exhibition ball this spring. Instead, he has been giving it heat treatments and complete rest.

But after trying it out the last couple of days he said "it is kicking up on me again."

Sox Lose Dropo For Four Weeks

Sarasota, Fla., April 3 (AP) — The famed power of the Red Sox dropped a few notches today when Walt Dropo, big, slugging first baseman, left for Boston to have his fractured right wrist treated.

First medical reports were that Dropo would be out from four to six weeks. The 1950 rookie of the year insisted he'd be back in action in three weeks.

Regardless of when he returns, club manager Steve O'Neill said Billy Goodman will play first base meanwhile.

That assignment settled reports Lou Boudreau, erstwhile Cleveland manager and shortstop, would play first.

Boudreau presently is listed to play short with Vern Stephens shifting over to third and Bob Doerr holding down second base and Johnny Pesky going to the bench as the club's ranking utility infielder.

Dropo, who had just returned to the Sox lineup after recovering from a pull muscle, was struck by a Ray Herbert pitch Sunday as the Bostons whipped Detroit, 8-1.

Big Walt didn't realize his ulna bone had been cracked and continued playing. The hairline fracture was disclosed yesterday by X-rays.

Hogan Identifies New "Fix" Suspect

New York, April 3 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan has identified one of four men sought in the current collegiate basketball scandal as William Rivlin, convicted of a 1949 cage "fix."

The other three were not identified.

Rivlin was sentenced to a year in jail in 1949 for a vain attempt to fix a Madison Square Garden game between George Washington University and Manhattan College.

Hogan said yesterday that he wanted to talk with Ravlin about the current scandal, that has involved 17 players or former players at four local colleges. Five alleged fixers have been arrested.

Last week Hogan said his men were scouring the eastern seaboard for the four men.

Ravlin and three others were convicted of trying to bribe George Washington co-captain David Shapiro to lose the Manhattan game by more than 10 points.

But Shapiro reported the attempt to authorities, and his team scored an upset 71-63 victory. The game was played Jan. 4, 1949.

NBA Starts Action To Unfrock Ike

Chicago, April 3 (AP)—The National Boxing Association began action today which may strip the world's lightweight boxing championship from Ike Williams for his failure to defend it.

Williams has not risked his 135-pound crown since Dec. 5, 1949, when he outpointed Freddie Dawson of Chicago in 15 rounds at Philadelphia.

Williams failed to abide by an NBA edict to sign for defense of his title by March 31. Dawson's manager, Harry Rudolph, asked that action be taken on the issue.

Executive committeemen of the NBA are being polled today for a decision on declaring Williams' title vacant. The poll is being taken at the direction of Arch Hindman, NBA president. Hindman acted on a request from Fred Saddy of Milwaukee, chairman of the NBA rating committee.

"The decision is up to the 14 members of the executive committee—present officers and past presidents," Hindman said at his Hagerstown, Ind., home. "It will take several days to complete the poll."

In Washington, D. C., Executive Secretary Col. Harvey L. Miller, said Hindman had the legal right if he wished to unseat Williams by order instead of polling members.

Miller said Williams knew such action was being contemplated and had consented that his title be vacated if he did not defend it at the specified date, March 31.

Indications are that Williams is ready to forfeit the 135-pound title and enter the current series to decide the recognized successor of Sugar Ray Robinson as 147-pound king.

Stirnweiss Boosts Cleveland Hopes

Tucson, Ariz., March 3 (AP)—Now that they have landed an excellent utility infielder in George Stirnweiss, the Cleveland Indians are more certain than ever that they are the team somebody will have to beat in the American League.

They knew all along they had the power and the pitching, but there has been a shade of uneasiness as Roberto Avila, the club's new second-baseman, failed to sparkle on the double play.

In obtaining Stirnweiss from the St. Louis Browns the Tribe figures it not only bought insurance for every infield position except first base, but also landed one of the best teachers of young infielders in the game. Gerry Coleman credits Snuffy with having taught him how to make the double play when they were teammates on the Yankees.

"George is in the best condition I've seen him for four or five years," said Manager Al Lopez. "He's only 31 and should have several more good years. I'm certain he will help us."

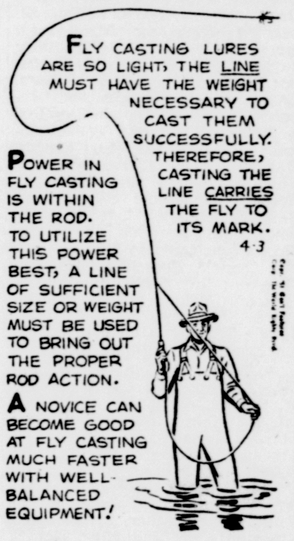

Providence, R. I.—Jackie Weber, 137, Pawtucket, outpointed Eduardo Carrasco, 139¾, Peru, (10).

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Bob Baker, 224, Pittsburgh, stopped Levi Bryant, 214, Port Arthur, Tex. (3).

Inter-County C.Y.O. Basketball Planned

Orange and Ulster Champs Here Friday

C.Y.O. basketball champions of Ulster and Orange county will clash in an inter-district triple-header on Friday, April 6, at the municipal auditorium, Leo A. Schupp, county C.Y.O. athletic director, announced today.

Ulster county will be represented by its three divisional championship squads:

Senior—St. Peter's, Kingston.
Metropolitan — St. Joseph's, Kingston.
Juniors—St. Mary's, Kingston.

The basketball carnival will start at 7 o'clock, with Al Gruner and Frank "Bing" Van Etten officiating.

The Orange county representatives for the special games have not been announced. It is known, however, that Big Eddie O'Connor, the St. Patrick's Academy scoring sensation, will appear in the lineup of the Orange county Senior champions.

Judges of the recently completed Ulster county tournament have announced their selections for the most valuable player awards. Joe Erena of St. Mary's was selected for the Junior division; Andy Juhl, St. Joseph's, for the Met group; and Dan McGrane of St. Mary's in the Seniors.

The public is invited to attend these games which were arranged by Leo A. Schupp in conjunction with the New York Archdiocese tournament.

OPENING DAY OF NEW YORK RACING SEASON

MUSIAL FORCED AT SECOND

Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals outfielder, appears to be getting hit in head by ball as he is forced at second base in sixth inning of game with Boston Red Sox at St. Petersburg, Fla. Bobby Doerr (upper left), Bosox second baseman, has just thrown to first too late to nip Enos Slaughter. Red Sox Shortstop Lou Boudreau had fielded Slaughter's grounder and tossed to Doerr. Cards won, 2-0. (AP Wirephoto)

HOME- RUN LEADERS—Al Rosen, left, and Ralph Kiner are out to repeat as major-league home-run champions. Rosen showed the way last trip with 37 for the Indians, but Ted Williams of the Red Sox expects to be running at him full time this season. Kiner of the Pirates is odds-on to top the National League for the sixth straight season. (NEA)

37,607 Attend Jamaica Opener

New York, April 3 (AP)—Now that opening-day festivities at Jamaica are out of the way, racing fans with an eye on Kentucky Derby horses turned their attention today to the three-year-olds and the experimental Handicap No. 1.

The six furlong Experimental, carrying an added value of $20,000, will be raced tomorrow, and several of the east's top Derby-Preakness-Belmont candidates are expected to be in the lineup.

Tops among the probables is George D. Widener's battlefield, the 1950 two-year-old champion. If Battlefield elects to start, it will be his 1951 racing debut. Eddie Arcaro is slated to ride the son of War Relic which has been sidelined since winning the Belmont Futurity last fall.

Other probables include Sam Mason's To Market, winner of the Arlington and Washington Park Futurities; Mrs. Sarah Chait's Lord Putnam, winner of five out of six starts last year; Larry McPhail's General Staff; Jack Amiel's Count Turf; and Hal Price Headley's Jumbo.

Ted Atkinson brought Ferd from far back into contention on the final bend, and the four-year-old took charge from the pace-setting Casemate to win by three-quarters of a length. Casemate, owned by James Cox Brady, was second, a half length before Woolford farm's delegate in the field of 11 sprinters.

The winner was clocked in an acceptable 1:11 1/5 for six furlongs and returned $15.20 for $2.

Management could have no complaint about the mutuel handle for the eight races. A total of $2,324,471 was bet on the program. Last year opening day was on Saturday, the best racing day of the week, and 50,518 turned out to wager $2,626,698.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By the Associated Press)

Brooks Keep Edwards

Miami, Fla., April 3 (AP)—Hank Edwards and Clyde King, whose contracts were purchased from Montreal, could help the Brooklyn Dodgers considerably.

The Brooks have needed a left-handed pinch-hitter badly in recent years, and Edwards, an outfielder, has been handling that assignment in fine style through training.

King is not exactly a newcomer to the Dodgers. He appeared on the team in 1944, 1945 and 1949, but lacked the required speed. He's smart, though, and has control which makes him a candidate for a relief assignment.

Brave Reunion

Mobile, Ala., April 3 (AP)—Two traveling squads of the Boston Braves merged here today for the first of two exhibition games against the New York Giants. The second game will be played in Beaumont, Tex., tomorrow.

Righthander Bob Hall was manager Billy Southworth's original pitching selection for today but it now appears either lefthander Warren Spahn or Dave Cole will work against the New Yorkers.

Mobile, Ala., April 3 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher's present problem child on the New York Giants is pitcher Jack Kramer. The veteran righthander has pitched only two innings this spring, but Durocher thinks he can hurl if he desires to get on the mound.

Kramer has a habit of coming up with ailments just when he might come in handy, which led Durocher to suspect that he might not want to pitch.

"So I asked him if he wanted to play for us," Durocher said. "He told me he did. I then told him he'd have to change his attitude or we'd go along with one of the younger pitchers."

Bucs Wanted Catcher

Houston, Texas, April 3 (AP)—John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is still trying to get a catcher from the New York Yankees as part of the John Hopp trade last fall.

The hitch is that several American League clubs refuse to waive on Charley Silvera and Ralph Houk, clever catchers, who sat on the bench in all but a few games last year.

Boy Scout News

Troop 9 News

Several Scouts of Troop 9, Redeemer Lutheran Church, spent part of their Easter vacation last week camping out of doors on the property of Scoutmaster William Daum in Union Center. Low temperatures greeted the Scouts Tuesday, their first night in tents, and rain accompanied the breaking of camp on Thursday.

Separated into two patrols on the camping trip, the Scouts took turns colecting firewood, cooking and serving on KP duty. The boys planned and prepared well-balanced meals. Activities included a hike to Lake Louisa, patrol games and a council fire which the rest of Troop 9 attended for the regular monthly outdoor meeting.

In accordance with a troop ruling, before camping out the Scouts had to pass basic requirements in first aid, fire building, cooking and the use of knife and hatchet.

Those who hiked to the campsite and set up their own camp were Peter Cain, Robert Campbell, Jack Effner, Richard Gendreau, Dennis Lenahan, Bruce Peters, Earle Schoonmaker and Robert Tienken. Leaders who accompanied the Scouts at various times were Ernest Ryan, explorer advisor; Robert Berger and Mickey Kozlowski, assistant scoutmasters and Scoutmaster Daum. An inspection of the camp was made by Robert Short, committeeman.

OPENING DAY OF NEW YORK RACING SEASON

MUSIAL FORCED AT SECOND

Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals outfielder, appears to be getting hit in head by ball as he is forced at second base in sixth inning of game with Boston Red Sox at St. Petersburg, Fla. Bobby Doerr (upper left), Bosox second baseman, has just thrown to first too late to nip Enos Slaughter. Red Sox Shortstop Lou Boudreau had fielded Slaughter's grounder and tossed to Doerr. Cards won, 2-0. (AP Wirephoto)

HOME-RUN LEADERS—Al Rosen, left, and Ralph Kiner are out to repeat as major-league home-run champions. Rosen showed the way last trip with 37 for the Indians, but Ted Williams of the Red Sox expects to be running at him full time this season. Kiner of the Pirates is odds-on to top the National League for the sixth straight season. (NEA)

37,607 Attend Jamaica Opener

New York, April 3 (AP)—Now that opening-day festivities at Jamaica are out of the way, racing fans with an eye on Kentucky Derby horses turned their attention today to the three-year-olds and the experimental Handicap No. 1.

The six furlong Experimental, carrying an added value of $20,000, will be raced tomorrow, and several of the east's top Derby-Preakness-Belmont candidates are expected to be in the lineup.

Tops among the probables is George D. Widener's battlefield, the 1950 two-year-old champion. If Battlefield elects to start, it will be his 1951 racing debut. Eddie Arcaro is slated to ride the son of War Relic which has been sidelined since winning the Belmont Futurity last fall.

Other probables include Sam Mason's To Market, winner of the Arlington and Washington Park Futurities; Mrs. Sarah Chait's Lord Putnam, winner of five out of six starts last year; Larry McPhail's General Staff; Jack Amiel's Count Turf; and Hal Price Headley's Jumbo.

Mrs. Andy Schuttinger's Ferd galloped home the winner of the $29,700 Paumonok Handicap, feature of the opener yesterday before a good crowd of 37,607.

Ted Atkinson brought Ferd from far back into contention on the final bend, and the four-year-old took charge from the pacesetting Casemate to win by three-quarters of a length. Casemate, owned by James Cox Brady, was second, a half length before Woolford farm's delegate in the field of 11 sprinters.

The winner was clocked in an acceptable 1:11 1/5 for six furlongs and returned $15.20 for $2.

Management could have no complaint about the mutuel handle for the eight races. A total of $2,324,471 was bet on the program. Last year opening day was on Saturday, the best racing day of the week, and 50,518 turned out to wager $2,626,698.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By the Associated Press)

Brooks Keep Edwards

Miami, Fla., April 3 (AP)—Hank Edwards and Clyde King, whose contracts were purchased from Montreal, could help the Brooklyn Dodgers considerably.

The Brooks have needed a left-handed pinch-hitter badly in recent years, and Edwards, an outfielder, has been handling that assignment in fine style through training.

King is not exactly a newcomer to the Dodgers. He appeared on the team in 1944, 1945 and 1949, but lacked the required speed. He's smart, though, and has control which makes him a candidate for a relief assignment.

Brave Reunion

Mobile, Ala., April 3 (AP)—Two traveling squads of the Boston Braves merged here today for the first of two exhibition games against the New York Giants. The second game will be played in Beaumont, Tex., tomorrow.

Righthander Bob Hall was manager Billy Southworth's original pitching selection for today but it now appears either lefthander Warren Spahn or Dave Cole will work against the New Yorkers.

Mobile, Ala., April 3 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher's present problem child on the New York Giants is pitcher Jack Kramer. The veteran righthander has pitched only two innings this spring, but Durocher thinks he can hurl if he desires to get on the mound.

Kramer has a habit of coming up with ailments just when he might come in handy, which led Durocher to suspect that he might not want to pitch.

"So I asked him if he wanted to play for us," Durocher said. "He told me he did. I then told him he'd have to change his attitude or we'd go along with one of the younger pitchers."

Bucs Wanted Catcher

Houston, Texas, April 3 (AP)—John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is still trying to get a catcher from the New York Yankees as part of the John Hopp trade last fall.

The hitch is that several American League clubs refuse to waive on Charley Silvera and Ralph Houk, clever catchers, who sat on the bench in all but a few games last year.

Boy Scout News

Troop 9 News

Several Scouts of Troop 9, Redeemer Lutheran Church, spent part of their Easter vacation last week camping out of doors on the property of Scoutmaster William Daum in Union Center. Low temperatures greeted the Scouts Tuesday, their first night in tents, and rain accompanied the breaking of camp on Thursday.

Separated into two patrols on the camping trip, the Scouts took turns colecting firewood, cooking and serving on KP duty. The boys planned and prepared well-balanced meals. Activities included a hike to Lake Louisa, patrol games and a council fire which the rest of Troop 9 attended for the regular monthly outdoor meeting.

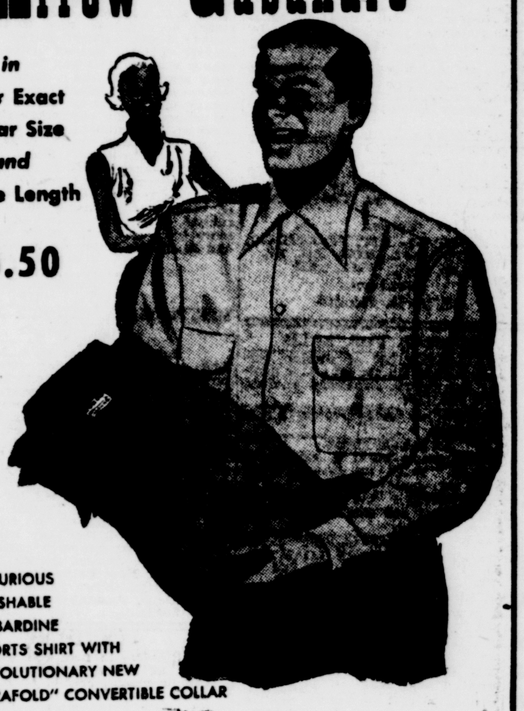

In accordance with a troop ruling, before camping out the Scouts had to pass basic requirements in first aid, fire building, cooking and the use of knife and hatchet.

Those who hiked to the campsite and set up their own camp were Peter Cain, Robert Campbell, Jack Effner, Richard Gendreau, Dennis Lenahan, Bruce Peters, Earle Schoonmaker and Robert Tienken. Leaders who accompanied the Scouts at various times were Ernest Ryan, explorer advisor; Robert Berger and Mickey Kozlowski, assistant scoutmasters and Scoutmaster Daum. An inspection of the camp was made by Robert Short, committeeman.

OPENING DAY OF NEW YORK RACING SEASON

MUSIAL FORCED AT SECOND

Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals outfielder, appears to be getting hit in head by ball as he is forced at second base in sixth inning of game with Boston Red Sox at St. Petersburg, Fla. Bobby Doerr (upper left), Bosox second baseman, has just thrown to first too late to nip Enos Slaughter. Red Sox Shortstop Lou Boudreau had fielded Slaughter's grounder and tossed to Doerr. Cards won, 2-0. (AP Wirephoto)

HOME- RUN LEADERS—Al Rosen, left, and Ralph Kiner are out to repeat as major-league home-run champions. Rosen showed the way last trip with 37 for the Indians, but Ted Williams of the Red Sox expects to be running at him full time this season. Kiner of the Pirates is odds-on to top the National League for the sixth straight season. (NEA)

37,607 Attend Jamaica Opener

New York, April 3 (AP)—Now that opening-day festivities at Jamaica are out of the way, racing fans with an eye on Kentucky Derby horses turned their attention today to the three-year-olds and the experimental Handicap No. 1.

The six furlong Experimental, carrying an added value of $20,000, will be raced tomorrow, and several of the east's top Derby-Preakness-Belmont candidates are expected to be in the lineup.

Tops among the probables is George D. Widener's battlefield, the 1950 two-year-old champion. If Battlefield elects to start, it will be his 1951 racing debut. Eddie Arcaro is slated to ride the son of War Relic which has been sidelined since winning the Belmont Futurity last fall.

Other probables include Sam Mason's To Market, winner of the Arlington and Washington Park Futurities; Mrs. Sarah Chait's Lord Putnam, winner of five out of six starts last year; Larry McPhail's General Staff; Jack Amiel's Count Turf; and Hal Price Headley's Jumbo.

Mrs. Andy Schuttinger's Ferd galloped home the winner of the $29,700 Paumonok Handicap, feature of the opener yesterday before a good crowd of 37,607.

Ted Atkinson brought Ferd from far back into contention on the final bend, and the four-year-old took charge from the pacesetting Casemate to win by three-quarters of a length. Casemate, owned by James Cox Brady, was second, a half length before Woolford farm's delegate in the field of 11 sprinters.

The winner was clocked in an acceptable 1:11 1/5 for six furlongs and returned $15.20 for $2.

Management could have no complaint about the mutuel handle for the eight races. A total of $2,324,471 was bet on the program. Last year opening day was on Saturday, the best racing day of the week, and 50,518 turned out to wager $2,626,698.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By the Associated Press)

Brooks Keep Edwards

Miami, Fla., April 3 (AP)—Hank Edwards and Clyde King, whose contracts were purchased from Montreal, could help the Brooklyn Dodgers considerably.

The Brooks have needed a left-handed pinch-hitter badly in recent years, and Edwards, an outfielder, has been handling that assignment in fine style through training.

King is not exactly a newcomer to the Dodgers. He appeared on the team in 1944, 1945 and 1949, but lacked the required speed. He's smart, though, and has control which makes him a candidate for a relief assignment.

Brave Reunion

Mobile, Ala., April 3 (AP)—Two traveling squads of the Boston Braves merged here today for the first of two exhibition games against the New York Giants. The second game will be played in Beaumont, Tex., tomorrow.

Righthander Bob Hall was manager Billy Southworth's original pitching selection for today but it now appears either lefthander Warren Spahn or Dave Cole will work against the New Yorkers.

Mobile, Ala., April 3 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher's present problem child on the New York Giants is pitcher Jack Kramer. The veteran righthander has pitched only two innings this spring, but Durocher thinks he can hurl if he desires to get on the mound.

Kramer has a habit of coming up with ailments just when he might come in handy, which led Durocher to suspect that he might not want to pitch.

"So I asked him if he wanted to play for us," Durocher said. "He told me he did. I then told him he'd have to change his attitude or we'd go along with one of the younger pitchers."

Bucs Wanted Catcher

Houston, Texas, April 3 (AP)—John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is still trying to get a catcher from the New York Yankees as part of the John Hopp trade last fall.

The hitch is that several American League clubs refuse to waive on Charley Silvera and Ralph Houk, clever catchers, who sat on the bench in all but a few games last year.

Boy Scout News

Troop 9 News

Several Scouts of Troop 9, Redeemer Lutheran Church, spent part of their Easter vacation last week camping out of doors on the property of Scoutmaster William Daum in Union Center. Low temperatures greeted the Scouts Tuesday, their first night in tents, and rain accompanied the breaking of camp on Thursday.

Separated into two patrols on the camping trip, the Scouts took turns colecting firewood, cooking and serving on KP duty. The boys planned and prepared well-balanced meals. Activities included a hike to Lake Louisa, patrol games and a council fire which the rest of Troop 9 attended for the regular monthly outdoor meeting.

In accordance with a troop ruling, before camping out the Scouts had to pass basic requirements in first aid, fire building, cooking and the use of knife and hatchet.

Those who hiked to the campsite and set up their own camp were Peter Cain, Robert Campbell, Jack Effner, Richard Gendreau, Dennis Lenahan, Bruce Peters, Earle Schoonmaker and Robert Tienken. Leaders who accompanied the Scouts at various times were Ernest Ryan, explorer advisor; Robert Berger and Mickey Kozlowski, assistant scoutmasters and Scoutmaster Daum. An inspection of the camp was made by Robert Short, committeeman.

Health for All

Kinds of Tuberculosis

The most common form of tuberculosis is the pulmonary type, or tuberculosis of the lungs, which is responsible for 92 per cent of tuberculosis deaths.

A communicable disease, tuberculosis is spread when people with active disease cough up tuberculosis germs or spread them into the air by spitting, sneezing, or just by laughing and talking.

The germs usually enter the body through the respiratory tract and lodge in the lungs. There a battle ensues beween the germs and the body's resistance forces. If the body is victorious, the person wards off disease. But if the germs win the battle, active disease results.

Although tuberculosis is mainly a disease of the lungs, the tuberculosis germs can attack almost any part of the body. Frequently, when other parts of the body are affected by tuberculosis, it is because the disease has started in the lung and then spread to other parts of the body through the blood or lymph channels.

One of the most serious forms of tuberculosis is tuberculosis meningitis, an infection of the meninges, or covering, of the brain and spinal cord. Another acute type, known as miliary tuberculosis, is a form of the disease in which the TB germs spread to all parts of the body where they set up multiple infections. Both types of the disease were once almost invariably fatal. But now the drug, streptomycin, used alone or in combination with other drugs, has been helpful in treating many cases of both types.

Tuberculosis of the bones and joints, once a serious problem in this country, especially among children under five, has been almost, though not completely, wiped out in this country. This type of disease is often caused by a bovine strain of tuberculosis germs and people get it by drinking the raw milk of infected cows.

Two major health measures have been responsible for the virtual elimination of the bovine source of infection in this country. Under a nationwide campaign begun in 1917, all cattle were tuberculin tested, and those found to have the disease were slaughtered. In addition, the pasteurization of milk, which kills all harmful germs, has become compulsory in most places where fresh milk in large quantities is sold for public consumption.

All people who get tuberculosis catch it from someone with the disease in an active form. One way of avoiding tuberculosis is avoiding close contact with those who have the disease in an active stage. But it is not always possible to know who has active tuberculosis because the disease has no obvious symptoms in an early stage. A person can keep a check on the health of his lungs, however, by getting regular physical examinations, including chest X-rays. The chest X-ray can show up signs of tuberculosis long before there are outward symptoms.

Capital Named 'Bear'

Legend says that when a name was sought for the capital of Switzerland, the people organized a great hunt and the city was named after the first animal slain, a bear—Berne.

Sealed proposals will be received and considered by the undersigned Fire District Treasurer of the High Falls Fire District in the Towns of Rosendale and Marbletown, Ulster County, New York, at Corner Store, High Falls, in Ulster County, New York, at 12 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 12th day of April, 1951, at which time and place the bonds will be opened, for the purchase at not less than par and accrued interest of $10,000 Serial Bonds, 1950, of said Fire District, dated December 1, 1950, in the denomination of $1,000 each, maturing $1,000 on June 1 in each of the years 1951 to 1960, both inclusive, and bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum payable semi-annually June 1 and December 1. Principal and interest of said bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America at State of New York National Bank, Wall St., in Kingston, New York. Bonds will be typewritten in fully registered form, and will be valid and legally binding general obligations of said High Falls Fire District in the Towns of Rosendale and Marbletown, all the taxable real property within which district will be subject to the levy of ad valorem taxes to pay said bonds and interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

Each bid must be for all of said $10,000 bonds and state a single rate of interest therefor. Unless all bids are rejected the award will be made to the bidder complying with the terms of sale and offering to purchase said bonds at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding the rate above specified, stated in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum per annum, without reference to premium, provided, however, that if two or more bidders offer to purchase said bonds at the same lowest rate of interest then such award will be made to the bidder offering the highest premium. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids and any bid not complying with this notice of sale will be rejected. Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the undersigned Fire District Treasurer and should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds" and must be accompanied with a certified or cashier's check drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of said Fire District, for $200 as a good faith deposit to secure the Fire District against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the good faith deposit. Said bonds are issued pursuant to the Constitution and statutes of the State of New York, including among others, the Town Law and the Local Finance Law for the construction of a fire house, in and for said Fire District, the period of probable usefulness of which is twenty years.

In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

The bonds will be delivered at New York, New York, or at such other place as may be agreed with the purchaser about May 1st, 1951.

The approving opinion of Frederick H. Stang, Attorney at Law, Kingston, New York, will be furnished to the purchaser without cost.

The population of the Fire District is estimated to be 500. The Debt statement to be filed pursuant to Section 109.00 of the Local Finance Law in connection with the sale of the bonds herein described, prepared as of April 2nd, 1951, will show the average assessed valuation of real property subject to taxation by the Fire District to be $542,791.00, its debt limit to be $27,139.55, and its total net indebtedness to be $10,000.00. Bond anticipation notes in the amount of $10,000.00 issued heretofore in anticipation of the sale of such bonds have been included in computing such net indebtedness and such notes will be redeemed from the proceeds of the bonds. A detailed report of essential facts will be furnished to any interested bidder upon request.

Arizonans Bite Hard on Cohen

Los Angeles, April 3 (AP)—Mickey Cohen says he is getting rid of all his local interests to move to Tucson, Ariz., and go into "the drug business—the legitimate drug business."

Last week-end in the Arizona city, he said, he and his partners bought two drug stores, which may be renamed "The Mickey Cohen Drug Stores."

The gambler said his interest in the stores amounts to about 25 per cent. His brother, Harry, of Chicago; Ralph Sills, a Tucson businessman, and A. Leonard Epstein, former owner of the stores, hold the other partnerships.

All his Los Angeles interests, including his Brentwood home, will be sold, Cohen said.

Reactions Are Given

The new Cohen enterprise brought forth these reactions from Arizonans:

Mayor J. O. Niemann of Tucson: "We aren't interested in and don't want people of Cohen's type."

Gov. Howard Pyle: "If he comes here he'll have to behave himself and pay his taxes." (The Kefauver committee recently became interested in the gambler's income and taxes).

Pima County Attorney Robert Morrison was a bit blunt: "Nobody in the county wants him insofar as I know."

All of which evoked this reply from Cohen: "I don't care what those officials are saying down there. This is legitimate business."

Looking at these letters, there is no doubt Fulbright touched on a subject that is worrying many people when he asked for a commission "to consider the problem of ethical standards of conduct in public affairs."

And like the man for Weatherford, Texas, Fulbright is certain there are "enough good men left" to start a cleanup by pointing the way to a more rigid standard of conduct for public officials.

Governor Orders

The Saratoga city government is controlled by Democrats, and the Republicans control the county government.

Dewey directed that the special inquiry cover Saratoga county, "any subdivision thereof," and "any political or civil entity" in the county.

He ordered the probers to look into:

1. "Any and all acts" of commission or omission, "or alleged to have been committed or omitted" in violation of laws relating to "gambling, bribery and corruption, public offices and officers, the collection of public revenues, or the administration of justice."

2. Any possible violation of laws by any public official or employe, or by any person or corporation aiding, or "influencing, controlling or pretending to influence or to control" such official or employe.

3. Any violation by any person or corporation having business with the county or any subdivision, or with any public official or employe.

4. Any act intended to "obstruct, hinder or interfere" with the inquiry.

O'Hearn Retires

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Detective Walter F. A'Hearn, labeled a "Stealthy Steve" by a Ketauver crime committee prober, has retired on physical disability pension.

The commissioner of public safety, Dr. Arthur J. Leonard, approved yesterday A'Hearn's application for retirement. He had been on the police force for 22 years.

The city health officer, Dr. Webster M. Moriarta, approved a medical report on the detective submitted by two local physicians.

A'Hearn was given a pension amounting to half his annual salary. The common council sat as a pension board.

His retirement application was dated March 26, two days before Governor Dewey ordered a special grand jury investigation into any possible gambling-political links in Saratoga county.

In New York city last February, A'Hearn testified at a closed hearing of the Kefauver committee that a Saratoga gambling house had paid him $10 a day to carry its receipts to a bank.

Sen. Charles Tobey (R-N.H.), a committee member, then described A'Hearn as a "Stealthy Steve."

A'Hearn also told the investigators he believed he would have been fired if he had entered the inner room of the Piping Rock Club, where he had heard there was gambling.

SERIAL BONDS, 1950
NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Sealed proposals will be received and considered by the undersigned Fire District Treasurer of the High Falls Fire District in the Towns of Rosendale and Marbletown, Ulster County, New York, at Corner Store, High Falls, in Ulster County, New York, at 12 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 12th day of April, 1951, at which time and place the bonds will be opened, for the purchase at not less than par and accrued interest of $10,000 Serial Bonds, 1950, of said Fire District, dated December 1, 1950, in the denomination of $1,000 each, maturing $1,000 on June 1 in each of the years 1951 to 1960, both inclusive, and bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum payable semi-annually June 1 and December 1. Principal and interest of said bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America at State of New York National Bank, Wall St., in Kingston, New York. Bonds will be typewritten in fully registered form, and will be valid and legally binding general obligations of said High Falls Fire District in the Towns of Rosendale and Marbletown, all the taxable real property within which district will be subject to the levy of ad valorem taxes to pay said bonds and interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

Each bid must be for all of said $10,000 bonds and state a single rate of interest therefor. Unless all bids are rejected the award will be made to the bidder complying with the terms of sale and offering to purchase said bonds at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding the rate above specified, stated in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum per annum, without reference to premium, provided, however, that if two or more bidders offer to purchase said bonds at the same lowest rate of interest then such award will be made to the bidder offering the highest premium. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids and any bid not complying with this notice of sale will be rejected. Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the undersigned Fire District Treasurer and should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds" and must be accompanied with a certified or cashier's check drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of said Fire District, for $200 as a good faith deposit to secure the Fire District against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the good faith deposit. Said bonds are issued pursuant to the Constitution and statutes of the State of New York, including among others, the Town Law and the Local Finance Law for the construction of a fire house, in and for said Fire District, the period of probable usefulness of which is twenty years.

In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

The bonds will be delivered at New York, New York, or at such other place as may be agreed with the purchaser about May 1st, 1951.

The approving opinion of Frederick H. Stang, Attorney at Law, Kingston, New York, will be furnished to the purchaser without cost.

The population of the Fire District is estimated to be 500. The Debt statement to be filed pursuant to Section 109.00 of the Local Finance Law in connection with the sale of the bonds herein described, prepared as of April 2nd, 1951, will show the average assessed valuation of real property subject to taxation by the Fire District to be $542,791.00, its debt limit to be $27,139.55, and its total net indebtedness to be $10,000.00. Bond anticipation notes in the amount of $10,000.00 issued heretofore in anticipation of the sale of such bonds have been included in computing such net indebtedness and such notes will be redeemed from the proceeds of the bonds. A detailed report of essential facts will be furnished to any interested bidder upon request.

Kinds of Tuberculosis

The most common form of tuberculosis is the pulmonary type, or tuberculosis of the lungs, which is responsible for 92 per cent of tuberculosis deaths.

A communicable disease, tuberculosis is spread when people with active disease cough up tuberculosis germs or spread them into the air by spitting, sneezing, or just by laughing and talking.

The germs usually enter the body through the respiratory tract and lodge in the lungs. There a battle ensues beween the germs and the body's resistance forces. If the body is victorious, the person wards off disease. But if the germs win the battle, active disease results.

Although tuberculosis is mainly a disease of the lungs, the tuberculosis germs can attack almost any part of the body. Frequently, when other parts of the body are affected by tuberculosis, it is because the disease has started in the lung and then spread to other parts of the body through the blood or lymph channels.

One of the most serious forms of tuberculosis is tuberculosis meningitis, an infection of the meninges, or covering, of the brain and spinal cord. Another acute type, known as miliary tuberculosis, is a form of the disease in which the TB germs spread to all parts of the body where they set up multiple infections. Both types of the disease were once almost invariably fatal. But now the drug, streptomycin, used alone or in combination with other drugs, has been helpful in treating many cases of both types.

Tuberculosis of the bones and joints, once a serious problem in this country, especially among children under five, has been almost, though not completely, wiped out in this country. This type of disease is often caused by a bovine strain of tuberculosis germs and people get it by drinking the raw milk of infected cows.

Two major health measures have been responsible for the virtual elimination of the bovine source of infection in this country. Under a nationwide campaign begun in 1917, all cattle were tuberculin tested, and those found to have the disease were slaughtered. In addition, the pasteurization of milk, which kills all harmful germs, has become compulsory in most places where fresh milk in large quantities is sold for public consumption.

All people who get tuberculosis catch it from someone with the disease in an active form. One way of avoiding tuberculosis is avoiding close contact with those who have the disease in an active stage. But it is not always possible to know who has active tuberculosis because the disease has no obvious symptoms in an early stage. A person can keep a check on the health of his lungs, however, by getting regular physical examinations, including chest X-rays. The chest X-ray can show up signs of tuberculosis long before there are outward symptoms.

Arizonans Bite Hard on Cohen

Los Angeles, April 3 (AP)—Mickey Cohen says he is getting rid of all his local interests to move to Tucson, Ariz., and go into "the drug business—the legitimate drug business."

Last week-end in the Arizona city, he said, he and his partners bought two drug stores, which may be renamed "The Mickey Cohen Drug Stores."

The gambler said his interest in the stores amounts to about 25 per cent. His brother, Harry, of Chicago; Ralph Sills, a Tucson businessman, and A. Leonard Epstein, former owner of the stores, hold the other partnerships.

All his Los Angeles interests, including his Brentwood home, will be sold, Cohen said.

Reactions Are Given

The new Cohen enterprise brought forth these reactions from Arizonans:

Mayor J. O. Niemann of Tucson: "We aren't interested in and don't want people of Cohen's type."

Gov. Howard Pyle: "If he comes here he'll have to behave himself and pay his taxes." (The Kefauver committee recently became interested in the gambler's income and taxes).

Pima County Attorney Robert Morrison was a bit blunt: "Nobody in the county wants him insofar as I know."

All of which evoked this reply from Cohen: "I don't care what those officials are saying down there. This is legitimate business."

Citizens' Letters

From Many States

Similar messages come from Arkansas, Michigan, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, California and other states across the nation.

Looking at these letters, there is no doubt Fulbright touched on a subject that is worrying many people when he asked for a commission "to consider the problem of ethical standards of conduct in public affairs."

And like the man for Weatherford, Texas, Fulbright is certain there are "enough good men left" to start a cleanup by pointing the way to a more rigid standard of conduct for public officials.

Governor Orders

public interest requires" the investigation.

The Saratoga city government is controlled by Democrats, and the Republicans control the county government.

Dewey directed that the special inquiry cover Saratoga county, "any subdivision thereof," and "any political or civil entity" in the county.

He ordered the probers to look into:

1. "Any and all acts" of commission or omission, "or alleged to have been committed or omitted" in violation of laws relating to "gambling, bribery and corruption, public offices and officers, the collection of public revenues, or the administration of justice."

2. Any possible violation of laws by any public official or employe, or by any person or corporation aiding, or "influencing, controlling or pretending to influence or to control" such official or employe.

3. Any violation by any person or corporation having business with the county or any subdivision, or with any public official or employe.

4. Any act intended to "obstruct, hinder or interfere" with the inquiry.

O'Hearn Retires

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Detective Walter F. A'Hearn, labeled a "Stealthy Steve" by a Ketauver crime committee prober, has retired on physical disability pension.

The commissioner of public safety, Dr. Arthur J. Leonard, approved yesterday A'Hearn's application for retirement. He had been on the police force for 22 years.

The city health officer, Dr. Webster M. Moriarta, approved a medical report on the detective submitted by two local physicians.

A'Hearn was given a pension amounting to half his annual salary. The common council sat as a pension board.

His retirement application was dated March 26, two days before Governor Dewey ordered a special grand jury investigation into any possible gambling-political links in Saratoga county.

In New York city last February, A'Hearn testified at a closed hearing of the Kefauver committee that a Saratoga gambling house had paid him $10 a day to carry its receipts to a bank.

Sen. Charles Tobey (R-N.H.), a committee member, then described A'Hearn as a "Stealthy Steve."

A'Hearn also told the investigators he believed he would have been fired if he had entered the inner room of the Piping Rock Club, where he had heard there was gambling.

SERIAL BONDS, 1950
NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Sealed proposals will be received and considered by the undersigned Fire District Treasurer of the High Falls Fire District in the Towns of Rosendale and Marbletown, Ulster County, New York, at Corner Store, High Falls, in Ulster County, New York, at 12 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 12th day of April, 1951, at which time and place the bonds will be opened, for the purchase at not less than par and accrued interest of $10,000 Serial Bonds, 1950, of said Fire District, dated December 1, 1950, in the denomination of $1,000 each, maturing $1,000 on June 1 in each of the years 1951 to 1960, both inclusive, and bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum payable semi-annually June 1 and December 1. Principal and interest of said bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America at State of New York National Bank, Wall St., in Kingston, New York. Bonds will be typewritten in fully registered form, and will be valid and legally binding general obligations of said High Falls Fire District in the Towns of Rosendale and Marbletown, all the taxable real property within which district will be subject to the levy of ad valorem taxes to pay said bonds and interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

Each bid must be for all of said $10,000 bonds and state a single rate of interest therefor. Unless all bids are rejected the award will be made to the bidder complying with the terms of sale and offering to purchase said bonds at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding the rate above specified, stated in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum per annum, without reference to premium, provided, however, that if two or more bidders offer to purchase said bonds at the same lowest rate of interest then such award will be made to the bidder offering the highest premium. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids and any bid not complying with this notice of sale will be rejected. Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the undersigned Fire District Treasurer and should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds" and must be accompanied with a certified or cashier's check drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of said Fire District, for $200 as a good faith deposit to secure the Fire District against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the good faith deposit. Said bonds are issued pursuant to the Constitution and statutes of the State of New York, including among others, the Town Law and the Local Finance Law for the construction of a fire house, in and for said Fire District, the period of probable usefulness of which is twenty years.

In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

The bonds will be delivered at New York, New York, or at such other place as may be agreed with the purchaser about May 1st, 1951.

The approving opinion of Frederick H. Stang, Attorney at Law, Kingston, New York, will be furnished to the purchaser without cost.

The population of the Fire District is estimated to be 500. The Debt statement to be filed pursuant to Section 109.00 of the Local Finance Law in connection with the sale of the bonds herein described, prepared as of April 2nd, 1951, will show the average assessed valuation of real property subject to taxation by the Fire District to be $542,791.00, its debt limit to be $27,139.55, and its total net indebtedness to be $10,000.00. Bond anticipation notes in the amount of $10,000.00 issued heretofore in anticipation of the sale of such bonds have been included in computing such net indebtedness and such notes will be redeemed from the proceeds of the bonds. A detailed report of essential facts will be furnished to any interested bidder upon request.

Health for All

Kinds of Tuberculosis

The most common form of tuberculosis is the pulmonary type, or tuberculosis of the lungs, which is responsible for 92 per cent of tuberculosis deaths.

A communicable disease, tuberculosis is spread when people with active disease cough up tuberculosis germs or spread them into the air by spitting, sneezing, or just by laughing and talking.

The germs usually enter the body through the respiratory tract and lodge in the lungs. There a battle ensues beween the germs and the body's resistance forces. If the body is victorious, the person wards off disease. But if the germs win the battle, active disease results.

Although tuberculosis is mainly a disease of the lungs, the tuberculosis germs can attack almost any part of the body. Frequently, when other parts of the body are affected by tuberculosis, it is because the disease has started in the lung and then spread to other parts of the body through the blood or lymph channels.

One of the most serious forms of tuberculosis is tuberculosis meningitis, an infection of the meninges, or covering, of the brain and spinal cord. Another acute type, known as miliary tuberculosis, is a form of the disease in which the TB germs spread to all parts of the body where they set up multiple infections. Both types of the disease were once almost invariably fatal. But now the drug, streptomycin, used alone or in combination with other drugs, has been helpful in treating many cases of both types.

Tuberculosis of the bones and joints, once a serious problem in this country, especially among children under five, has been almost, though not completely, wiped out in this country. This type of disease is often caused by a bovine strain of tuberculosis germs and people get it by drinking the raw milk of infected cows.

Two major health measures have been responsible for the virtual elimination of the bovine source of infection in this country. Under a nationwide campaign begun in 1917, all cattle were tuberculin tested, and those found to have the disease were slaughtered. In addition, the pasteurization of milk, which kills all harmful germs, has become compulsory in most places where fresh milk in large quantities is sold for public consumption.

All people who get tuberculosis catch it from someone with the disease in an active form. One way of avoiding tuberculosis is avoiding close contact with those who have the disease in an active stage. But it is not always possible to know who has active tuberculosis because the disease has no obvious symptoms in an early stage. A person can keep a check on the health of his lungs, however, by getting regular physical examinations, including chest X-rays. The chest X-ray can show up signs of tuberculosis long before there are outward symptoms.

Arizonans Bite Hard on Cohen

Los Angeles, April 3 (AP)—Mickey Cohen says he is getting rid of all his local interests to move to Tucson, Ariz., and go into "the drug business—the legitimate drug business."

Last week-end in the Arizona city, he said, he and his partners bought two drug stores, which may be renamed "The Mickey Cohen Drug Stores."

The gambler said his interest in the stores amounts to about 25 per cent. His brother, Harry, of Chicago; Ralph Sills, a Tucson businessman, and A. Leonard Epstein, former owner of the stores, hold the other partnerships.

All his Los Angeles interests, including his Brentwood home, will be sold, Cohen said.

Reactions Are Given

The new Cohen enterprise brought forth these reactions from Arizonans:

Mayor J. O. Niemann of Tucson: "We aren't interested in and don't want people of Cohen's type."

Gov. Howard Pyle: "If he comes here he'll have to behave himself and pay his taxes." (The Kefauver committee recently became interested in the gambler's income and taxes).

Pima County Attorney Robert Morrison was a bit blunt: "Nobody in the county wants him insofar as I know."

All of which evoked this reply from Cohen: "I don't care what those officials are saying down there. This is legitimate business."

Citizens' Letters

From Many States

Similar messages come from Arkansas, Michigan, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, California and other states across the nation.

Looking at these letters, there is no doubt Fulbright touched on a subject that is worrying many people when he asked for a commission "to consider the problem of ethical standards of conduct in public affairs."

And like the man for Weatherford, Texas, Fulbright is certain there are "enough good men left" to start a cleanup by pointing the way to a more rigid standard of conduct for public officials.

Governor Orders

public interest requires" the investigation.

The Saratoga city government is controlled by Democrats, and the Republicans control the county government.

Dewey directed that the special inquiry cover Saratoga county, "any subdivision thereof," and "any political or civil entity" in the county.

He ordered the probers to look into:

1. "Any and all acts" of commission or omission, "or alleged to have been committed or omitted" in violation of laws relating to "gambling, bribery and corruption, public offices and officers, the collection of public revenues, or the administration of justice."

2. Any possible violation of laws by any public official or employe, or by any person or corporation aiding, or "influencing, controlling or pretending to influence or to control" such official or employe.

3. Any violation by any person or corporation having business with the county or any subdivision, or with any public official or employe.

4. Any act intended to "obstruct, hinder or interfere" with the inquiry.

O'Hearn Retires

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Detective Walter F. A'Hearn, labeled a "Stealthy Steve" by a Ketauver crime committee prober, has retired on physical disability pension.

The commissioner of public safety, Dr. Arthur J. Leonard, approved yesterday A'Hearn's application for retirement. He had been on the police force for 22 years.

The city health officer, Dr. Webster M. Moriarta, approved a medical report on the detective submitted by two local physicians.

A'Hearn was given a pension amounting to half his annual salary. The common council sat as a pension board.

His retirement application was dated March 26, two days before Governor Dewey ordered a special grand jury investigation into any possible gambling-political links in Saratoga county.

In New York city last February, A'Hearn testified at a closed hearing of the Kefauver committee that a Saratoga gambling house had paid him $10 a day to carry its receipts to a bank.

Sen. Charles Tobey (R-N.H.), a committee member, then described A'Hearn as a "Stealthy Steve."

A'Hearn also told the investigators he believed he would have been fired if he had entered the inner room of the Piping Rock Club, where he had heard there was gambling.

When Flood Waters Struck at Hurley

The lower photo, with a new automobile stranded in a getaway attempt Friday night, was taken when waters began to recede. Flood height which may be seen on the bricks show the water had gone down two feet. In this residence an oil supply tank was smashed and fuel oil poured out into silt-filled waters in the basement. (Photos by John Frain)

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Meeting to Check On Flood Damage

Woodstock, April 3—As a result of last Friday night's storm, Supervisor Kenneth Wilson called an emergency meeting of the town board at the Town Hall last Sunday night to confirm the extent of flood damage in the township of Woodstock.

Among other problems discussed was the damage in Mink Hollow where a landslide caused a 20-foot drop in the road isolating the area; road washouts at Keefe Hollow and the disrupted bridge near the Nelson Shultis mill in Wittenberg. It was also reported that a bridge out in the Ideal Park section has marooned seven or eight houses.

At the meeting the board authorized Superintendent of Highways Howard France to hire the necessary trucks and personnel to commence repair work as soon as possible.

Reports as to damage are still coming in. One report is that the Lauren Peters cottage in Lake Hill was washed 30 feet from its foundation.

Charles D. Busch, of Bearsville, was elected an active member of the company.

In conjunction with the redecorating of the Town Hall by Dave Myer, the fire company will construct a chair rail around the fire hall. The lumber is being donated by George Riseley and Elliot Ostrander.

Pianist Dies At Carnegie Hall

New York, April 3 (AP)—A Russian-born concert pianist died in his Carnegie Hall dressing room last night a few minutes after collapsing on the stage during a Grieg concerto.

The pianist, Simon Barere, had played about five minutes of the first movement of the concerto when he toppled off the piano stool. He was playing with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Conductor Eugene Ormandy leaped to his aid. Barere was carried to his dressing room.

The 53-year-old pianist's wife, Helene, and son, Boris, were in the audience.

After his collapse, the audience was told that the concert would continue. Tenor soloist Set Svanholm then sang the American premiere of Ture Rangstrom's "King Erik's Songs"—some vigorous, some tragic.

Then Barere's death was announced. The remainder of the program was cancelled. The audience left in silence.

When Flood Waters Struck at Hurley

The lower photo, with a new automobile stranded in a getaway attempt Friday night, was taken when waters began to recede. Flood height which may be seen on the bricks show the water had gone down two feet. In this residence an oil supply tank was smashed and fuel oil poured out into silt-filled waters in the basement. (Photos by John Frain)

Pianist Dies At Carnegie Hall

New York, April 3 (AP)—A Russian-born concert pianist died in his Carnegie Hall dressing room last night a few minutes after collapsing on the stage during a Grieg concerto.

The pianist, Simon Barere, had played about five minutes of the first movement of the concerto when he toppled off the piano stool. He was playing with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Conductor Eugene Ormandy leaped to his aid. Barere was carried to his dressing room.

The 53-year-old pianist's wife, Helene, and son, Boris, were in the audience.

After his collapse, the audience was told that the concert would continue. Tenor soloist Set Svanholm then sang the American premiere of Ture Rangstrom's "King Erik's Songs"—some vigorous, some tragic.

Then Barere's death was announced. The remainder of the program was cancelled. The audience left in silence.

Carnegie Hall Manager John J. Totten said it was the first time an artist had died during a concert at the hall.

Few Killed by Explosives
